NOTES AND EXPLANATIONS.

Names of presidential offices are in small capitals.

The asterisk (*) after names denotes money-order offices.

The dagger or cross (†) in "salary" column represents new offices. From some of these only partial or imperfect returns, or no returns at all, had been received by the post-office department when this statement was compiled.

The asterisks (* *) at name of Chocorua are to call attention to the fact that Chocorua takes the place of Tamworth Iron Works, Carroll county.

Post-offices at Hillville and at Shaker Village have been abandoned.

POSTAGE AND POSTAL REGULATIONS TO AND FROM THE UNITED STATES.

Rates of postage to and from any portion of the United States, to the Dominion of Canada, and the Republic of Mexico, are as follows:

First Class. — Written Matter. Letters — Two cents for each ounce or fraction thereof. Drop Letters — Including delivery at letter-carrier offices, two cents for each ounce or fraction thereof. Drop Letters — Where free delivery by carrier is not established, one cent for each ounce or fraction thereof. Postal Cards — One cent each, which includes cost of cards.

Second Class. — Periodical Publications, issued as often as four times a year from a known office of publication or news agency, to regular subscribers or news agents,— postage thereon is one cent for each pound or fraction thereof. When newspapers or periodical publications of the Second Class are sent by others than the publishers or news agents, the postage thereon is one cent for every 4 ounces or fraction thereof, and must be fully prepaid by stamps.

Third Class. — Miscellaneous Printed Matter, which embraces books, photographs, sheet music, circulars, and other matter wholly in print (not included in Second Class), proof-sheets with manuscript copy accompanying the same, and all other printed matter not mentioned in the Fourth Class, is at the rate of one cent for each two ounces or fractional part thereof. Also seeds, cuttings, roots, scions, and plants.

Fourth Class. — Merchandise, includes all matter not mentioned in the First, Second, and Third Classes, which is not in its form or nature liable to destroy, deface, or otherwise damage the contents of the mail-bag, or harm the person engaged in handling the same, cards of every description, labels, patterns, tags, bill-heads, letter-heads, printed envelopes, etc. Postage is one cent for each ounce or fraction thereof.

THE UNITED STATES.

COLONIAL GOVERNMENTS.

The title by which England claimed North America originated in the discoveries made by Cabot. In March, 1496, Henry the Seventh commissioned John Cabot and his three sons, Sebastian, Lewis, and Sanctius, to proceed on a voyage of discovery. Under this authority Cabot and his son Sebastian sailed in May, 1497, discovered Labrador coast June 24, 1497, subsequently sailed along the coast of the mainland and claimed for England the territory from the Gulf of Mexico to the north to an indefinite extent.

The colonies, as to their forms of government, may be considered under three classes:

1. Provincial or Royal. Under this form of government the governor and council were appointed by the king to rule under his instructions. The governor had power to establish courts, raise military forces, and to call legislative assemblies of freeholders and others, which he could at any time dissolve, and the proceedings of which he could negative. All local laws passed by these assemblies, to be in force, required the approval of the king. New Hampshire, New York, New Jersey, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia were colonies of this class.

2. Proprietary. Under this form certain inividuals held from the king the right as proprietaries of the colonies, which they held as if the colonies were feudal principalities. They held the same authority as the king in the provincial colonies. Lord Baltimore was proprietary of Maryland, and William Penn of Pennsylvania and Delaware. The Carolinas and New Jersey were originally proprietary colonies.

3. Charter. Under this form, the powers and rights were vested by a charter from the king. At the time of the Revolution the only charter colonies were Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Rhode Island.

The colonies were politically distinct, but circumstances often required a unity of action. The earliest instance of importance occurred in 1643, when the colonies of Connecticut, New Haven, Massachusetts, and Plymouth formed an alliance for protection against the Indians and Dutch, under the name of "The United Colonies of New England."

A convention met at Albany June 19, 1754, composed of twenty-five commissioners from colonies as follows: New Hampshire, 4; Massachusetts, 5; Connecticut, 3; Rhode Island, 2; New York, 5; Pennsylvania, 4, and Maryland, 2. Virginia and New Jersey although invited sent no delegates. Their principal object was to deliberate upon the best means for defence in view of the impending war with France. At the suggestion of the commissioners from Massachusetts, a plan of confederation was proposed. A draft, mostly written by Franklin, was drawn up, which was submitted to parliament and the colonies. It was rejected by all the colonies, and met with no approval in England. The convention adjourned July 11, 1754.

A convention assembled at New York, October 7, 1765, represented as follows: Massachusetts, 3; Rhode Island, 2; Connecticut, 3; New York, 5; New Jersey, 3; Pennsylvania, 3; Delaware, 2; Maryland, 3; South Carolina, 3. They published a declaration of rights, and adjourned October 24.

The first definite suggestion for a continental congress was made May 17, 1774, by a town meeting in Providence, R. I. The house of representatives of Massachusetts passed a similar suggestion, June 17. Delegates were appointed in twelve colonies, and the first continental congress was organized at Philadelphia, September 5, 1774.

DECLARATION OF RIGHTS.

In Congress, October 14, 1774.

Whereas, since the close of the last war, the British parliament, claiming a power of right to bind the people of America by statutes in all cases whatsoever, hath, in some acts, expressly imposed taxes on them, and in others, under various pretences, but in fact for the purpose of raising revenue, hath imposed rates and duties payable in these colonies, established a board of commissioners with unconstitutional powers, and extended the jurisdiction of courts of admiralty, not only for collecting said duties, but for the trial of causes merely arising within the body of a county; and

Whereas, in consequence of other statutes, judges, who before held only estates at will in their offices, have been made dependent on the crown alone for their salaries, and standing armies kept in time of peace; and

Whereas, it has lately been resolved in parliament, that by force of a statute made in the thirty-fifth year of the reign of King Henry the Eighth, colonists may be transported to England, and tried there upon accusations for treasons and misprisions, or concealments of treasons, committed in the colonies, and, by a late statute, such trials have been directed in cases therein mentioned; and

WHEREAS, in the last session of parliament three statutes were made,—one entitled an "Act to discontinue, in such manner and for such time as are therein mentioned, the landing and discharging, lading, or shipping of goods, wares, and merchandise, at the town and within the harbor of Boston, in the province of Massachusetts Bay, in North America"; another, entitled an "Act for the better regulating the government of the province of Massachusetts Bay, in New England"; and another, entitled an "Act for the impartial administration of justice in the cases of persons questioned for any act done by them in the execution of the law, or for the suppression of riots and tumults, in the province of Massachusetts Bay, in New England"; and another statute was then made, "for making more effectual provision for the government of the province of Quebec, etc."; all which statutes are impolitic, unjust, and cruel, as well as unconstitutional, and most dangerous and destructive of American rights; and

WHEREAS, assemblies have been frequently dissolved, contrary to the rights of the people, when they attempted to deliberate on grievances; and their dutiful, humble, loyal, and reasonable petitions to the crown for redress have been repeatedly treated with contempt by his majesty's ministers of state;

The good people of the several colonies of New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New Castle, Kent, and Sussex on Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina, justly alarmed at these arbitrary proceedings of parliament and administration, have severally elected, constituted, and appointed deputies to meet and sit in general congress in the city of Philadelphia, in order to obtain such establishment as that their religion, laws, and liberties may not be subverted. Whereupon, the deputies so appointed being now assembled, in a full and free representation of these colonies, taking into their most serious consideration the best means of attaining the ends aforesaid, do, in the first place, as Englishmen, their ancestors, in like cases have usually done, for effecting and vindicating their rights and liberties, DECLARE:

That the inhabitants of the English colonies in North America, by the immutable laws of nature, the principles of the English constitution, and the several charters or compacts, have the following RIGHTS:

Resolved, 1, That they are entitled to life, liberty, and property, and they have never ceded to any sovereign power whatever a right to dispose of either without their consent.

Resolved, 2, That our ancestors, who first settled these colonies, were at the time of their emigration from the mother country entitled to all the rights, liberties, and immunities of free and natural-born subjects within the realm of England.

Resolved, 3, That by such emigration they by no means forfeited, surrendered, or lost any of those rights, but that they were, and their descendants now are, entitled to the exercise and enjoyment of all such of them as their local and other circumstances enable them to exercise and enjoy.

Resolved, 4, That the foundation of English liberty, and of all free government, is a right in the people to participate in their legislative council; and as the English colonists are not represented, and from their local and other circumstances cannot properly be represented, in the British parliament, they are entitled to a free and exclusive power of legislation in their several provincial legislatures, where the right of representation can alone be preserved, in all cases of taxation and internal polity, subject only to the negative of their sovereign, in such manner as has heretofore been used and accustomed. But, from the necessity of the case, and a regard to the mutual interest of both countries, we cheerfully consent to the operation of such acts of the British parliament as are bona fide, restrained to the regulation of our external commerce, for the purpose of securing the commercial advantages of the whole empire to the mother country, and the commercial benefits of its respective members; excluding every idea of taxation, internal or external, for raising a revenue on the subjects in America without their consent.

Resolved, 5, That the respective colonies are entitled to the common law of England, and more especially to the great and inestimable privilege of being tried by their peers of the vicinage, according to the course of that law.

Resolved, 6, That they are entitled to the benefit of such of the English statutes as existed at the time of their colonization, and which they have, by experience, respectively found to be applicable to their several local and other circumstances.

Resolved, 7, That these, his majesty's colonies, are likewise entitled to all the immunities and privileges granted and confirmed to them by royal charters, or secured by their several codes of provincial laws.

Resolved, 8, That they have a right peaceably to assemble, consider their grievances, and petition the king; and that all prosecutions, prohibitory proclamations, and commitments for the same, are illegal.

Resolved, 9, That the keeping a standing army in these colonies in times of peace, without the consent of the legislature of that colony in which such army is kept, is against law.

Resolved, 10, It is indispensably necessary to good government, and rendered essential by the English constitution, that the constituent branches of the legislature be independent of each other; that, therefore, the exercise of legislative power in several colonies, by a council appointed during the pleasure of the crown, is unconstitutional, dangerous, and destructive to the freedom of American legislation.

All and each of which the aforesaid deputies, in behalf of themselves and their constituents, do claim, demand, and insist on, as their indubitable rights and liberties, which cannot be legally taken from them, altered, or abridged by any power whatever, without their own consent, by their representatives in their several provincial legislatures.

In the course of our inquiry, we find many infringements and violations of the foregoing rights, which, from an ardent desire that harmony and mutual intercourse of affection and interest may be restored, we pass over for the present, and proceed to state such acts and measures as have been adopted since the last war which demonstrate a system formed to enslave America.

Resolved, That the following acts of parliament are infringements and violations of the rights of the colonists, and that the repeal of them is essentially necessary in order to restore harmony between Great Britain and the American colonies, viz.:

The several acts of 4 George III., chapter 15 and chapter 34; 5 George III., chapter 25; 6 George III., chapter 52; 7 George III., chapter 41 and chapter 46; 8 George III., chapter 22, which impose duties for the purpose of raising a revenue in America, extend the power of the admiralty courts beyond their ancient limits, deprive the American subject of trial by jury, authorize the judges' certificates to indemnify the prosecutor from damages that he might otherwise be liable to, requiring oppressive security from a claimant of ships and goods seized before he shall be allowed to defend his property, are subversive of American rights.

Also 12 George III., chapter 24, entitled an " Act for the better securing his majesty's dockyards, magazines, ships, ammunition, and stores," which declares a new offence in America, and deprives the American subject of a constitutional trial by jury of the vicinage, by authorizing the trial of any persons charged with the committing of any offence described in the said act, out of the realm, to be indicted and tried for the same in any shire or county within the realm.

Also the three acts passed in the last session of parliament, for stopping the port and blocking up the harbor of Boston, for altering the charter and government of Massachusetts Bay, and that which is entitled an "Act for the better administration of justice," etc.

Also the act, passed in the same session, for establishing the Roman Catholic religion in the province of Quebec, abolishing the equitable system of English laws, and erecting a tyranny there, to the great danger (from so total a dissimilarity of religion, law, and government) of the neighboring British colonies, by the assistance of whose blood and treasure the said country was conquered from France.

Also the act, passed in the same session, for the better providing suitable quarters for officers and soldiers in his majesty's service in North America.

Also, that the keeping a standing army in several of these colonies, in time of peace, without the consent of the legislature of that colony in which such army is kept, is against law.

To these grievous acts and measures Americans cannot submit, but in hopes their fellow subjects in Great Britain will, on a revision of them, restore us to that state in which both countries found happiness and prosperity, we have, for the present, only resolved to pursue the following peaceable measures:

1. To enter into a non-importation, non-consumption, and non-exportation agreement or association.

2. To prepare an address to the people of Great Britain, and a memorial to the inhabitants of British America.

3. To prepare a loyal address to his majesty, agreeable to resolutions already entered into.

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

IN CONGRESS, JULY 4, 1776.

By the Representatives of the United States in Congress Assembled.

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and, accordingly, all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But, when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies, and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present king of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having, in direct object, the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these states. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world :

He has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained; and, when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature; a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing, with manly firmness, his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused, for a long time after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the state remaining, in the mean time, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these states; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners, refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone for the tenure of their offices and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the military independent of and superior to the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation, —

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these states:

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes on us without our consent:

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offences:

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies:

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering, fundamently, the forms of our governments:

For suspending our own legislatures and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny already begun with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms; our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attention to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts made by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They, too, have been deaf to the voice of justice and consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace, friends.

We, therefore, the representatives of the United States of America, in general congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare that these united colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown,and that all political connection between them and the state of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that as free and independent states, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which independent states may of right do. And, for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

Signed by order and in behalf of congress.

A convention was held at Charlotte, Mecklenburgh county, North Carolina, May 20, 1775, which announced a declaration of independence severing the people, represented by the convention, from their allegiance to the crown of Great Britain. Other accounts give May 31 as the date on which the convention was held.

It was not until the early part of the year 1776 that the idea of independence was seriously entertained throughout the colonies. In congress, Friday, June 7, 1776, Richard Henry Lee moved that "these united colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states . . . . and that a plan of confederation be prepared and transmitted to the respective colonies for their consideration and approval." This was adopted June 11. The committee to prepare the declaration of independence were: Thomas Jefferson, John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, Roger Sherman, and Robert B. Livingston. They reported June 28, and the declaration was adopted unanimously July 4, 1776.

(While the Declaration of Independence was under consideration in the continental congress, and before it was finally agreed upon, measures were taken for the establishment of a constitutional form of government; and on the 11th of June, 1776, it was "Resolved, that a committee be appointed to propose and digest the form of a confederation to be entered into between the colonies," which committee was appointed the next day, June 12th, and consisted of a member from each colony, namely: Mr. Bartlett, Mr. Adams, Mr. Hopkins, Mr. Sherman, Mr. Livingston, Mr. Dickinson, Mr. McKean, Mr. Stone, Mr. Nelson, Mr. Hewes, Mr. Rutledge and Mr. Gwinnett.

On the 12th of July, 1776, the committee reported a draft of the articles of confederation, which was printed for the use of the members under the strictest injunctions of secrecy.

This report underwent a thorough discussion in congress from time to time until the 15th of November, 1777, on which day "ARTICLES OF CONFEDERATION AND PERPETUAL UNION" were finally agreed to in form, and they were directed to be proposed to the legislatures of all the United States, and if approved by them they were advised to authorize their delegates to ratify the same in the congress of the United States, and in that event they were to become conclusive. On the 17th of November, 1777, the Congress agreed upon the form of a circular letter to accompany the articles of confederation, which concluded with a recommendation to each of the several legislatures "to invest its delegates with competent powers, ultimately, and in the name and behalf of the state, to subscribe articles of confederation and perpetual union of the United States, and to attend congress for that purpose on or before the 10th day of March next." This letter was signed by the president of congress, and sent with a copy of the articles to each state legislature.

On the 26th of June, 1778, congress agreed upon the form of a ratification of the articles of confederation, and directed a copy of the articles and the ratification to be engrossed on parchment; which, on the 9th of July, 1778, having been examined and the blanks filled, was signed by the delegates of New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, Rhode Island and the Providence Plantations, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and South Carolina.

Congress then directed that a circular letter be addressed to the states whose delegates were not present, or, being present, conceived they were not authorized to sign the ratification, informing them how many and what states had ratified the articles of confederation, and desiring them with all convenient dispatch to authorize their delegates to ratify the same.

Of these states North Carolina ratified on the 21st and Georgia on the 24th of July, 1778; New Jersey on the 26th of November following; Delaware on the 5th of May, 1779; Maryland on the 1st of March, 1781; and on the 2d of March, 1781, congress assembled under the new form of government.)

ARTICLES OF CONFEDERATION.

To all to whom these presents shall come, we, the undersigned, Delegates of the States affixed to our names, send greeting:

WHEREAS, the delegates of the United States of America, in congress assembled, did, on the 15th day of November, in the year of our Lord 1777, and in the second year of the independence of America, agree to certain articles of confederation and perpetual union between the states of New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia, in the words following, viz.:

ARTICLES OF CONFEDERATION AND PERPETUAL UNION BETWEEN THE STATES OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, MASSACHUSETTS BAY, RHODE ISLAND AND PROVIDENCE PLANTATIONS, CONNECTICUT, NEW YORK, NEW JERSEY, PENNSYLVANIA, DELAWARE, MARYLAND, VIRGINIA, NORTH CAROLINA, SOUTH CAROLINA, AND GEORGIA.

ARTICLE I. The style of this confederacy shall be "The United States of America."

ART. II. Each state retains its sovereignty, freedom, and independence, and every power, jurisdiction, and right which is not by this confederation expressly delegated to the United States in congress assembled.

ART. III. The said states hereby severally enter into a firm league of friendship with each other for their common defence, the security of their liberties, and their mutual and general welfare, binding themselves to assist each other against all force offered to or attacks made upon them, or any of them, on account of religion, sovereignty, trade, or any other pretence whatever.

Art. IV. The better to secure and perpetuate mutual friendship and intercourse among the people of the different states of this Union, the free inhabitants of each of these states, paupers, vagabonds, and fugitives from justice excepted, shall be entitled to all the privileges and immunities of free citizens in the several states; and the people of each state shall have free ingress and egress to and from any other state, and shall enjoy therein all the privileges of trade and commerce, subject to the same duties, impositions, and restrictions as the inhabitants thereof respectively; provided, that such restriction shall not extend so far as to prevent the removal of properly imported into any state to any other state of which the owner is an inhabitant; provided, also, that no imposition, duties, or restrictions shall be laid by any state on the property of the United States, or either of them.

If any person guilty of or charged with treason, felony, or other high misdemeanor in any state, shall flee from justice and be found in any of the United States, he shall, upon demand of the governor or executive power of the state from which he fled, be delivered up and removed to the state having jurisdiction of his offence.

Full faith and credit shall be given in each of these states to the records, acts, and judicial proceedings of the courts and magistrates of every other state.

Art. V. For the more convenient management of the general interests of the United States, delegates shall be annually appointed, in such manner as the legislature of each state shall direct, to meet in congress on the first Monday in November in every year, with a power reserved to each state to recall its delegates, or any of them, at any time within the year, and to send others in their stead for the remainder of the year.

No state shall be represented in congress by less than two nor by more than seven members; and no person shall be capable of being a delegate for more than three years in any term of six years; nor shall any person, being a delegate, be capable of holding any office under the United States for which he, or another for his benefit, receives any salary, fees, or emolument of any kind.

Each state shall maintain its own delegates in any meeting of the states, and while they act as members of the committee of the states.

In determining questions in the United States, in congress assembled, each state shall have one vote.

Freedom of speech and debate in congress shall not be impeached or questioned in any court or place out of congress; and the members of congress shall be protected in their persons from arrest and imprisonment during the time of their going to and from and attendance on congress, except for treason, felony, or breach of the peace.

ART. VI. No state, without the consent of the United States, in congress assembled, shall send any embassy to, or receive any embassy from, or enter into any conference, agreement, alliance, or treaty with any king, prince, or state; nor shall any person holding any office of profit or trust under the United States, or any of them, accept of any present, emolument, office, or title of any kind whatever from any king, prince, or foreign state; nor shall the United States, in congress assembled, or any of them, grant any title of nobility.

No two or more states shall enter into any treaty, confederation, or alliance whatever between them, without the consent of the United States, in congress assembled, specifying accurately the purposes for which the same is to be entered into, and how long it shall continue.

No state shall lay any imposts or duties which may interfere with any stipulations in treaties entered into by the United States, in congress assembled, with any king, prince, or state, in pursuance of any treaties already proposed by congress to the courts of France or Spain.

No vessel of war shall be kept up in time of peace by any state, except such number only as shall be deemed necessary by the United States, in congress assembled, for the defence of such state, or its trade; nor shall any body of forces be kept up in any state, in time of peace, except such number only as in the judgment of the United States, in congress assembled, shall be deemed requisite to garrison the forts necessary for the defence of such state; but every state shall always keep up a well-regulated and disciplined militia, sufficiently armed and accoutered, and shall provide and have constantly ready for use, in public stores, a due number of field pieces and tents, and a proper quantity of arms, ammunition, and camp equipage.

No state shall engage in any war without the consent of the United States, in congress assembled, unless such state be actually invaded by enemies, or shall have received certain advice of a resolution being formed by some nation of Indians to invade such state, and the danger is so imminent as not to admit of a delay till the United States, in congress assembled, can be consulted; nor shall any state grant commissions to any ships or vessels of war, nor letters of marque or reprisal, except it be after a declaration of war by the United States, in congress assembled, and then only against the kingdom or state, and the subjects thereof, against which war has been so declared, and under such regulations as shall be established by the United States, in congress assembled, unless such state be infested by pirates, in which case vessels of war may be fitted out for that occasion, and kept so long as the danger shall continue, or until the United States, in congress assembled, shall determine otherwise.

ART. VII. When land forces are raised by any state for the common defence, all officers of or under the rank of colonel shall be appointed by the legislature of each state, respectively, by whom such forces shall be raised, or in such manner as such state shall direct, and all vacancies shall be filled up by the state which first made the appointment.

Art. VIII. All charges of war, and all other expenses that shall be incurred for the common defence or general welfare, and allowed by the United States in congress assembled, shall be defrayed out of the common treasury, which shall be supplied by the several states in proportion to the value of all land within each state, granted to or surveyed for any person, as such land and the buildings and improvements thereon shall be estimated, according to such mode as the United States, in congress assembled, shall, from time to time, direct and appoint. The taxes for paying that proportion shall be laid and levied by the authority and direction of the legislatures of the several states within the time agreed upon by the United States, in congress assembled.

Art. IX. The United States, in congress assembled, shall have the sole and exclusive right and power of determining on peace and war, except in cases mentioned in the 6th article; of sending and receiving ambassadors; entering into treaties and alliances, provided, that no treaty of commerce shall be made whereby the legislative power of the respective states shall be restrained from imposing such imposts and duties on foreigners as their own people are subject to, or from prohibiting the exportation or importation of any species of goods or commodities whatsoever; of establishing rules for deciding in all cases what captures on land or water shall be legal, and in what manner prizes taken by land or naval forces in the service of the United States shall be divided or appropriated; of granting letters of marque and reprisal in times of peace; appointing courts for the trial of piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and establishing courts for receiving and determining finally appeals in all cases of captures, provided, that no member of congress shall be appointed a judge of any of the said courts.

The United States, in congress assembled, shall also be the last resort on appeal in all disputes and differences now subsisting or that hereafter may arise between two or more states concerning boundary, jurisdiction, or any other cause whatever, which authority shall always be exercised in the manner following: Whenever the legislative or executive authority, or lawful agent of any state in controversy with another, shall present a petition to congress, stating the matter in question and praying for a hearing, notice thereof shall be given by order of congress to the legislative or executive authority of the other state in controversy, and a day assigned for the appearance of the parties by their lawful agents, who shall then be directed to appoint, by joint consent, commissioners or judges to constitute a court for hearing and determining the matter in question; but if they cannot agree, congress shall name three persons out of each of the United States, and from the list of such persons each party shall alternately strike out one, the petitioners beginning, until the number shall be reduced to thirteen, and from that number not less than seven nor more than nine names, as congress shall direct, shall, in the presence of congress, be drawn out by lot, and the persons whose names shall be so drawn, or any five of them, shall be commissioners or judges to hear and finally determine the controversy, so always as a major part of the judges who shall hear the cause shall agree in the determination; and if either party shall neglect to attend at the day appointed, without showing reasons which congress shall judge sufficient, or being present shall refuse to strike, the congress shall proceed to nominate three persons out of each state, and the secretary of congress shall strike in behalf of such party absent or refusing; and the judgment and sentence of the court to be appointed in the manner before prescribed shall be final and conclusive; and if any of the parties shall refuse to submit to the authority of such court, or to appear and defend their claim or cause, the court shall, nevertheless, proceed to pronounce sentence or judgment, which shall in like manner be final and decisive, the judgment or sentence and other proceedings being in either case transmitted to congress, and lodged among the acts of congress for the security of the parties concerned; provided, that every commissioner, before he sits in judgment, shall take an oath, to be administered by one of the judges of the supreme or superior court of the state where the cause shall be tried, "well and truly to hear and determine the matter in question, according to the best of his judgment, without favor, affection, or hope of reward"; provided, also, that no state shall be deprived of territory for the benefit of the United States.

All controversies concerning the private right of soil claimed under different grants of two or more states, whose jurisdictions as they may respect such lands, and the states which passed such grants, are adjusted, the said grants, or either of them, being at the same time claimed to have originated antecedent to such settlement of jurisdiction, shall, on the petition of either party to the congress of the United States, be finally determined as near as may be in the same manner as is before described for deciding disputes respecting territorial jurisdiction between different states.

The United States, in congress assembled, shall also have the sole and exclusive right and power of regulating the alloy and value of coin struck by their own authority or by that of the respective states; fixing the standard of weights and measures throughout the United States; regulating the trade and managing all affairs with the Indians not members of any of the states; provided, that the legislative right of any state, within its own limits, be not infringed or violated; establishing or regulating post-offices from one state to another throughout all the United States, and exacting such postage on the papers passing through the same as may be requisite to defray the expenses of the said office; appointing all officers of the land forces in the service of the United States excepting regimental officers; appointing all the officers of the naval forces, and commissioning all officers whatever in the service of the United States; making rules for the government and regulation of the said land and naval forces and directing their operations.

The United States, in congress assembled, shall have authority to appoint a committee to sit in the recess of congress, to be denominated a "Committee of the States," and to consist of one delegate from each state; and to appoin such other committees and civil officers as may be necessary for managing the general affairs of the United States under their direction; to appoint one of their number to preside, provided, that no person be allowed to serve in the office of president more than one year in any term of three years; to ascertain the necessary sums of money to be raised for the service of the United States, and to appropriate and apply the same for defraying the public expenses; to borrow money or emit bills on the credit of the United States, transmitting every half-year to the respective states an account of the sums of money so borrowed or emitted; to build and equip a navy; to agree upon the number of land forces, and to make requisitions from each state for its quota, in proportion to the number of white inhabitants in such state, which requisition shall be binding, and thereupon the legislature of each state shall appoint the regimental officers, raise the men, and clothe, arm, and equip them in a soldier-like manner, at the expense of the United States; and the officers and men so clothed, armed, and equipped, shall march to the place appointed and within the time agreed on by the United States, in congress assembled. But if the United States, in congress assembled, shall, on consideration of circumstances, judge proper that any state should not raise men, or should raise a smaller number than its quota, and that any other state should raise a greater number of men than the quota thereof, such extra number shall be raised, officered, clothed, armed, and equipped in the same manner as the quota of such state, unless the legislature of such state shall judge that such extra number cannot be safely spared out of the same, in which case they shall raise, officer, clothe, arm, and equip as many of such extra number as they judge can be safely spared. And the officers and men so clothed, armed, and equipped, shall march to the place appointed and within the time agreed on by the United States, in congress assembled.

The United States, in congress assembled, shall never engage in a war, nor grant letters of marque and reprisal in time of peace, nor enter into any treaties or alliances, nor coin money, nor regulate the value thereof, nor ascertain the sums and expenses necessary for the defence and welfare of the United States, or any of them, nor emit bills, nor borrow money on the credit of the United States, nor appropriate money, nor agree upon the number of vessels of war to be built or purchased, or the number of land or sea forces to be raised, nor appoint a commander-in-chief of the army or navy, unless nine states assent to the same; nor shall a question on any other point, except for adjourning from day to day, be determined, unless by the votes of a majority of the United States, in congress assembled.

The congress of the United States shall have power to adjourn to any time within the year, and to any place within the United States, so that no period of adjournment be for a longer duration than the space of six months, and shall publish a journal of their proceedings monthly, except such parts thereof relating to treaties, alliances, or military operations as in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the delegates of each state on any question shall be entered on the journal, when it is desired by any delegate; and the delegates of a state, or any of them, at his or their request, shall be furnished with a transcript of the said journal, except such parts as are above excepted, to lay before the legislatures of the several states.

ART. X. The committee of the states, or any nine of them, shall be authorized to execute, in the recess of congress, such of the powers of congress as the United States, in congress assembled, by the consent of nine states, shall, from time to time, think expedient to vest them with; provided, that no power be delegated to the said committee, for the exercise of which, by the articles of confederation, the voice of nine states in the congress of the United States assembled is requisite.

ART. XI. Canada acceding to this confederation, and joining in the measures of the United States, shall be admitted into and entitled to all the advantages of this union; but no other colony shall be admitted into the same, unless such admission be agreed to by nine states.

ART. XII. All bills of credit emitted, moneys borrowed, and debts contracted by or under the authority of congress, before the assembling of the United States, in pursuance of the present confederation, shall be deemed and considered as a charge against the United States, for payment and satisfaction whereof the said United States and the public faith are hereby solemnly pledged.

ART. XIII. Every state shall abide by the determinations of the United States, in congress assembled, on all questions which by this confederation are submitted to them. And the articles of this confederation shall be inviolably observed by every state, and the union shall be perpetual; nor shall any alteration at any time hereafter be made in any of them, unless such alteration be agreed to in a congress of the United States, and be afterwards confirmed by the legislatures of every state; and

WHEREAS, it hath pleased the Great Governor of the world to incline the hearts of the legislatures we respectively represent in congress, to approve of and to authorize us to ratify the said articles of confederation and perpetual union, know ye that we, the undersigned delegates, by virtue of the power and authority to us given for that purpose, do by these presents, in the name and in behalf of our respective constituents, fully and entirely ratify and confirm each and every of the said articles of confederation and perpetual union, and all and singular the matters and things therein contained.

And we do further solemnly plight and engage the faith of our respective constituents, that they shall abide by the determinations of the United States, in congress assembled, on all questions which by the said confederation are submitted to them, and that the articles thereof shall be inviolably observed by the states we respectively represent, and that the union shall be perpetual.

In witness whereof we have hereunto set our hands in congress. Done at Philadelphia, in the state of Pennsylvania, the 9th day of July, in the year of our Lord 1778, and in the third year of the independence of America.

Arthur St. Clair	Pennsylvania	1787–1788	1735	1818
Cyrus Griffin	Virginia	1788–1789	1748	1810

The seat of government was established first at Philadelphia, Penn., commencing Sept. 5, 1774, and May 10, 1775; at Baltimore, Md., Dec. 20, 1776; at Philadelphia, Penn., March 4, 1777; at Lancaster, Penn., Sept. 27, 1777; at York, Penn., Sept. 30, 1777; at Philadelphia, Penn., July 2, 1778; at Princeton, N. J., June 30, 1783; at Annapolis, Md., Nov. 26, 1783; at Trenton, N. J., Nov. 1, 1784; and at New York City, Jan. 11, 1785.

On the 4th of March, 1789, the present constitution, which had been adopted by a convention and ratified by the requisite number of states, went into operation. The several state legislatures ratified this instrument at the following dates:

Delaware, Dec. 7, 1787; Pennsylvania, Dec. 12, 1787; New Jersey, Dec. 18, 1787; Georgia, Jan. 2, 1788; Connecticut, Jan. 9, 1788; Massachusetts, Feb. 6, 1788; Maryland, April 28, 1788; South Carolina, May 23, 1788; New Hampshire, June 21, 1788; Virginia, June 26, 1788; New York, July 26, 1788; North Carolina, Nov. 21, 1789; Rhode Island, May 29, 1790.

The privilege of becoming members of the union by ratifying the constitution was confined to those states that were parties to the confederation by which the constitution had been framed. The constitution was adopted by the convention, September 17, 1787. It required that nine states should ratify it before its provisions could go into effect. Congress, on the 13th of September, 1788, determined that as a sufficient number of the states had ratified it — eleven having done so — it should become operative on the first Wednesday (the 4th) of March, 1789. North Carolina and Rhode Island had not yet sanctioned it; but as soon as they acceded to its provisions, they were admitted to its privileges.

THIRTY-ONE ADDITIONAL STATES.

Thirty-one states have been admitted since the confederation of the original thirteen colonies, their admission taking effect as follows:

1. Vermont, March 4, 1791.
2. Kentucky, June 1, 1792.
3. Tennessee, June 1, 1796.
4. Ohio, Nov. 29, 1802.
5. Louisiana, April 30, 1812.
6. Indiana, Dec. 11, 1816.
7. Mississippi, Dec. 10, 1817.
8. Illinois, Dec. 3, 1818.
9. Alabama, Dec. 14, 1819.
10. Maine, March 15, 1820.
11. Missouri, Aug. 10, 1821.
12. Arkansas, June 15, 1836.
13. Michigan, Jan. 26, 1837.
14. Florida, March 3, 1845.
15. Texas, Dec. 29, 1845.
16. Iowa, Dec. 28, 1846.
17. Wisconsin, May 29, 1848.
18. California, Sept. 9, 1850.
19. Minnesota, May 11, 1858.
20. Oregon, Feb. 14, 1859.
21. Kansas, Jan. 29, 1861.
22. West Virginia, June 19, 1863.
23. Nevada, Oct. 31, 1864.
24. Nebraska, March 1, 1867.
25. Colorado, Aug. 1, 1876.
26. North Dakota, Nov. 2, 1889.
27. South Dakota, Nov. 2, 1889.
28. Montana, Nov. 8, 1889.
29. Washington, Nov. 11, 1889.
30. Idaho, July 3, 1890.
31. Wyoming, July 10, 1890.

CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defence, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE I.

SECTION I. All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a congress of the United States, which shall consist of a senate and house of representatives.

SECT. II. — 1. The house of representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several states, and the electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislature.

2. No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen.

3. Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several states which may be included within this Union, according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three fifths of all other persons. The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each state shall have at least one representative: and until such enumeration shall be made, the state of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three; Massachusetts, eight; Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, one; Connecticut, five; New York, six; New Jersey, four; Pennsylvania, eight; Delaware, one; Maryland, six; Virginia, ten; North Carolina, five; South Carolina, five; and Georgia, three.

4. When vacancies happen in the representation from any state,the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

5. The house of representatives shall choose their speaker and other officers and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

SECT. III. — 1. The senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each state, chosen by the legislature thereof, for six years; and each senator shall have one vote.

2. Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one third may be chosen every second year; and if vacancies happen, by resignation or otherwise, during the recess of the legislature of any state, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies.

3. No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state for which he shall be chosen.

4. The vice-president of the United States shall be president of the senate, but shall have no vote unless they be equally divided.

5. The senate shall choose their other officers, and also a president pro tempore, in the absence of the vice-president, or when he shall exercise the office of president of the United States.

6. The senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose, they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the president of the United States is tried, the chief justice shall preside; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two thirds of the members present.

7. Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust, or profit under the United States; but the party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment according to law.

Sect. IV. — 1. The times, places, and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives shall be prescribed in the state by the legislature thereof; but the congress may at any time, by law, make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing senators.

2. The congress shall assemble at least once in every year; and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall, by law, appoint a different day.

Sect. V. — 1. Each house shall be judge of the elections, returns, and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each house may provide.

2. Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two thirds, expel a member.

3. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question shall, at the desire of one fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

4. Neither house, during the session of congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

SECT. VI. — 1. The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall in all cases, except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to or returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place.

2. No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

SECT. VII. — 1. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives; but the senate may propose or concur with amendments, as on other bills.

2. Every bill which shall have passed the house of representatives and the senate shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the president of the United States; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such reconsideration two thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered; and if approved by two thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays; and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house, respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the president within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the congress, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

3. Every order, resolution, or vote, to which the concurrence of the senate and house of representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the president of the United States; and before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or, being disapproved by him, shall be re-passed by two thirds of the senate and house of representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

SECT. VIII. — The congress shall have power —

1. To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts, and excises, to pay the debts and provide for the common defence and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts, and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States;

2. To borrow money on the credit of the United States;

3. To regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states, and with the Indian tribes;

4. To establish an uniform rule of naturalization, and uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies throughout the United States;

5. To coin money, regulate the value thereof and of foreign coin, and fix the standard of weights and measures;

6. To provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States;

7. To establish post-offices and post-roads;

8. To promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing for limited times to authors and inventors the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries;

9. To constitute tribunals inferior to the supreme court;

10. To define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offences against the law of nations;

11. To declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water;

12. To raise and support armies; but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years;

13. To provide and maintain a navy;

14. To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces;

15. To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections, and repel invasions;

16. To provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the states respectively the appointment of the officers, and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by congress;

17. To exercise exclusive legislation, in all cases whatsoever, over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular states, and the acceptance of congress, become the seat of the government of the United States, and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the consent of the legislature of the state in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock-yards, and other needful buildings; and

18. To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this constitution in the government of the United States or in any department or officer thereof.

Sect. IX.—1. The migration or importation of such persons as any of the states now existing shall think proper to admit shall not be prohibited by the congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight; but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

2. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in cases of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it.

3. No bill of attainder, or ex post facto law shall be passed.

4. No capitation or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration hereinbefore directed to be taken.

5. No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any state.

6. No preference shall be given by any regulation of commerce or revenue to the ports of one state over those of another; nor shall vessels bound to or from one state be obliged to enter, clear, or pay duties in another.

7. No money shall be drawn from the treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time.

8. No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States; and no person holding any office of profit or trust under them shall, without the consent of the congress, accept of any present, emolument, office, or title, of any kind whatever, from any king, prince, or foreign state.

Sect. X.—1. No state shall enter into any treaty, alliance, or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money; emit bills of credit; make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, or grant any title of nobility.

2. No state shall, without the consent of the congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws; and the net produce of all duties and imposts laid by any state on imports or exports shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of the congress.

3. No state shall, without the consent of congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another state, or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

Sect. I.—1. The executive power shall be vested in a president of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the vice-president, chosen for the same term, be elected as follows:

2. Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the congress; but no senator or representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

Annulled. See Amendments, Article XII.

3. The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit, sealed, to the seat of government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the house of representatives shall immediately choose by ballot one of them for president; and if no person have a majority, then from the five highest on the list the said house shall in like manner choose the president. But in choosing the president, the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of the president, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the vice-president. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the senate shall choose from them by ballot the vice-president.

4. The congress may determine the time of choosing the electors,* and the day on which they shall give their votes; which day shall be the same throughout the United States.†

5. No person except a natural-born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this constitution, shall be eligible to the office of president; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

6. In case of the removal of the president from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice-president; and the congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation, or inability, both of the president and vice-president, declaring what officer shall then act as president, and such officer shall act accordingly until the disability be removed or a president shall be elected.

7. The president shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation, which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected; and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

* The time for choosing the electors is the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November.

† The time for the meeting of the electors is the first Wednesday in December.

8. Before he enters on the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation :

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and will to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the constitution of the United States."

SECT. II.—1. The president shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several states, when called into the actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices; and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offences against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

2. He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to make treaties, provided two thirds of the senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint, ambassadors, other public ministers, and consuls, judges of the supreme court, and all other officers of the United States whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law; but the congress may by law vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper in the president alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

3. The president shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

SECT. III. He shall from time to time give to the congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient; he may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them, and in case of disagreement between them with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper; he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers; he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed; and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

SECT. IV. The president, vice-president, and all civil officers of the United States, shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of, treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III.

SECT. I. The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as the congress may, from time to time, ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

SECT. II.—1. The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity arising under this constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers, and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more states; between a state and citizens of another state; between citizens of different states; between citizens of the same state claiming lands under grants of different states; and between a state, or the citizens thereof, and foreign states, citizens, or subjects.

2. In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers, and consuls, and those in which a state shall be a party, the supreme court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned, the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the congress shall make.

3. The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury, and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as the congress may by law have directed.

SECT. III. — 1. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason, unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

2. The congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason; but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture except during the life of the person attainted.

ARTICLE IV.

SECT. I. Full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of every other state. And the congress may by general laws prescribe the manner in which such acts, records, and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

SECT. II. — 1. The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states.

2. A person charged in any state with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice, and be found in another state, shall, on demand of the executive authority of the state from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the state having jurisdiction of the crime.

3. No person held to service or labor in one state, under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.

SECT. III. — 1. New states may be admitted by the congress into this Union; but no new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state; nor any state be formed by the junction of two or more states, or parts of states, without the consent of the legislatures of the states concerned, as well as of the congress.

2. The congress shall have power to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States, or of any particular state.

SECT. IV. — The United States shall guarantee to every state in this Union a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion, and, on application of the legislatures, or of the executive (when the legislature cannot be convened), against domestic violence.

ARTICLE V.

The congress, whenever two thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this constitution, or, on the application of the legislatures of two thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which in either case shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the congress; provided, that no amendment which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the ninth section of the first article; and that no state, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the senate.

ARTICLE VI.

1. All debts contracted and engagements entered into before the adoption of this constitution shall be as valid against the United States under this constitution as under the confederation.

2. This constitution and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance hereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, anything in the constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding.

3. The senators and representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several state legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several states, shall be bound by oath or affirmation to support this constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII.

The ratification of the conventions of nine states shall be sufficient for the establishment of this constitution between the states so ratifying the same.

Done in convention, by the unanimous consent of the states present, the seventeenth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven, and of the independence of the United States of America the twelfth. In witness whereof, we have hereunto subscribed our names.

DATE OF RATIFICATION.

The constitution was adopted by the convention, on the 17th of September, 1787, appointed in pursuance of the resolution of the congress of the confederation of the 21st of February, 1787, and ratified by the conventions of the several states, as follows:

Delaware, December 7, 1787, unanimously.
Pennsylvania, December 12, 1787, by a vote of 46 to 23.
New Jersey, December 18, 1787, unanimously.
Georgia, January 2, 1788, unanimously.
Connecticut, January 9, 1788, by a vote of 128 to 40.
Massachusetts, February 6, 1788, by a vote of 187 to 168.
Maryland, April 28, 1788, by a vote of 63 to 12.
South Carolina, May 23, 1788, by a vote of 149 to 73.
New Hampshire, June 21, 1788, by a vote of 57 to 47.
Virginia, June 25, 1788, by a vote of 89 to 79.
New York, July 26, 1788, by a vote of 30 to 25.
North Carolina, November 21, 1789, by a vote of 193 to 75.
Rhode Island, May 29, 1790, by a majority of 2.
Vermont, January 10, 1791, by a vote of 105 to 4.

Declared ratified by resolution of the old congress, September 13, 1788.

The adoption of the constitution was opposed by many who believed that the extensive powers granted by it to congress and the executive would be dangerous to the liberties of the people. It was, however, finally adopted, chiefly through the exertions and writings of James Madison, John Jay, and Alexander Hamilton. Virginia ratified the constitution with the declaration that she was at liberty to withdraw from the union whenever its powers were used for oppression; and New York, after Hamilton had declared that no state should ever be coerced by an armed force. There were two great parties, the federalists, in favor of a strong, centralized government, and the anti-federalists, supporters of state's rights. Washington and Adams, federalist leaders, were elected, and the government was organized with Thomas Jefferson, secretary of state; Alexander Hamilton, secretary of the treasury; Henry Knox, secretary of war; and John Jay, chief justice of the supreme court.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

ARTICLE I.*

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

ARTICLE II.

A well-regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.

ARTICLE III.

No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE IV.

The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated; and no warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the persons or things to be seized.

ARTICLE V.

No person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service, in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be witness against himself; nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation.

*Twelve amendments were proposed by congress, September 25, 1789; the last ten were adopted, which are the first ten as shown above, and were proclaimed to be in force December 15, 1791.

The rejected articles were as follows:

I. After the first enumeration required by the first article of the constitution there shall be one representative for every 30,000 persons, until the number shall amount to one hundred; after which the proportion shall be so regulated by congress that there shall not be less than one hundred representatives for every 40,000 persons, until the number of representatives shall amount to two hundred; after which the proportion shall be so regulated by congress that there shall not be less than two hundred representatives for every 50,000 persons.

II. No law varying the compensation for the services of the senators and representatives shall take effect until an election of representatives shall have intervened.

The twelve proposed amendments were acted upon by the states as follows:

All ratified by Kentucky, Maryland, New Jersey, North Carolina, South Carolina, Vermont, and Virginia — 7.

All excepting Article I. ratified by Delaware — 1.

All excepting Article II. ratified by Pennsylvania — 1.

All excepting Articles I. and II. ratified by New Hampshire, New York, and Rhode Island — 3.

All rejected by Connecticut, Georgia, and Massachusetts — 3.

ARTICLE VI.

In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury of the state and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor; and to have the assistance of counsel for his defence.

ARTICLE VII.

In suits of common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved; and no fact tried by a jury shall be otherwise re-examined in any court of the United States than according to the rules of the common law.

ARTICLE VIII.

Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

ARTICLE IX.

The enumeration in the constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

ARTICLE X.

The powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people.

ARTICLE XI.*

The judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by citizens of another state, or by citizens or subjects of any foreign state.

---

* Article XI. was proposed by congress March 12, 1794, and declared in force January 8, 1798.

ARTICLE XII.*

The electors shall meet in their respective states† and vote by ballot for president and vice-president, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as president, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as vice-president; and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as president, and of all persons voted for as vice-president, and of the number of votes for each, which lists they shall sign and certify and transmit, sealed, to the seat of government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted; ‡ the person having the greatest number of votes for president shall be president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers, not exceeding three, on the list of those voted for as president, the house of representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the president. But in choosing the president the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. And if the house of representatives shall not choose a president, whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the vice-president shall act as president, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the president. The person having the greatest number of votes as vice-president shall be the vice-president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list the senate shall choose the Vice-President; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two thirds of the whole number of senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of President shall be eligible to that of vice-president of the United States.

ARTICLE XIII. §

SECT. 1. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

SECT. 2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

*Article XII. was proposed in the first session of the eighth congress, and declared in force September 25, 1804.

†The time for the meeting of the electors is the first Wednesday in December.

‡The time for counting the votes is the second Wednesday in February.

§ Article XIII. was proposed by congress February 1, 1865, and declared in force December 18, 1865.

ARTICLE XIV.*

SECT. 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States, and of the state wherein they reside. No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

SECT. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several states according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each state, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for president and vice-president of the United States, representatives in congress, the executive and judicial officers of a state, or the members of the legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such state being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such state.

SECT. 3. No person shall be a senator or representative in congress, or elector of president and vice-president, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any state, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any state legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any state, to support the constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof. But congress may, by a vote of two thirds of each house, remove such disability.

Ratified by Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia, and Wisconsin — 33.

Ratified conditionally by Alabama and Mississippi.

Rejected by Delaware and Kentucky — 2.

* Article XIV. was proposed by congress June 13, 1866, and declared in force July 28, 1868.

Ratified by Alabama, Arkansas, (‡) Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia, and Wisconsin — 33.

Of the above, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia first rejected the amendment, but finally ratified it. New Jersey and Ohio rescinded their ratification.

(‡) No final action was taken by California — 1.

Rejected by Delaware, Kentucky, and Maryland — 3.

SECT. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any state shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations, and claims shall be held illegal and void.

SECT. 5. The congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article.

ARTICLE XV.*

SECT. 1. The right of the citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or by any state, on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude.

SECT. 2. The congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

AN ACT RELATIVE TO THE ELECTION OF A PRESIDENT AND VICE-PRESIDENT AND DECLARING THE OFFICER WHO SHALL ACT AS PRESIDENT IN CASES OF VACANCIES, APPROVED MARCH 1, 1792, PROVIDES AS FOLLOWS:

That the electors shall meet and give their votes on the first Wednesday in December, at such place in each state as shall be directed by the legislature thereof; and the electors in each state shall make and sign three certificates of all the votes by them given, and shall seal up the same, certifying on each that a list of the votes of such state for president and vice-president is contained therein; and shall, by writing, under their hands, or under the hands of a majority of them, appoint a person to take charge of, and deliver to the president of the senate, at the seat of government, before the first Wednesday in January then next ensuing, one of the said certificates; and the said electors shall forthwith forward, by the post-office, to the president of the senate, at the seat of government, one other of the said certificates; and shall forthwith cause the other of the said certificates to be delivered to the judge of that district in which the said electors shall assemble.

*Article XV. was proposed by congress February 26, 1869, and declared in force March 30, 1870.

Ratified by Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Texas, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia, and Wisconsin — 30.

Of the above, Georgia and Ohio at first rejected but finally ratified. New York rescinded her ratification.

Rejected by California, Delaware, Kentucky, Maryland, New Jersey, and Oregon — 6.

No final action was taken by Tennessee — 1.

That the executive authority of each state shall cause three lists of the names of the electors of such state to be made, and certified, and to be delivered to the electors on or before the said first Wednesday in December; and the electors shall annex one of the said lists to each of the lists of their votes.

That if a list of votes from any state shall not have been received at the seat of government on the said first Wednesday in January, then the secretary of state shall send a special messenger to the district judge in whose custody such list shall have been lodged, who shall forthwith transmit the same to the seat of government.

That congress shall be in session on the second Wednesday in February, and the said certificates, or so many of them as shall have been received, shall then be opened, the votes counted, and the persons who shall fill the offices of president and vice-president ascertained and declared, agreeably to the constitution.

That in case there shall be no president of the senate at the seat of government on the arrival of the persons intrusted with the lists of the votes of the electors, then such persons shall deliver the lists of votes in their custody into the office of the secretary of state, to be safely kept and delivered over, as soon as may be, to the president of the senate.

That in case of a removal, death, resignation, or inability, both of the president and vice-president, the president of the senate pro tempore, and in case there shall be no president of the senate, then the speaker of the house of representatives for the time being shall act as president of the United States until the disability be removed or a president shall be elected.

That whenever the offices of president and vice-president shall both become vacant, the secretary of state shall forthwith cause a notification to be made to the executive of every state, and shall also cause the same to be published in at least one of the newspapers printed in each state, specifying that electors shall be appointed or chosen in the several states within thirty-four days preceding the first Wednesday in December then next ensuing; provided, there shall be the space of two months between the date of said notification and the said first Wednesday in December; but if there shall not be a space of two months between the date of such notification and the first Wednesday in December, and if the term for which the president and vice-president last in office were elected shall not expire on the third day of March next ensuing, then the secretary of state shall specify in his notification that the electors shall be appointed within thirty-four days preceding the fourth Wednesday in December, in the next year ensuing, further action to be followed as prescribed by law for elections ordinarily.

The number was increased in 1807 by the appointment of Thomas Todd; increased in 1837 by the appointments of John Catron and John McKinley; increased in 1863 by the appointment of Stephen J. Field; decreased on the death of John Catron in 1865; decreased on the death of James M. Wayne in 1867; and increased by the appointment of William M. Strong in 1870. The prescribed number of associate justices at the present time is eight.

In the absence of the chief justice the senior associate justice presides.

From the organization of the senate, March 4, 1789, until the December session in 1795, the sessions were with closed doors, except during the discussion in February, 1795, of the right of Albert Gallatin to a seat, when it was insisted that he was an alien and ineligible. When considering treaties and nominations the sessions are with closed doors.

The vice-president is president of the senate; during his absence, or while exercising the office of president, the president pro tempore presides.

HISTORICAL NOTES.

1. Discovery of America by Northmen. Herjulf was one of those who accompanied Eric to Greenland. Bjarni, son of Herjulf, on his return from a trading voyage to Norway in 985, hearing that his father had gone to Greenland, determined to join him there, instead of proceeding to Ireland. By contrary winds he was driven out of his course, and he saw an unknown country, the shores of New England. He did not land, but the narrative of his voyage, on his arrival in Greenland, caused future expeditions in that direction. In the year 1000 an expedition sailed under Leif, son of Eric, and landed in a country which was named Helluland (from Hella, a flat stone) now Newfoundland. Again they set sail, reached a land where they went ashore and named Markland, that is, Woodland, now Nova Scotia. Again they put to sea, with the wind northeast, and landed next on an island where dew was on the grass and very sweet to the taste; this is supposed to have been the island now known as Nantucket. They again embarked and anchored in a bay and wintered at the mouth of a river, supposed to have been, as now known, Mount Hope Bay and Fall River, Mass. The country was named Vinland from the abundance of grapes found in the vicinity. The Northman called the country somewhere south of Vinland the White Man's Land, or Great Ireland, and believed that it was occupied by Irish. A tradition, with a slight claim to fact, states that the Irish, as early as the Northmen, visited and colonized the southern part of North America, now known as North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, and Florida. Accounts are given of expeditions to Great Ireland, previous to, and as late as 1347.

2. Columbus received a patent from Ferdinand and Isabella April 17, 1492; the following were its terms:

First: Their highnesses, as sovereigns of the ocean, constitute Don Christopher Columbus their admiral in all those islands and continents that by his industry shall be discovered or conquered in the said ocean during his life, and after his death to his heirs and successsrs, one by one, forever, with all the pre-eminences and prerogatives to that office pertaining; and in the same manner as Don Alonzo Henriquez, their great admiral of Castile, and his predecessors in said office had enjoyed the same with their districts.

Item: Their highnesses appoint the said Don Christopher Columbus their viceroy and governor-general of all the islands and continents which (as has been said) he shall discover or conquer in the said ocean, and that he choose three persons for the government of each of them, for each office; and that their highnesses take and make choice of one of them, as shall be most for their service, and so the lands will be the better governed which our Lord shall permit him to discover, or conquer, for the service of their highnesses.

Item: That all and whatsoever commodities, whether pearls, precious stones, gold, silver, spice, or other thing whatsoever; or merchandise of any kind, name, or manner whatever they may be, that shall be bought, exchanged, found, won, or had within the limits of the said admiralship, their highnesses from this time grant to the said Don Christopher; and it is their will that he have and enjoy the tenth part of it for himself, deducting the charges that shall be made toward the same, so that of what shall remain clear and free he have and take the tenth part for himself, and dispose of it at his own will, the other nine parts remaining for their majesties.

Item: In case that on account of the said merchandise which he shall bring from the said islands, or lands, which shall (as has been said) be discovered, or conqnered, or of those that shall be taken in exchange of them of other merchants, any lawsuit should happen to arise in the place where the said commerce and trade shall be made and carried on, if by reason of his said office of admiral it shall belong to him to take cognizance of such controversy, it may please their highnesses that he or his deputy, and no other judge, shall try the said cause, if it appertains to the said office of admiral as the same has been enjoyed by the admiral Don Alonzo Henriquez, or his predecessors in their districts, and according to justice.

Item: That all ships which shall be fitted out for the said trade and commerce, whensoever and as often as they shall be fitted, shall be liable to the said Don Christopher Columbus, if he shall think fit to lay out the eighth part of what shall be expended in fitting them out, and that he accordingly have and receive the eighth part of the profits of such ships.

3. GRANT OF AMERICA to Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain was made by a bull of Pope Alexander VI, May 3, 1493. By bulls of May 3 and September 25, Pope Alexander VI established a line of demarkation dividing the heathen world between Spain and Portugal. The imaginary line was from pole to pole 370 miles west of the Azores. He gave unlimited sway to the Portuguese over all countries they might discover east of this line, and to the Spaniards all discoveries they might make west thereof. This was modified by a capitulacion, June 7, 1494, between the pope, Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain, and John II, of Portugal. At the time of these grants the newly discovered world was supposed to be the eastern coast of India.

4. CABOT'S PATENTS.—A patent was granted by Henry VII. of England, March 5, 1496, to John Cabot and his three sons, Lewis, Sebastian, and Sanctius, their heirs or deputies, to " sail to all parts, countries, and seas of the east, of the west, and of the north, under our banners and ensigns, with five ships of what burthen and quantity soever they be, and so many mariners or men as they will have with them in the said ships, upon their own proper costs and charges to seek out, discover, and find whatsoever isles, countries, regions, or provinces of the heathen and infidels, whatsoever they be, and in what part of the world soever they be, which before this time have been unknown to all Christians," to take possession in the name of the king of England, and as his vassals to conquer, possess, and occupy; enjoying for themselves, their heirs and assigns forever, the sole right of trading thither, paying the king in lieu of all customs and impositions, a fifth of all net profits.

A second patent was granted, February 3, 1498, by which John Kabotto was authorized to impress six English ships, "and them convey and lede to the Londe and Isles of late founde by the said John in oure name and by our commandemente."

5. GILBERT'S CHARTER. — A charter was granted by Queen Elizabeth to Sir Humphrey Gilbert, June 11, 1578, which empowered him for the following six years to discover "such remote heathen and barbarous lands, not actually possessed by any Christian prince or people," and conferred on him the rights of jurisdiction and exclusive trade over a circuit of 600 miles, to be described from any spot as a center. At this time Florida was regarded by the English as the northern boundary of Spanish possessions, and "that the countreys lying north of Florida God hath reserved the same to be reduced into Christian civility by the English nation."

In March, 1584, Walter Raleigh obtained the patent of Sir Humphrey Gilbert, with enlarged powers and privileges.

6. VIRGINIA COMPANIES. — James I. granted letters patent April 10, 1606, to Sir George Somers, Richard Hakluyt, Edward Maria Wingfield, and others who should be joined with them, which granted to them all the territory on the Atlantic coast of North America between 34 degrees and 45 degrees north latitude, and the islands within 100 miles. Two companies were formed. The first or southern colony of Virginia, known as the LONDON COMPANY, its council being chiefly citizens of London, had jurisdiction from Cape Fear to the eastern end of Long Island, from 34 degrees to 41 degrees latitude. The second or northern colony of Virginia, known as the PLYMOUTH COMPANY, its council having been appointed from Plymouth, England, and vicinity, had jurisdiction from about the latitude of Delaware Bay to Halifax, Nova Scotia, or from 38 degrees to 45 degrees north latitude. From 38 degrees to 41 degrees the country was under the jurisdiction of both companies, but by the terms of the charter neither company was to begin a settlement within 100 miles of any spot previously occupied by the other.

7. NATIVITY OF EARLY VOYAGERS. — Some were not natives of the country of their service. Christopher Columbus was a native of Cogerio, near Genoa, Italy, born about 1435; he set out on a voyage of discovery in the service of Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain, August 3, 1492. John Cabot's birthplace is a matter of doubt. If not by birth a citizen of Venice, he was by adoption, denization having been granted him in Venice March 28, 1476, after a residence of 15 years. He sailed in the service of England, May, 1497. Amerigo Vespucci, born at Florence, Italy, March 9, 1451, sailed in the service of Spain May 20, 1499; in the service of Portugal, from May 10, 1501; and returned to the service of Spain in 1506. Fernando Magellan, born at Alemtejo, Portugal, in 1470. In the service of Spain he commanded an expedition which sailed September 20, 1519, which completed the circumnavigation of the globe September 8, 1522. Jean Verrazani, a native of Florence, Italy, entered the service of France January 17, 1524. Cabrillo, a native of Portugal, in the Spanish service, explored the coast of California. Henry Hudson, a native of England, entered the service of the Dutch East India Company, in 1609, and discovered the site of New York. Vitus Behring, a Dane by birth, entered the service of Russia in 1728.

Virginia Company. — A new charter was granted by James I. to the first or southern colony under the supervision of the "London Company," May 23, 1609. The boundaries of the land thus granted were from 200 miles north to the same distance south of Old Point Comfort, extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean, and the islands within 100 miles of both coasts.

9. New Netherlands. — The term was first officially applied to the region in America "between New France and Virginia, being the sea coasts between 42 degrees and 45 degrees," the monopoly of trade of which was granted by the States General October 11, 1614, to a company in Amsterdam, for three years from January 1, 1615.

10. The Great Patent granted by James I., November 3, 1620, to the Plymouth Company, formerly known as the second or northern colony of Virginia, included territory from 40 to 48 degrees latitude.

11. Compact of the Pilgrims signed on board of the Mayflower in Cape Cod (Provincetown) harbor, before landing:

"In ye name of God, Amen. We whose names are underwritten, the loyall subjects of our dread soveraigne Lord, King James, by ye grace of God, of Great Britaine, France & Ireland king, defender of ye faith, &c., haveing undertaken for ye glorie of God and advancement of ye Christian faith, & honour of our king & countrie, a voyage to plant ye first colonie in ye Northern part of Virginia, doe by these presents solemnly & mutualy in ye presence of God, and of one another, covenant & combine our selves together into a civil body politick, for our better ordering & preservation & furtherance of ye ends aforesaid; and by virtue hearof to enact, constitute, and frame such just & equall lawes, ordinances, acts, constitutions & offices, from time to time, as shall be thought most meete & convenient for ye generall good of ye Colonie, unto which we promise all due submission and obedience. In witness wherof we have hereunder subscribed our names at Cape-Codd ye 11 of November, in ye year of ye raigne of our soveraigne lord, King James, of England, France & Ireland ye eighteenth, and of Scotland ye fiftie fourth Ano: Dom. 1620."

12. MASSACHUSETTS BAY. — A company was formed at Dorchester, England, in 1623, the Rev. John White, minister of that place, the principal mover. A colony attempted at Cape Ann was unsuccessful. A patent was procured from the Plymouth Company, March 19, 1628, Sir Henry Roswell, Sir John Young, Thomas Southcote, John Humphrey, John Endicott, and Simon Whitcomb, patentees, granting that tract of country from three miles south of the Charles River, to three miles north of the Merrimac, and from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean.

13. ORDER OF PATROONS was founded by the Charter of Privileges and Exemptions issued by the Dutch West India Company's College of Nineteen, June 7, 1629. Any member of that company who should purchase of the Indians and found, in any part of New Netherlands except Manhattan and Fort Orange, a colony of 50 persons over 15 years of age, should be the feudal lord or patroon of the territory. His rule in all respects was to be as absolute as any baron of the Middle Ages.

14. PLYMOUTH CHARTER was granted to William Bradford and his associates by the Plymouth Company, January 13, 1630, for territory with its eastern boundary the Atlantic Ocean, and from Cohasset river to Narragansett river; its western boundary a line drawn from the mouths of these rivers and meeting at the uttermost limits of a country called Pocanoket (or Mount Hope, four miles from Troy, near Fall River, Mass.), in the southeastern part of Massachusetts. This patent also approved the grant on the Kennebec river, defining it to be fifteen miles on each bank thereof.

15. WARWICK'S GRANT. — A grant of lands, a part of Connecticut, was made to the Earl of Warwick in 1630. This was transferred to Lord Saybrooke and others March 19, 1631, and defined as that tract of New England extending westward from Narragansett river, one hundred and twenty miles along the coast, west to the Pacific Ocean.

16. UNITED COLONIES OF NEW ENGLAND, formed by convention May 19, 1643, and embracing Massachusetts, New Plymouth, Connecticut and New Haven. The confederation was formed principally for defence against the Indians, and they entered "into a firm and perpetual league of friendship and amity, for offence and defence, mutual advice and succor upon all just occasions, both for preserving and propagating the truth and liberties of the gospel, and for their own mutual safety and welfare."

17. HARTFORD BOUNDARY TREATY between New Netherlands and New England colonies in 1650. The boundary line on Long Island was fixed to run from the westernmost part of Oyster Bay straight to the sea, east of that line to belong to the English and west of it to the Dutch. On the land north of the Sound the dividing line was to extend from the west side of Greenwich Bay, about four miles from Stamford, thence inland twenty miles, not to come within ten miles of the Hudson, and the Dutch were not to build within six miles of the line.

18. NAVIGATION ACTS, 1660 AND 1663. — That of 1660 ordained that no commodities should be imported into any British settlement in Asia, Africa, or America, or exported from thence, but in vessels built in England or her colonial plantations and navigated by crews of which the masters and three fourths of the mariners should be English subjects, under the penalty of for feiture of ship and cargo; that none but natural born subjects of the English crown, or persons legally naturalized, should exercise the occupation of merchant, or factor, in any English colonial settlement, under the penalty of forfeiture of goods and chattels; that no sugar, tobacco, cotton, wool, indigo, ginger, or woods used in dyeing, produced or manufactured in the colonies, should be shipped from them to any other country than England; and to secure the observance of this regulation, ship owners were required at the port of lading to give bonds with surety for sums apportioned to the tonnage of their vessels.

That of 1663 in addition prohibited the importation of European commodities into the colonies, except in vessels laden in England and navigated and manned in conformity with the requisitions of the original statute.

19. CAROLINA CHARTER, granted March 24, 1663, by Charles II. to the Earl of Clarendon; George Monk, the Duke of Albemarle; Earl of Craven; Lord Berkeley; Lord Ashley; Sir George Carteret; Sir John Colleton; and Sir William Berkeley. The grant extended from 30 degrees to 36 degrees north latitude, or from St. John's river in Florida to nearly the present southern line of Virginia and from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean.

A second charter was granted June 30, 1665, which extended the boundaries a degree southward and half a degree northward. The territory then covered by the grants extended from 20 degrees to 36½ degrees north latitude, and from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean; or the present states of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, and the northern part of Florida, and all extending westward thereof to the Pacific Ocean.

20. CHARTER OF RHODE ISLAND and Providence Plantations, granted July 8, 1663, by Charles II., confirmed the rights of former charters and included with other provisions that "no person within the said colony, at any time hereafter, shall be any wise molested, punished, disquieted or called in question for any differences in opinion in matters of religion that do not actually disturb the civil peace of our said colony; but that all and every person and persons may from time to time, and at all times hereafter, freely and fully have and enjoy his and their own judgments and consciences in matters of religious concernments throughout the tract of land hereinafter mentioned, they behaving themselves peaceably and quietly, and not using this liberty to licentiousness and profaneness, nor to the injury or outward disturbance of others."

21. CHARTER OF NEW YORK was granted by Charles II. to his brother, the Duke of York, March 12, 1664, and included a portion of the Province of Maine. That for New York was defined as the country from the east side of the Connecticut river to the east side of Delaware Bay, and included Martha's Vineyard, Nantucket, all of Long Island, and all the territory of New Netherlands.

A new charter was granted June 29, 1674, that of 1664 having been extinguished by conquest by a foreign power in 1673, and its cession to the crown by treaty of Westminster in 1674.

22. CHARTER OF NEW JERSEY was granted by the Duke of York to Lord Berkeley and Sir George Carteret June 24, 1664. The territory defined as this grant extended from the Hudson to the Delaware, and from latitude 41⅔ degrees to Cape May.

23. QUINTIPARTITE DEED.— The preceding note explains that New Jersey was granted by the Duke of York. His title to New York was extinguished by Dutch conquest. Lord Berkeley transferred his undivided half, March 18, 1674, to John Fenwicke in trust for Edward Byllinge. A new grant was made by the duke August 8, 1674, to Sir George Carteret, of the northeastern part of New Jersey. In time a quarrel sprang up between Fenwicke and Byllinge regarding their respective rights. Both were Quakers, and the dispute was referred to William Penn, whose decision was satisfactory to both. Fenwicke set sail for America, but Byllinge, greatly in debt, was obliged to transfer a greater portion of his rights to his creditors, which were transferred to Penn, Laurie, and Lucas. This made matters complicated, and a division became necessary. On the 1st of July, 1676, a deed was signed by Sir George Carteret on the one side, and William Penn, Gawen Laurie, Nicholas Lucas, and Edward Byllinge on the other, which divided New Jersey into two portions.

EAST NEW JERSEY included all northeast of a line drawn from Little Egg Harbor to a point on the most northern branch of the Delaware river at latitude 41⅔ degrees. This became the portion of Sir George Carteret.

WEST NEW JERSEY included the territory originally granted by the duke southwest of the above described line, and was by the deed recognized as the purchase of the Quaker (Friend) associates.

24. CHARTER OF PENNSYLVANIA, granted to William Penn, his heirs and assigns, March 4, 1681, by Charles II. The grant was made in consideration of two beaver skins annually, and a fifth part of all the gold and silver that might be mined. The territory was defined as including three degrees of latitude, and five of longitude; bounded on the east by the river Delaware; extending westward five degrees of longitude; stretching to the north from twelve miles northward of Newcastle, Del., to 43 degrees latitude; limited on the south by a circle of twelve miles drawn around Newcastle to the beginning of 40 degrees latitude.

HISTORICAL FACTS connected with the formation of the original Union and the admission of new states.—On Monday, September 5, 1774, a number of men were assembled at Carpenter's Hall, Philadelphia, who had been chosen by the several colonies in what now constitutes the United States, to hold a congress for the purpose of discussing certain grievances imputed to the mother country. This congress resolved that each colony should have one vote only. On Tuesday, July 2, 1776, the congress resolved: "That these united colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states," etc.; and on Thursday, July 4, the whole declaration of independence having been agreed upon was publicly read to the people. On September 9 it was resolved that the words "United Colonies" should no longer be used, and that "United States" should thenceforward be the style and title of the union. On Saturday, November 15, 1777, "Articles of Confederation and Perpetual Union of the United States of America" were agreed to by the state delegates, subject to the ratification of the several state legislatures. Eight of the states ratified these articles July 9, 1778; one, July 21; one, July 24; one, November 26; one, February 22, 1779; and the last one, March 1, 1781.

25. CHARTER OF GEORGIA, granted by George II, June 9, 1732, to twenty-one noblemen and gentlemen; among whom were Anthony, Earl of Shaftesbury; John, Lord Percival; John, Lord Tyrconnel; James, Lord Limerick; George, Lord Carpenter; James Edward Oglethorpe, and Stepem Hales; the grant included territory formerly in the grant of Carolina, and of the present state of Georgia from the Savannah to the Altamaha river.

26. BOUNTY FOR SCALPS.—During the French and Indian war, in 1754, the French offered a bounty for British scalps. In the same year a bounty of £100 was offered by the colonies for Indian scalps. In 1755 Massachusetts granted a bounty of £3 to every soldier who would enlist and find his own gun; also a bounty of £40 for every scalp of a male over 12 years old, and £20 for every woman's and child's scalp. In July, 1764, John Penn, the grandson of William Penn, and governor of Pennsylvania, proclaimed that for every male Indian above the age of ten who was captured, a bounty of $150 should be paid; for every male killed and scalped, $134; for every one thus served under ten, $130; for every female killed and scalped, $50.

27. REGULATORS.—The name of an association formed in North Carolina, April 4, 1767. They entered into a compact to pay no taxes till all exorbitant fees were abolished and official embezzlement punished and prevented. The agitation was increased from time to time by the levying of taxes for unnecessary purposes, and the acts of officials. In 1771 they assembled to the number of two thousand and declared their determination to revolutionize the government. They were defeated, May 16, 1771, and in June of that year six were executed for treason.

28. GREEN MOUNTAIN BOYS.—By the grant of Charles II. to his brother James, the Duke of York, in the year 1664, the tract called New York was defined as bounded on the east by the Connecticut river; while the charters of Massachusetts and Connecticut gave those provinces an extent westward to the Pacific ocean. When toward the middle of the eighteenth century settlements began to be made westward of the Connecticut river disputes arose, and the line between Connecticut and New York was finally drawn, by mutual consent, twenty miles east of the Hudson. Massachusetts claimed a continuation of this line as her western boundary; but New York denied the claim. Governor Fletcher in 1696 made grants in the present state of Vermont. New Hampshire, lying north, was not disturbed by these disputes. When Benning Wentworth was made governor of New Hampshire he was authorized to issue patents for unimproved lands. In 1749 applications were made for grants beyond the Green mountains. He presumed that New Hampshire extended as far west as Connecticut, and gave a patent for a township six miles square, having its western line twenty miles east of the Hudson; and in his honor it was named Bennington. The governor and council of New York remonstrated against the grant, yet Wentworth continued to issue patents, so that in 1754, fourteen townships were laid out, and settlements commenced. These settlements were distinguished as "The New Hampshire grants," and in time extended and were subsequently called Vermont. In 1763, at the close of the war, 138 townships were surveyed. The controversy between New York and the grants became so violent that military organizations were formed in Vermont to resist the civil power of New York, and in 1772 its members were called the Green Mountain Boys. Having paid for the grants to New Hampshire, they objected to pay for them a second time. In 1774 New York passed an order that settlers who refused to surrender should suffer death. The contest continued; the governor offered a reward of £150 for Allen and £50 for Warner. A proclamation was made by the Green Mountain Boys, April 26, 1774, in which the New York authorities were defied. The revolutionary war caused the contest to be discontinued.

29. DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE at Charlotte, Mecklenburg county, North Carolina.—The elected committeemen of the county were notified to assemble in the court-house at Charlotte, which they accordingly did toward the close of May, 1775; the precise day is not known. A committee was appointed to prepare resolutions, which were adopted unanimously, viz.:

WHEREAS, by an address presented to his majesty by both houses of parliament, in February last, the American colonies are declared to be in a state of actual rebellion, we conceive that all laws and commissions confirmed by or derived from the authority of the king and parliament are annulled and vacated, and the former civil constitution of these colonies for the present wholly suspended. To provide in some degree for the exigencies of this county in the present alarming period, we deem it proper and necessary, to pass the following resolves, viz.:

1. That all commissions, civil and military, heretofore granted by the crown to be exercised in these colonies, are null and void, and the constitution of each particular colony wholly suspended.

2. That the provincial congress of each province, under the direction of the great continental congress, is invested with all legislative and executive powers within their respective provinces, and that no other legislative or executive power does or can exist at this time in any of these colonies.

3. As all former laws are now suspended in this province, and the congress has not yet provided others, we judge it necessary for the better preservation of good order, to form certain rules and regulations for the internal government of this county until laws shall be provided for us by the congress.

4. That the inhabitants of this county do meet on a certain day appointed by the committee, and, having formed themselves into nine companies (to wit, eight for the county, and one for the town), do choose a colonel and other military officers, who shall hold and exercise their several powers by virtue of the choice, and independent of the crown of Great Britain and former constitution of this province.

5. That for the better preservation of the peace and administration of justice, each of these companies do choose from their own body two discreet freeholders, who shall be empowered, each by himself, and singly, to decide and determine all matters of controversy arising within said company, under the sum of twenty shillings, and jointly and together all controversies under the sum of forty shillings, yet so as their decisions may admit of appeal to the convention of the selectmen of the county, and also that any one of these men shall have power to examine and commit to confinement persons accused of petty larceny.

6. That those two selectmen thus chosen do jointly and together choose from the body of their particular company two persons to act as constables, who may assist them in the execution of their office.

7. That upon the complaint of any persons to either of these selectmen, he do issue his warrant directed to the constable, commanding him to bring the aggressor before him to answer said complaint.

8. That these select eighteen selectmen thus appointed do meet every third Thursday in January, April, July, and October, at the court-house in Charlotte, to hear and determine all matters of controversy for sums exceeding forty shillings, also appeals; and in case of felony to commit the persons convicted thereof to close confinement until the provincial congress shall provide and establish laws and modes of proceeding in all such cases.

9. That these eighteen selectmen thus convened do choose a clerk to record the transactions of said convention, and that said clerk, upon the application of any person or persons aggrieved, do issue his warrant to any of the constables of the company to which the offender belongs, directing said constable to summon and warn said offender to appear before said convention at their next sitting, to answer the aforesaid complaint.

10. That any person making complaint, upon oath, to the clerk or any member of the convention, that he has reason to suspect that any person or persons indebted to him in a sum above forty shillings intend clandestinely to withdraw from the county without paying the debt, the clerk or such member shall issue his warrant to the constable, commanding him to take said person or persons into safe custody until the next sitting of the convention.

11. That when a debtor for a sum above forty shillings shall abscond and leave the county, the warrant granted as aforesaid shall extend to any goods or chattels of said debtor as may be found, and such goods or chattels be seized and held in custody by the constable for the space of thirty days, in which time, if the debtor fail to return and discharge the debt, the constable shall return the warrant to one of the selectmen of the company, when the goods are found, who shall issue orders to the constable to sell such a part of said goods as shall amount to the sum due.

That when the debt exceeds forty shillings, the return shall be made to the convention, who shall issue orders for sale.

12. That all receivers and collectors of quit-rents, public and county taxes, do pay the same into the hands of the chairman of this committee, to be by them disbursed as public exigencies may require, and that such receivers and collectors proceed no further in their office until they be approved of by, and have given this committee good and sufficient security for a faithful return of such moneys when collected.

13. That the committee be accountable to the county for the application of all moneys received from such public officers.

14. That all these officers hold their commissions during the pleasure of their several constituents.

15. That this committee will sustain all damages to all or any of their officers thus appointed and thus acting, on account of their obedience and conformity to these rules.

16. That whatever person shall hereafter receive a commission from the crown, or attempt to exercise any such commission heretofore received, shall be deemed an enemy to his country; and upon confirmation being made to the captain of the company in which he resides, the said company shall cause him to be apprehended and conveyed to two selectmen, who, upon proof of the fact, shall commit said offender to safe custody until the next sitting of the committee, who shall deal with him as prudence may direct.

17. That any person refusing to yield obedience to the above rules shall be considered equally criminal, and liable to the same punishment as the offenders above last mentioned.

18. That these resolves be in full force and virtue until instructions from the provincial congress regulating the jurisprudence of the province shall provide otherwise, or the legislative body of Great Britain resign its unjust and arbitrary pretensions with respect to America.

19. That the eight militia companies in this county provide themselves with proper arms and accouterments, and hold themselves in readiness to execute the commands and directions of the general congress of this province and this committee.

20. That the committee appoint Col. Thomas Polk and Dr. Joseph Kennedy to purchase three hundred pounds of powder, six hundred pounds of lead, and one thousand flints, for the use of the militia of this county, and deposit the same in such place as the committee may hereafter direct.

Signed by order of the committee.

EPHRAIM BREVARD,
Clerk of the Committee.

These resolutions were transmitted to the North Carolina delegates in the continental congress then in session at Philadelphia, and in August to the provincial congress of North Carolina at Hillsborough. The movement being premature may have been the reason that no action in regard thereto was taken in either congress.

30. SHAYS' REBELLION in Massachusetts in 1786 and 1787. The insurrection commenced before Shays became prominent; he afterwards was chosen leader. The principal complaints of the insurgents were that the governor's salary was too high, the senate aristocratic, the lawyers extortionate, and taxes too heavy; the issue of paper money, and the removal of the general court to Boston were demanded.

31. BERLIN DECREE.—The following is a copy:

IMPERIAL CAMP, BERLIN, November 21, 1806.

Napoleon, Emperor of the French and King of Italy, considering:

1. That England does not admit the rights of nations as universally acknowledged by all civilized people;

2. That she declares as an enemy every individual belonging to an enemy state, and, in consequence, makes prisoners of war not only of the crews of armed vessels, but those also of merchant vessels, and even the supercargoes of the same;

3. That she extends or applies to merchant vessels, to articles of commerce, and to the property of individuals the right of conquest, which can only be applied or extended to what belongs to an enemy state;

4. That she extends to ports not fortified, to harbors and mouths of rivers, the right of blockade, which, according to reason and the usages of civilized nations, is applicable only to strong or fortified ports;

5. That she declares places blockaded before which she has not a single vessel of war, although a place ought not to be considered blockaded but when it is so invested that no approach to it can be made without imminent hazard; that she declares even places blockaded which her united forces would be incapable of doing, such as entire coasts and a whole empire;

6. That this unequal abuse of the right of blockade has no other object than to interrupt the communication of different nations, and to extend the commerce and industry of England upon the ruin of those of the continent;

7. That this being the evident design of England, whoever deals on the continent in English merchandise favors that design, and becomes an accomplice.

8. That this conduct in England (worthy only of the first stages of barbarism), has benefited her to the detriment of other nations;

9. That it being right to oppose to an enemy the same arms she makes use of, to combat as she does when all ideas of justice and every liberal sentiment (the result of civilization among men) are disregarded;

We have resolved to enforce against England the usages which she has consecrated in her maritime code.

The present decree shall be considered the law of the empire until England shall acknowledge that the rights of war are the same on land as at sea; that they cannot be extended to any private property whatever, nor to persons who are not military, and until the right of blockading be restrained to fortified places actually invested by competent forces.

ARTICLE 1. The British Islands are in a state of blockade.

ART. 2. All commerce and correspondence with them is prohibited; consequently, all letters and packets written in England, or to an Englishman, written in the English language, shall not be dispatched from the post-offices, and shall be seized.

ART. 3. Every individual, a subject of Great Britain, of whatever rank or condition, who is found in countries occupied by our troops or those of our allies, shall be made prisoners of war.

ART. 4. Every warehouse, all merchandise or property whatever belonging to an Englishman, are declared good prize.

ART. 5. One half of the proceeds of merchandise declared to be good prize and forfeited, as in the preceding articles, shall go to indemnify merchants who have suffered losses by the English cruisers.

ART. 6. No vessel coming directly from England or her colonies, or having been there since the publication of this decree, shall be admitted into any port.

ART. 7. Every vessel that by a false declaration contravenes the foregoing disposition shall be seized, and the ship and cargo confiscated as English property.

ART. 8. (Provides for councils of prizes.)

ART. 9. Communications of this decree shall be made to the kings of Spain, Naples, Holland, Etruria, and to our other allies whose subjects as well as ours are victims of the injuries and barbarity of the English maritime code.

ART. 10. Our ministers of foreign relations, etc., are charged with the execution of the present decree. NAPOLEON.

32. BRITISH ORDERS IN COUNCIL of January 7, and November 17, 1807. These orders were of great length, and capable of different interpretations. All ports in Europe from which the British flag was excluded were declared blockaded, and trade therewith prohibited; and the right was claimed to seize and search all vessels bound for such ports. The principal interpretations of the orders as relating to the United States were as follows: All trade directly from the United States to any port or country of Europe at war with Great Britain, or from which the British flag was excluded, was totally prohibited. In the general prohibition, all parts of Europe were included, with the exception of Sardinia, and no distinction whatever was made between the domestic produce of the United States and that of the colonies re-exported from thence.

The trade of the United States to the colonies of all nations remained unaltered by the last orders. The United States might export the produce of her own country, but that of no other, directly to Sweden.

With the above exceptions, all articles, whether of domestic or colonial produce, exported by the United States to Europe were required to be landed in England, from whence it was intended to permit their re-exportation under such regulations as might thereafter be determined.

By these regulations it was claimed that duties were to be imposed on all articles so re-exported; but it was intimated that an exception would be made in favor of such as were the produce of the United States, cotton excepted.

Any vessel, the cargo of which should be accompanied with certificates of French consuls abroad of its origin, was declared, with the cargo, liable to seizure and confiscation.

33. MILAN DECREE issued by Napoleon, December 17, 1807, extended and made more vigorous that issued at Berlin, November 21, 1806. It declared every vessel which should submit to be searched by British cruisers, or should pay any tax, duty, or license-money to the British government, or should be found on the high seas, or elsewhere, bound to or from any British port, denationalized and forfeit.

34. BAYONNE DECREE issued by Napoleon, April 17, 1808, ordered the seizure and confiscation of all United States vessels in France, or which might arrive.

35. RAMBOUILLET DECREE issued by Napoleon, March 23, 1810, declared that "all American vessels which should enter French ports, or ports occupied by French troops, should be seized and sequestered." The immediate effect of this decree was the seizure and sale of 132 United States vessels.

36. FLORIDA.—Congress, in secret session, passed acts, January 15 and March 3, 1811, authorizing the president to take possession of Florida in case of attempted occupation by any foreign government.

37. DORR'S REBELLION in Rhode Island, in the year 1842. Previous to November 5, 1842, the Rhode Island government was based on the charter granted July 8, 1663. The elective franchise was limited to the holders of a certain amount of real estate, and to their eldest sons, which included about one third of the citizens. Thomas Wilson Dorr, during his membership of the assembly, advocated the adoption of a liberal constitution. His party was known as the suffrage party, the opposing, as the charter party. The suffrage party, in 1841, chose Dorr governor; and on May 3, 1842, they endeavored to establish their government at Providence. After their defeat at Chepachet, Dorr fled to Connecticut, and a reward of $4,000 was offered for his apprehension. He returned, was tried for treason, convicted, and sentenced to state's prison for life. In 1847 he was pardoned, and in 1853 the legislature restored all his civil rights. A constitution was adopted by the state November 5, 1842.

38. OSTEND MANIFESTO.—President Pierce requested Pierre Soulé, minister to Spain, James Buchanan, minister to Great Britain, and John Y. Mason, minister to France, to hold a conference regarding Cuba. Accordingly they met at Ostend, Belgium, and afterward adjourned to Aix-la-Chapelle. A memorandum was drawn up, generally designated the Ostend Manifesto, which was issued October 21, 1854. Therein they asserted the great importance of Cuba to the United States; that great advantages would result to Spain from its sale; that Spain would meet with great difficulties in attempts to control it by mere military power; that the sympathy of the people of the United States was with the inhabitants of Cuba; that they, the ministers, believed the probable future condition of the island under Spanish rule might act perniciously on the slave population of the southern states; and in such case they held the instinct of self-preservation might call for the armed intervention of the United States, and that we might be justified in wresting the island by force from Spain.

39. EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION, by President Lincoln. The preliminary proclamation was made September 22, 1862; and the definite proclamation January 1, 1863, as follows:

WHEREAS, on the 22d day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, a proclamation was issued by the president of the United States, containing among other things the following, to wit:

"That on the first day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, all persons held as slaves within any state or designated part of a state, the people whereof shall then be in rebellion against the United States, shall be then, thenceforward, and forever free; and the executive government of the United States, including the military and naval authority thereof, will recognize and maintain the freedom of such persons, and will do no act or acts to repress such persons, or any of them, in any efforts they may make for their actual freedom.

"That the executive will, on the first day of January aforesaid, by proclamation, designate the states and parts of states, if any, in which the people thereof, respectively, shall then be in rebellion against the United States; and the fact that any state, or the people thereof, shall on that day be in good faith represented in the congress of the United States, by members chosen thereto at elections wherein a majority of the qualified voters of such state shall have participated, shall in the absence of strong countervailing testimony, be deemed conclusive evidence that such state, and the people thereof, are not then in rebellion against the United States."

Now, therefore, I, Abraham Lincoln, president of the United States, by virtue of the power in me vested as commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States in time of actual armed rebellion against the authority and government of the United States, and as a fit and necessary war measure for suppressing said rebellion, do, on this first day of January in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and in accordance with my purpose so to do, publicly proclaimed for the full period of one hundred days from the day first above mentioned, order and designate, as the states and parts of states wherein the people thereof, respectively, are this day in rebellion against the United States, the following, to wit:

Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana (except the parishes of St. Bernard, Plaquemines, Jefferson, St. John, St. Charles, St. James, Ascension, Assumption, Terre Bonne, Lafourche, Ste. Marie, St. Martin, and Orleans, including the city of New Orleans), Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, and Virginia (except the forty-eight counties designated as West Virginia, and also the counties of Berkeley, Accomac, Northampton, Elizabeth City, York, Princess Anne, and Norfolk, including the cities of Norfolk and Portsmouth) and which excepted parts are, for the present, left precisely as if this proclamation were not issued.

And by virtue of the power and for the purpose aforesaid, I do order and declare that all persons held as slaves within said designated states and parts of states are and henceforward shall be free; and that the executive government of the United States, including the military and naval authorities thereof, will recognize and maintain the freedom of said persons.

And I hereby enjoin upon the people so declared to be free to abstain from all violence, unless in necessary self defence; and I recommend to them that, in all cases when allowed, they labor faithfully for reasonable wages.

And I further declare and make known that such persons, of suitable condition, will be received into the armed service of the United States, to garrison forts, positions, stations, and other places, and to man vessels of all sorts in said service.

And upon this act, sincerely believed to be an act of justice, warranted by the constitution, upon military necessity, I invoke the considerate judgment of mankind, and the gracious favor of Almighty God.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my name, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this first day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and of the independence of the United States the eighty-seventh.

By the President. ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

WILLIAM H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

40. LIEUTENANT-GENERAL GRANT was appointed March 10, 1864, to the chief command of the armies of the United States. General Halleck was relieved of that command at his own request, and assigned as chief of staff of the army. General Sherman was appointed to succeed General Grant in the command of the military division of the Mississippi, then composed of the departments of the Ohio, Cumberland, Tennessee, and Arkansas.

41. BASIS OF AGREEMENT between Generals Sherman and Johnston, April 18, 1865:

1. The contending armies now in the field to maintain the status quo until notice is given by the commanding general of any one to his opponent, and reasonable time, say forty-eight hours, allowed.

2. The confederate armies now in existence to be disbanded and conducted to their several state capitals, there to deposit their arms and public property in the state arsenal, and each officer and man to execute and file an agreement to cease from acts of war, and to abide the action of both state and federal authorities. The number of arms and munitions of war to be reported to the chief of ordnance at Washington City, subject to the future action of the congress of the United States, and in the mean time to be used solely to maintain peace and order within the borders of the states respectively.

3. The recognition, by the executive of the United States, of the several state governments, on their officers and legislators taking the oath prescribed by the constitution of the United States; and where conflicting state governments have resulted from the war, the legitimacy of all shall be submitted to the supreme court of the United States.

4. The re-establishment of the federal courts in the several states, with powers as defined by the constitution and laws of congress.

5. The people and the inhabitants of all states to be guaranteed, so far as the executive can, their political rights and franchises, as well as their rights of person and property, as defined by the constitution of the United States and of the states respectively.

6. The executive authority or government of the United States not to disturb any of the people by reason of the late war, so long as they live in peace and quiet, and abstain from acts of armed hostility, and obey the laws in existence at the place of their residence.

7. In general terms it is announced that the war is to cease; a general amnesty, so far as the executive of the United States can command, on condition of the disbandment of the confederate armies, the distribution of arms, and the resumption of peaceful pursuits by officers and men hitherto composing said armies.

Not being fully empowered by our respective principals to fulfill these terms, we individually and officially pledge ourselves to promptly obtain authority, and will endeavor to carry out the above program.

The above was signed by Sherman and Johnston; and was drawn up, it is said, by Breckinridge.

PROHIBITION IN POLITICS.

Maine, 1846, passed the first prohibitory liquor law. It was repealed in 1856, was re-enacted in 1858, and is now in force.

Delaware, 1847, passed a prohibitory law which was pronounced unconstitutional in 1848.

New Hampshire. In 1849, a prohibitory law was submitted to the people and adopted by them by a three-fourths vote. Another law was passed in 1855. In 1889 a prohibition amendment was defeated by a large majority.

MICHIGAN, 1850, incorporated in her state constitution a prohibition of the granting of licenses to sell liquors. In 1853 she adopted a prohibitory law which was declared unconstitutional in 1854, re-enacted in 1855, and repealed in 1875. She defeated a prohibition amendment in 1889.

OHIO, 1851, adopted a constitutional provision similar to that in Michigan. A law restricting the sale of liquor in some respects was passed in 1854. The "Smith Sunday law" was enacted in 1882, the "Pond tax law" the same year, and the "Scott tax law" in 1883. The supreme court of the state pronounced the last two unconstitutional.

MINNESOTA, 1852, passed a prohibitory law which was modified by subsequent laws, and a high license law was passed in 1887.

RHODE ISLAND, 1852, passed a prohibitory law which was declared unconstitutional in 1853. It was amended in 1853 and ratified by the people. Another law was passed in 1874 and repealed in 1875. A more stringent law was passed in 1887 and repealed in 1889.

MASSACHUSETTS, 1852, passed a law which was declared unconstitutional in 1853. A new law was passed in 1855, repealed in 1868, restored in 1869, modified in 1870, made more stringent in 1871. In 1873 its "beer clause" was repealed, and in 1875 license substituted. The law has been variously modified since, leaving local option as the provision under which half the towns in Massachusetts now have prohibition. A prohibition amendment was voted upon in 1889 and defeated.

VERMONT, 1852, passed a law which has continued in force to the present time.

NEW YORK, 1853, the legislature passed a prohibitory law which was vetoed by Governor Seymour. The law was re-passed in 1855 and declared unconstitutional in 1856.

CONNECTICUT, 1854, passed a law which was repealed in 1872. She voted on a prohibition amendment in 1889, which was defeated by a large majority.

INDIANA, 1855, passed a prohibitory law, but the supreme court of the state was equally divided as to its constitutionality, and it became a dead letter.

IOWA, 1855, passed a law which was modified and became a dead letter. The question of prohibition was submitted to the people in 1882, and it was carried by a majority of 29,759. A strong law was enacted in 1884 and is now on the statute books.

NEBRASKA, 1855, passed a law which was practically repealed in 1880.

ILLINOIS. In 1855, the legislature passed a law which was voted down by the people. The Harper high license law, passed in 1883, is now in force.

KANSAS, 1866, passed a law which was replaced by a constitutional amendment in 1880. A law to enforce the amendment was passed in 1887. It was declared constitutional by the United States supreme court, December 7, 1887.

PENNSYLVANIA passed a high license law in 1887, and defeated a prohibition amendment by a large majority in 1889.

NORTH DAKOTA and SOUTH DAKOTA in 1889 adopted prohibition articles in their state constitutions, while WASHINGTON rejected prohibition.

Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, and Minnesota have since 1870 passed local option laws, and most of the states of the Union have adopted laws restricting the sale of spirituous liquors on Sundays and prohibited their sale to minors.

During 1887, prohibition amendments were defeated by a small majority in Michigan, and by large majorities in Oregon, Tennessee, and Texas.

The states of Maine, Iowa, Kansas, North Dakota, and South Dakota are the only ones now living under constitutional prohibition.

HISTORICAL COINCIDENCES.

Presidents.

John Adams was 8 years older than his successor, Thomas Jefferson, he 8 years older than James Madison, he 8 years older than James Monroe, and he 8 years older than John Q. Adams. George Washington ended his presidential term in the 66th year of his age, and so did John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, James Madison, and James Monroe. Thomas Jefferson and John Adams both died on the same day, July 4th, 1826, just fifty years from the declaration of independence. James Monroe died July 4, 1831. It is said that all the presidents had blue eyes, except Wm. H. Harrison.

CHINESE IMMIGRATION TO THE UNITED STATES.

Unrestricted Chinese immigration to the United States prior to 1882 was attended by so many evils that an act to execute certain treaty stipulations relating to the Chinese was passed by congress and approved May 6, 1882. It had many defects, however, and failed to reach the end desired. Statistical customs returns mark the arrival of 39,579 Mongolians in 1882, and only 8,021 in 1883 and 4,324 in 1884. As a fact, fully as many entered the country (evasively) in 1883 as in 1882. New-comers were provided with bogus return certificates to which they were not legally entitled. Accordingly sufficient influence was exerted in 1884 to procure some material amendment to the restriction act which had failed to restrict. In 1885 the customs returns show only 22 arrivals. The act was passed to exclude Chinese laborers. Those registered by customs officials in 1885–6–7 were merchants, diplomats and suites, or travelers permitted to land without certificates. Still the law was evaded, and subterfuges were employed to secure the entry of laborers and females intended for servile or immoral purposes. In California, the gate through which the entrance of this uncongenial foreignism is made, the query with many citizens was, "How shall the people of the eastern states be intelligently awakened to the national importance of the Chinese question?"

The Chinese opium and gambling habits, with the institution of slave prostitution, are denounced as likely to take root in this country. Antagonism to Chinese immigration is more energetic in San Francisco than elsewhere for excellent reasons, and on December 14, 1887, Wong Ah Hung, the Chinese importer of female slaves, was sentenced to pay a fine of $2,000 and serve a term of ten years in the penitentiary. There were in 1887, in San Francisco, 800 wives of merchants and laundrymen, and 350 degraded females. Between July 20, 1885, and October 31, 1887, 285 Chinese women landed in the city, 60 of whom were sent back to China. The following is the San Francisco collector's report of the Chinese certificates issued from the 1st to the 30th of November, 1887: 2,238, which were obtained by laborers, 2,163 of whom returned to Hong-Kong on 3 vessels, 34 who went to Panama on 3 vessels, 26 who departed for Honolulu on 4 ships, 13 who left for Mexico on 2 vessels, and 2 who sailed to Liverpool on the Servia; 40 merchants went to Hong-Kong during the month. There were 1,018 laborers' certificates on hand November 1, and 1,500 more were received, making a total of 2,518, from which 2,238 were issued and 2 canceled, leaving but 278 certificates on hand. A tax of $50 per capita is levied on all Chinese entering British Columbia. Prohibited by law from landing in this country, they are freely received in British Columbia, whence it is easy to gain access to the United States. Awakened at last to the facts of the case, and to the necessity of immediate action, the government submitted a treaty to China embracing total exclusion. The delay of China in replying caused the formation of a Total Exclusion Act, which has been in force since October 1, 1888.

The United States Congress first met at New York, N. Y., March 4, 1789; next at Philadelphia, Penn., Dec. 6, 1790; and then at Washington, D. C., Nov. 17, 1800. and continuously since then, with dates as follows:

*Eleven states did not vote, viz: Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, and Virginia.

† Three states did not vote, viz: Mississippi, Texas, and Virginia.

‡ Three electoral votes of Georgia cast for Horace Greeley, and the votes of Arkansas, 6, and Louisiana, 8, cast for U. S. Grant, were rejected. If all had been included in the count the electoral vote would have been 300 for U. S. Grant, and 66 for opposing candidates.

†Members of the legislature are elected annually.

‡County officers are elected annually.

§Since the adoption of the present constitution of Ohio, in 1852, but one legislature has failed to hold an adjourned session in the year following the regular session, so, virtually, the legislature of Ohio has annual sessions.

Navy officers are retired at 62 years of age, or (in certain grades) after forty years' service. Retired officers receive 75 per cent of the pay they had received during active service.

Rear Admiral Chandler, formerly commanding the Asiatic squadron, died at Hong-Kong, China, February 10, 1889, of apoplexy.

Rear Admiral Stephen B. Luce was retired March, 1889.

CABINET DEPARTMENTS.

Secretary of State.— This department was established July 27, 1789, and was then denominated the department of foreign affairs, and the principal officer, the secretary of foreign affairs. By act of September 15, 1789, it was denominated the department of state, and the principal officer the secretary of state. The term plainly denotes the duties of the officer.

Foreign ministers are connected with this department and rank as follows: Ambassadors; envoys extraordinary and ministers plenipotentiary; ministers resident; diplomatic ministers; consuls-general, consuls, and vice-consuls.

Secretary of the Treasury.— This department was established September 2, 1789, to which are assigned the revenues and finances. There are two assistant secretaries.

The bureaus of the department are as follows: First comptroller; second comptroller; first auditor; second auditor; third auditor; fourth auditor; fifth auditor; sixth auditor; treasurer; commissioner of the customs; comptroller of the currency; commissioner of internal revenue; statistics; register of the treasury, and architect.

Under the general direction and control of this department are: Collectors of customs; naval officers and surveyors; weighers, measurers, and guagers; revenue marine corps; lighthouse board; coast survey; mint and coinage; and weights and measures.

SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR. — This department was established March 3, 1849. There is an assistant secretary.

The bureaus of this department are as follows: General land office; patent office; Indian office; pension office; census office; slave trade tribunals, and education.

The patent office was formerly attached to the state department; the general land office to the treasury department; and the Indian and pension offices to the war department.

SECRETARY OF WAR. — This department was established August 7, 1789.

The bureaus of the department are as follows: Adjutant-general's office; quartermaster-general's office; commissary-general's office; paymaster-general's office; surgeon-general's office; engineer's office; ordnance office, and military justice.

The judge-advocate-general has rank, pay, and emoluments of a brigadier-general; judge-advocate those of a major, the provost marshal general those of a colonel, and provost marshals those of a captain of cavalry.

The prescribed duties of the officers of the army are as given below. They rank as follows:

General. — The details of his duties are not prescribed. He is next to the president.

Lieutenant-General. — His duties are such as may be prescribed by the president by general regulations or special orders.

Major-General. — His command is a division consisting of two brigades; but he often commands an army corps, which consists of many divisions or brigades.

Brigadier-General. — His command is a brigade consisting of two regiments.

Colonel. — His command is a regiment of eight companies.

Lieutenant-Colonel. — His duties are principally of an executive character, under direction of the colonel.

Major. — His duty is to assist the colonel; he sometimes commands a separate battalion, or half of an ordinary regiment.

Captain. — His command is a company varying from fifty to one hundred privates.

Lieutenants. — Their duties are such as their superior directs.

SECRETARY OF THE NAVY. — This department was established April 30, 1798.

The bureaus of this department are as follows: Yards and docks; equipment and recruiting; navigation; ordnance; construction and repair; steam engineering; provision and clothing, and medicine and surgery.

The ships of the navy are divided into four classes: first rate, second rate, third rate, and fourth rate.

The officers of the navy rank as follows:

Admiral. — During action he directs the operation of a whole fleet or squadron.

Vice-Admiral. — He is second in rank and command.

Rear Admirals. — They command squadrons as separate commands, or as an assistant to the admiral.

Commodores. — They may be assigned to command a single vessel or a squadron. They command a "first rate" ship.

Captains. — They command a "second rate" ship.

Commanders. — They command a "third rate" ship.

Lieutenant Commanders. — They command a "fourth rate" ship.

Lieutenants. — When commanding a vessel their duties are like officers of a higher grade. When on vessels with superior officers on board they perform subordinate duties, as required by regulations.

Masters. — Duties similar to those of lieutenants.

Ensigns. — Duties similar to those of masters.

Cadet Midshipmen constitute the 9th grade.

POSTMASTER-GENERAL. — This department was established September 22, 1789. There are three assistant postmasters-general. He appoints all postmasters whose emoluments do not exceed one thousand dollars. Those receiving above that sum are appointed by the president.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL.— An act of 1789 required the appointment of an attorney-general. By act of June 22, 1870, the department of justice was established, with the attorney-general at its head.

The principal officers under the attorney-general are two assistant attorneys-general; solicitor-general; solicitor of internal revenue; solicitor of the treasury; assistant solicitor of the treasury, and examiner of claims.

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE. — This department was established February, 1889. There is an assistant secretary. The bureaus of the department are as follows: Experiment stations, animal industry, division of statistics, entomology, chemistry, botany, pomology, ornithology and mammalogy, microscopy, forestry, seed division, silk section, and gardens and grounds.

"SPEAKER."— When this term originated it was the custom for the chief executive to deliver orally to the legislature such communication as he desired at the commencement of a session. The house so addressed responded to the communication. The presiding officer headed a procession of members of the house, waited upon the executive, and read the response, thus speaking for the whole body; therefrom originated the term speaker. Thomas Jefferson determined that his communications to congress should be made by written message, and that no answer would be expected. This led to a general change in this regard in all American legislative bodies.

W. A. LOYNE.

"I shall pass through this world but once. Any good thing, therefore, that I can do, or any kindness that I can show to any human being, let me do it now. Let me not defer it or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again."

PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION.

PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION BILL, passed at the first session of the forty-ninth congress, reads as follows: CHAPTER IV.—In case of removal, death, resignation, or inability of both the president and vice-president, a member of the cabinet shall in the following order, act as president until the disability is removed or a president elected: The secretary of state, secretary of the treasury, secretary of war, attorney-general, postmaster-general, secretary of the navy, secretary of the interior; provided, that whenever the powers and duties of the office of president of the United States shall devolve upon any of the persons named herein, if congress be not then in session, or if it would not meet in accordance with law within twenty days thereafter, it shall be the duty of the person upon whom said powers and duties shall devolve to issue a proclamation convening congress in extraordinary session, giving twenty days' notice of the time of meeting.—[Approved January 19, 1886.

OF OFFICIAL SUCCESSION.
1680 DOWN TO 1891.

HISTORICAL SUMMARY.

Latitude north, 40 degrees, 41 minutes, and 45 degrees, 11 minutes; longitude west 70 degrees, 40 minutes, and 72 degrees, 28 minutes.

Length, north and south, 168 miles; width, east and west, 20 to 90 miles. Area, 9,280 square miles.

In 1622, Mason and Gorges jointly had a grant of the land from the Merrimack river to the Kennebec river, and in 1623 the first settlements were commenced at Portsmouth and at Dover. In 1629 the grant was divided, and a separate grant was made to Mason of that part west of the Piscataqua river, called New Hampshire, and to Gorges of the part east of the Piscataaqu, called Maine. In 1641, Massachusetts extended her jurisdiction over New Hampshire, and maintained her authority there until 1679, when, the case being brought before the highest court of appeal in England on provincial matters, it was decided that the claim of Massachusetts was illegal, and New Hampshire was constituted a separate province. In 1686, the charter of Massachusetts having been annulled, New Hampshire, Maine, Massachusetts and Narragansett were united in one royal province under President Dudley, and afterwards under Governor Andros. In 1689, upon news of the revolution in England, the government of Andros was overturned, and Massachusetts assumed her old charter. Some of the people of New Hampshire petitioned Massachusetts to be received under her government and protection till orders should come from England, to which Massachusetts assented, and exercised a merely nominal authority there. In 1692 the province of New Hampshire was re-established, and ever after remained a separate province. In some cases, the same person was governor of New Hampshire and Massachusetts, but the governments were not connected. The legislatures, laws, courts, and officers, civil and military, were entirely distinct. The line between the provinces remained in dispute untill 1741, when it was finally settled as it now remains.

SUCCESSION OF GOVERNORS.

PROVINCIAL GOVERNORS.

John Cutt, president	1680–1681
Richard Waldron, president	1681–1682

John Wentworth, governor	1767–1775

The lieutenant-governors after 1741 are not known to have acted as chief magistrates, the governors being residents of the province. Before that, when the governor was resident in Massachusetts, the lieutenant-governors claimed to be chief magistrates, and often acted as such when the governor was out of the province.

In May, 1775, the royal governor withdrew, and the province was governed by a convention of which Matthew Thornton was president; and in January, 1776, a temporary constitution was adopted, under which Meshech Weare was unanimously elected president of the council, and chairman of the committee of safety, till June, 1784.

COMPLETE LIST OF THE TWELVE SENATORS, ANNUALLY.— 1784—1878.

The then five counties were made the senatorial districts: Rockingham to send 5; Strafford, Hillsborough, and Cheshire, 2 each; Grafton, 1. Whole number, 12.

The names of senators are arranged in order of above-named counties which they represented, to 1793; subsequently, in order of districts.

The annual election took place in March, and the session of the legislature commenced the first Wednesday in June following, forming the political year from June to June.

For presidents of the senate, see page 127.

GUBERNATORIAL VOTE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.—1784 TO 1890.

Meshech Weare was probably unanimously elected, as no vote is recorded. The chief magistrates were called "president" from 1784 to 1793. Then the term "governor" was substituted.

1785.

Party distinctions did not probably exist at this time. Subsequently, the terms federalist and republican designated party divisions, and the leading candidates voted for are classed by their after party affiliations.

About this time, the federal party having ceased to exist, the contending political interests rallied about individual men, and though not differing materially in principle, espoused the cause of Jackson or Adams, contestants for the presidential chair. They were recognized as Jackson men, or Adams men, and these political contests became even more intensely bitter than where party lines had been drawn.

NEW HAMPSHIRE SENATORS.

The following table of senators of the United States, from the first congress to the close of the fifty-first congress, has been carefully compiled from the records of the senate of the United States of America, expressly for the Manual of New Hampshire Official Successions, by Hosea B. Carter, actuary, in the office of secretary of state, Concord.

NOTE. — Under article 1, section 3, clause 2, of the constitution of the United States, relating to the classification of senators in the first and succeeding congresses, it was provided that, "Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one third may be chosen every second year." The classification of the senators of the first congress was made in accordance with this provision by lot. The following table shows the classes to which the senators of the first congress were assigned, and the succession to the close of the fifty-first congress.

JOHN A. LOWELL & CO. BOSTON.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF TOWNS.

EDITOR'S NOTICE.

The alphabetical list of towns, with the county in which situated and brief historiette of each, stating the date of original grant, regrant, and incorporation, etc., together with date of changes in and establishment of their boundary lines, also the former names by which the towns of to-day have been known or called, with occasional bits of peculiar memoranda found among the records on file in the office of the secretary of state, are respectfully submitted herewith upon the following pages.

The town clerks, treasurers, selectmen, and school boards elected in March, 1890, and supervisors elected November 4, 1890, are also added, with their political inclinations indicated.

HOSEA B. CARTER.

CONCORD, December 31, 1890.

TOWN ORGANIZATION.

Corrected to December 31, 1890.

ACWORTH, Sullivan Co.—Granted as Burnet to Col. Sampson Stoddard of Chelmsford, Mass., Dec. 28, 1752; regranted Sept. 19, 1776, as Ackworth, and again as Acworth, May 30, 1772. Settled in 1767 by three young men from Connecticut,—Joseph Chatterson, William Keyes, and Samuel Smith.

1890–91, Town Clerk and Treasurer, Hiram N. Haywood, r.

LANDAFF, Grafton Co. — Granted Jan. 31, 1764, and regranted Jan. 19, 1770; incorporated Nov. 11, 1774. Dartmouth College compensation grant issued Feb. 5, 1789. Tract from Lincoln annexed July 2, 1845; northerly portion of Landaff annexed to Lisbon June 23, 1859; the east part of town set off and incorporated as the town of Easton, July 20, 1876.

Town Clerk, Henry H. Noyes, d; Treasurer, Samuel A. Eaton, d.

LANGDON, Sullivan Co. — Incorporated Jan. 11, 1787, from portions of Charlestown and Walpole. Settled by Seth Walker in 1773. The town refused by vote to accept the extension of its limits to the Connecticut river. (The town of Charlestown had given its consent to the annexation of the tract between Langdon and the river.)

Town Clerk, Henry Prentiss, r; Treasurer, LeanderG. Hill, r.

LEBANON, Grafton Co. — Granted July 4, 1761, and was the first town settled on Connecticut river north of Charlestown. Lebanon was one of the towns that attempted to unite with Vermont, and was represented in the convention at Cornish April 5, 1781, by Col. Elisha Payne and Elihu Hyde.

Town Clerk and Treasurer, Charles A. Downs, r.

LEE, Strafford Co. — The township was set off from Durham Jan. 16, 1766, and incorporated with full town privileges by the name of "Parish of Lee." A dispute arose concerning the south boundary line of Lee and Durham, which was settled by act approved June 19, 1818, establishing the line.

Town Clerk, D. E. Plummer, d; Treasurer, Samuel W. Lane, d.

LEMPSTER, Sullivan Co. — Granted Jan. 1, 1753; regranted Oct. 5, 1761, and again granted Jan. 5, 1767. The northeast part of the town set off, and with portions of Fishersfield (Newbury), Newport, Unity, and Wendell (Sunapee), incorporated as Goshen Dec. 27, 1791; jurisdictional line between Lempster and Washington established Nov. 27, 1812.

Town Clerk, Arthur W. Welch, r; Treasurer, Lewis B. Allen, d.

LINCOLN, Grafton Co. — Granted Jan. 31, 1764; settlement was not begun until after the Revolutionary War; in 1791 it had only 22 inhabitants. The famous Flume and the Flume House are located here; the township is extremely mountainous; little farming is done, the chief occupation and principal source of revenue of the inhabitants being the care of summer tourists.

Town Clerk, S. M. Hanson, d; Treasurer, Seth R. Elliott, d.

LISBON, Grafton Co. — Granted Aug. 6, 1763, as Concord, and regranted Jan. 31, 1764, as Cheswick; again regranted Oct. 20, 1768, as Gunthwaite; a bitter controversy of titles followed, and the name of "Concord, in the county of Grafton," was adopted, which in turn was changed by the legislature June 14, 1824, to Lisbon. On June 23, 1859, all that part of Landaff northwest of Ammonoosuc river annexed.

Town Clerk, William M. Kelsea, r; Treasurer, A. A. Woolson, r.

LITCHFIELD, Hillsborough Co. — This town was part of the old Dunstable grant of Oct. 16, 1673, O. S. In 1732 all of said grant east of the Merrimack river was incorporated as Nottingham, which, in 1734, was divided and the north part incorporated as Litchfield June 5, 1749, Nottingham being thereafter designated as Nottingham West until changed to Hudson, July 1, 1830.

Town Clerk, Isaac N. Center, d; Treasurer, Norris C. Griffin, d.

LITTLETON, Grafton Co. — Granted Nov. 17, 1764, as Cheswick; regranted as Apthorp Jan. 18, 1770; north part set off and incorporated as Dalton Nov. 4, 1784, and the south portion incorporated as Littleton in honor of Moses Little, merchant, of Newburyport, Mass., and Moses Little, Jr., of Newbury, in the province of Massachusetts.

Town Clerk, H. H. Southworth, r; Treasurer, George A. Edson, d.

LIVERMORE, Grafton Co. — Incorporated (from sundry tracts of wild land, located in the northeasterly corner of Grafton county, which had been deemed too mountainous for either settlement or speculation) July 11, 1876. There was no election held in this town in 1890, owing to change in ownership of the lumber mills. George S. Payne, town clerk, will attend to town business.

Town Clerk, George S. Payne, r; Treasurer, Henry Belmont, r.

LONDONDERRY, Rockingham Co. — Granted June 21, 1722; town divided into two parishes Feb. 25, 1740; the southern portion of town incorporated as Windham, Feb. 25, 1742; the northwest part set off and incorporated as Derryfield, Sept. 3, 1751; a tract annexed to Windham, Sept. 26, 1777; another tract to same town, Nov. 26, 1778; also another tract, Dec. 25, 1805; portion annexed to Nottingham West, March 6, 1778; east half set off and incorporated as Derry, July 2, 1827.

Town Clerk, William H. Crowell, r; Treasurer, Frank A. Hardy, r.

LOUDON, Merrimack Co. — Set off from Canterbury and incorporated as the town of Loudon, Jan. 23, 1773; Rumford Gore annexed Jan. 2, 1784, said gore having been left to the town of Canterbury when Rumford was incorporated by the name of Concord.

Town Clerk, Alvah L. Morse, d; Treasurer, Rinoldo B. Foster, d.

LYMAN, Grafton Co. — Granted Nov. 10, 1761, to Daniel Lyman, and sixty-three others, eleven of whom bore the name of Lyman, which accounts for the town name; extension granted July 20, 1769; but few settlements made prior to the Revolution, there being but ten ratable polls in 1777. The part of the town west of Gardner's Mountain was set off and incorporated as Monroe, July 13, 1854.

LYME, Grafton Co. — Granted, July 8, 1761, to settlers from Connecticut, who named the town after Lyme in that state; grant extended 21st day of February, 1770. The town name was written "Lime" in the charter, and that erroneous orthography was perpetuated for many years, but it has been spelled Lyme for more than half a century.

Town Clerk and Treasurer, L. D. Warren, d.

LYNDEBOROUGH, Hillsborough Co. — Granted in 1690 to settlers from Salem, Mass., who were in the Canada expedition, and called "Salem-Canada"; regranted Dec. 5, 1753, to Benjamin Lynde, as Lyndeborough; portion of westerly section of town incorporated into the town of Greenfield, June 11, 1796; part of town annexed to Mont Vernon, Jan. 5, 1853, and part of Milford annexed June 27, 1873.

Town Clerk, Edgar A. Danforth, r; Treasurer, Levi P. Hadley, d.

MADBURY, Strafford Co. — Incorporated May 31, 1755, as a parish, and with full town privileges, May 20, 1768. The place was called Madbury some time prior to its erection into a parish, and an unsuccessful attempt was made to secure an incorporation as a parish of the territory now in this town and a portion of the town of Durham.

Town Clerk, Edward L. Young, r; Treasurer, Henry L. Felker.

MADISON, Carroll Co. — This town was created by an act approved Dec. 17, 1852, and was formed from that part of the town of Eaton, in the county of Carroll, formerly known as the McNeal and Martin Grants, together with the lands of various proprietors situated between Freedom and Albany, southwest from Conway.

Town Clerk, Augustus Lary, r; Treasurer, L. M. Atkinson, r.

MARLBOROUGH, Cheshire Co. — Granted May 20, 1752, as Monadnock No. 5, and was unofficially called New Marlborough prior to incorporation by its present name, Dec. 13, 1776; part of Swanzey annexed Jan. 8, 1794; a part of this town, with portions of Packersfield (Nelson) and Keene, incorporated as Roxbury, Dec. 9, 1812; a portion incorporated into Troy, June 23, 1815; part of Dublin annexed June 13, 1818; small tract from Swanzey annexed Dec. 15, 1842.

Town Clerk, Fred E. Adams, d; Treasurer, George G. Davis, r.

MARLOW, Cheshire Co. — Granted Oct. 7, 1761; extension granted Jan. 24, 1772; section of the town declared under the jurisdiction of the town of Stoddard by act of June 21, 1797. The grantees were from Connecticut, in the vicinity of Lyme and Colchester. Among the first settlers were Thomas and Samuel Gustin, Elisha and Solomon Mack, Jasper and Nathan Huntley, and Joseph Tubbs.

Town Clerk and Treasurer, Elbridge N. Howe, d.

MASON, Hillsborough Co. — Granted Nov. 1, 1749, and was called No. 1 until incorporated with its present name Aug. 26, 1768. The town voted, June 23, 1768, to be called Sharon, but Governor Wentworth, to please himself, named it Mason. June 28, 1872, the northwest part of the town was set off and incorporated as the town of Greenville.

Town Clerk, C. B. Goodwin, r; Treasurer, N. L. Barrett, d.

MEREDITH, Belknap Co. — Incorporated Dec. 30, 1768, by its present name, previous to which it was called New Salem, and included the village of Meredith Bridge, now the town of Laconia, which was set off and incorporated July 14, 1855; another portion annexed to Center Harbor July 3, 1873.

Town Clerk, Ira C. Boynton, d; Treasurer, William H. Moses, d.

MERRIMACK, Hillsborough Co. — Formerly Dunstable and Narragansett No. 5; was for years Souhegan East. "Old Dunstable" was divided April 1, 1746, and the southeast portion incorporated as Dunstable; southwest as Holles; northwest as Monson; and northeast as Merrimack; and an additional portion annexed June 1, 1750. Matthew Thornton, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, died here June 24, 1803.

Town Clerk, Edwin M. Parker, r; Treasurer, Charles S. Nesmith, d.

MIDDLETON, Strafford Co. — Granted March 21, 1770; incorporated March 4, 1778. In 1775 the inhabitants of the north part of this town and a portion of Wolfeborough attempted to get erected a separate town; but not until Dec. 30, 1794, was said north part of Middleton incorporated as Brookfield.

Town Clerk, D. E. D. Frost; Treasurer, Harilah Chesley, r.

MILAN, Coos Co. — Granted as Paulsbourg Dec. 31, 1771, to Sir William Mayne, Bart., Robert Mayne, George Gray, John Graham, Walter Kennedy, William Botts, Paul Wentworth, John Nelson, John Ward, Robert Graham, David Scrymgeour, Collin Mackenzie, Thomas Mayne, William Scrivns, the Hon. MONROE, Grafton Co. — Formerly a part of Lyman; set off and incorporated as Monroe July 13, 1854, the division line ranging with the summit of Gardner Mountain, a high elevation, which formed a natural barrier between the two localities, thus rendering division necessary.

Town Clerk and Treasurer, Edward Emery, r.

MONT VERNON, Hillsborough Co. — Incorporated from the northwest parish of Amherst Dec. 15, 1803; and on the 5th day of January, 1853, the northeasterly portion of the town of Lyndeborough was annexed to Mont Vernon.

Town Clerk, John M. Fox, d; Treasurer, Clark Campbell, d.

MOULTONBOROUGH, Carroll Co. — Granted Nov. 17, 1763, and an addition granted Jan. 24, 1765, of a tract called Moultonborough Gore. The town was incorporated Nov. 24, 1777; line between this town and Sandwich established Feb. 22, 1785; Long Island, in Lake Winnipesaukee, annexed Dec. 30, 1799.

Town Clerk, Leander Bryant, r; Treasurer, James E. French, r.

NELSON, Cheshire Co. — Original name of this town was "Monadnock No. 6." Incorporated as Packersfield Feb. 22, 1774. An unsuccessful attempt to change the town name to Sullivan was made in 1777. A tract with parts of Keene, Gilsum, and Stoddard, incorporated as Sullivan Sept. 27, 1787; part added to Roxbury Dec. 9, 1812; name changed to Nelson Oct. 1, 1814.

Town Clerk, Frank K. Jewett, r; Treasurer, Frederick Taylor, d.

NEW BOSTON, Hillsborough Co. — Granted March 20, 1735; first incorporated with Francestown June 8, 1772. Incorporated as New Boston Feb. 18, 1763; part of the town annexed to Goffstown June 18, 1836.

Town Clerk, Edmund P. Fox, r; Treasurer, Rodney McLane, r.

NEWBURY, Merrimack Co. — Township granted as Dantzick, afterwards Fishersfield, and name changed to Newbury July 4, 1837. The town was incorporated Nov. 27, 1778, and by provisions of the same act was changed from Cheshire county to Hillsborough, and became a part of Merrimack county upon its erection July 1, 1823.

Town Clerk and Treasurer, Sprague A. Morse, d.

NEWCASTLE, Rockingham Co. — Formerly "Great Island," settled in 1623. It was the seat of government for some years, and meetings of the governor and council were held here as late as 1718. Charter granted by Governor John Usher and his council May 30, 1693. Part of town annexed to Rye Dec. 22, 1791. Ancient Newcastle engaged extensively in fisheries, modern Newcastle in entertaining summer visitors.

SANBORNTON, Belknap Co.—Granted Dec. 31, 1748; incorporated March 1, 1770; the south part of the town, known as Sanbornton Bridge, set off and incorporated as Tilton June 30, 1869; part of Tilton annexed July 1, 1870, and a portion of Sanbornton annexed to Tilton July 3, 1872.

Town Clerk, George B. Lane, r; Treasurer, Joshua Lane, r.

SANDOWN, Rockingham Co.—Formerly known as the west end of Kingston. The petition for incorporation as a separate town was not acted upon for several sessions after presented, for the reason that petitioners could not agree upon a name for the town. After sending down repeatedly for advice, it was finally incorporated as Sandown April 6, 1756.

Town Clerk, Amos S. Clark, d; Treasurer, Alva S. Sanborn, d.

SANDWICH, Carroll Co.—This township granted Oct. 25, 1763; additional tract granted Sept. 5, 1764, and was called Sandwich Addition; boundary lines between this town, Tamworth, and Moultonborough established Feb. 22, 1785, and those between Sandwich, Tamworth, Eaton, and Burton (Albany), Dec. 23, 1808.

Town Clerk, Elmer B. Hart, d; Treasurer, William G. Gannett, r.

SEABROOK, Rockingham Co.—Formerly a part of Hampton and a part of Hampton Falls when the town was established; incorporated as Seabrook June 3, 1768, and a portion of Hampton Falls annexed Dec. 7, 1816. By act of June 26, 1822, establishing boundary line of this town, a tract of South Hampton was declared to be within the jurisdiction of Seabrook.

Town Clerk, William T. Buswill, r; Treasurer, Robert Collins, r.

SHARON, Hillsborough Co.—Formerly "Peterborough Slip,"— on May 27, 1777, petitioned the general court for incorporation, but was not so incorporated until Jan. 24, 1791. The entire town annexed to Peterborough July 5, 1867, to take effect "whenever a majority of the legal voters of each of said towns shall adopt the same," and yet Sharon continues a separate town Dec. 31, 1890.

Town Clerk and Treasurer, B. H. Sanders, r.

SHELBURNE, Coos Co.—Granted May 3, 1769; addition granted Nov. 21, 1770, and was called Shelburne Addition until it was incorporated as a town by the name of Gorham June 18, 1836. The original grant was incorporated by the name of Shelburne Dec. 13, 1820. First settlers came here in 1775, yet the town had only thirty-five inhabitants in 1790.

Town Clerk, Horace G. Green, r; Treasurer, V. C. Green, r.

SOMERSWORTH, Strafford Co.—Set off from Dover Dec. 19, 1729; incorporated April 22, 1754. A manufacturing company on Salmon Falls river was incorporated in 1761, probably the first in New Hampshire. By act of July 3, 1849, the town was divided and the south half incorporated as Rollinsford. The post-office address of Somersworth is Great Falls.

Town Clerk, Arthur J. Seavey, d; Treasurer, Franklin N. Chase, d.

SOUTH HAMPTON, Rockingham Co. — Incorporated May 25, 1742, from parts of Amesbury and Salisbury, Mass., having been severed from said towns by the establishment of the Province Line in 1741. The east end of this town was annexed to Hampton Falls, Dec. 4, 1742, a part annexed to Newtown, March 22, 1749, and line between the two towns established Jan. 4, 1772; part of East Kingston annexed Nov. 30, 1824.

Town Clerk, Frederick B. French, d; Treasurer, Frank M. Jewell, r.

SOUTH NEWMARKET, Rockingham Co. — This township constituted a part of Exeter until Dec. 15, 1727, when it became part of Newmarket, and so remained until June 27, 1849, when it was incorporated as a town, named South Newmarket. It was called Lamprey River Village, and written Lamprey Eel, also Lampræ; afterwards it was called Newfields.

Town Clerk, H. Jenness Paul, r; Treasurer, George W. Pollard, r.

SPRINGFIELD, Sullivan Co. — Township granted Jan. 3, 1769, to John Fisher, and others, of Portsmouth, and was called Protectworth, by which name it was known until Jan. 23, 1794, when it was incorporated as Springfield; a tract of land between this town and Enfield, known as Heath's Gore, annexed June 20, 1817.

Town Clerk, M. M. Wiggins, r; Treasurer, D. P. Goodhue, d.

STARK, Coos Co. — Granted as Percy Aug. 3, 1774; incorporated Jan. 9, 1795, as Piercy. Part of Stratford annexed June 21, 1832, and Oct. 21, 1832, the Winslow grant of five thousand sixty acres annexed. Name changed to Stark, Dec. 28, 1832. Tract annexed to Lancaster, Dec. 4, 1840, and another part annexed to Dummer July 1, 1868.

Town Clerk, Levi F. Hervey, r; Treasurer, Seth Cole, d.

STEWARTSTOWN, Coos Co. — Granted Dec. 1, 1770, to John Stuart and others, and named Stuart Town, and so incorporated Dec. 22, 1795, but doubts arising as to the legality of some of the proceedings, it was again incorporated Dec. 24, 1799, and named Stewartstown. A fort was built here during the war of 1812-15.

Town Clerk, William F. Allen, t; Treasurer, Lyman O. Shurtleff, d.

STODDARD, Cheshire Co. — Granted as Monadnock No. 7, and known for years as Limerick; incorporated Nov. 4, 1774, and on Sept. 27, 1787, a part of Stoddard, with portions of Gilsum, Keene, and Nelson, incorporated as Sullivan. Marlow and Stoddard boundary lines established June 16, 1797; portion of town annexed to Nelson June 25, 1835.

STRAFFORD, Strafford Co. — This town was set off from Barrington, June 17, 1820, the northern half being incorporated into the town of Strafford. As the editor finds no record of changes in the boundary lines of the town since the date of incorporation, it evidently remains to date as originally erected.

Town Clerk, John S. Foss, d; Treasurer, Daniel Huckins, r.

STRATFORD, Coos Co. — Granted May 26, 1773, to Joshua Wentworth and others, and contained forty-eight thousand acres; incorporated Nov. 16, 1779; portion set off and annexed to Piercy (Stark) June 21, 1832; settled in 1773-74, by Isaac Johnson, Archippus Blodgett, and others.

Town Clerk, William G. Fuller, d; Treasurer, Fred N. Day, d.

STRATHAM, Rockingham Co. — A portion of the original "Squamscott Patent" granted to Edward Hilton, Mar. 12, 1629; incorporated March 14, 1715; portion annexed to Greenland Dec. 18, 1805; Stratham and Newmarket line established Dec. 28, 1805, but repealed June 17, 1807; small tract annexed to Greenland July 2, 1847.

Town Clerk and Treasurer, A. C. Lane, r.

SULLIVAN, Cheshire Co. — Originally was part of Stoddard, Gilsum, Keene, and Packersfield (Nelson); incorporated Sept. 27, 1787, and on Jan. 10, 1794, the west line of the town was "lengthened into Keene, 157 rods farther than by act of incorporation." Small tract annexed to Gilsum July 7, 1874.

Town Clerk, George Kingsbury, d; Treasurer, Leslie H. Goodnow, r.

SUNAPEE, Sullivan Co. — Granted as Saville, Nov. 7, 1768, previous to which it was known as "Corey's Town"; incorporated by the name of Wendell, April 4, 1781, and a part, with portions of other towns, erected into the town of Goshen, Dec. 27, 1791; a part annexed to New London Dec. 11, 1804, and another June 19, 1817. Name changed to Sunapee, July 12, 1850.

Town Clerk, Nathan P. Baker, r; Treasurer, George H. Bartlett, r.

SURRY, Cheshire Co. — Incorporated Mar. 9, 1769, from parts of Westmoreland and Gilsum; that part taken from the former was known as "Westmoreland Leg." The act of incorporation gave Ebenezer Kilburn liberty to "poll off" his estate to Gilsum.

Town Clerk, W. F. Wilbur, d; Treasurer, William H. Porter, r.

SUTTON, Merrimack Co. — Granted as "Perry's-town," in 1749; incorporated as Sutton Aug. 13, 1784. Sutton contained 130 population in 1775, and 520 in 1790. Meeting-house tax of three cents per acre was authorized by act of June 18, 1795.

SWANZEY, Cheshire Co. — Granted in 1734 as "Lower Ashuelot." First proprietors' meeting held at Concord, Mass., June 17, 1734; incorporated as the town of Swanzey July 2, 1753. Part of Richmond annexed Dec. 11, 1762; portion annexed to Marlborough Jan. 8, 1794; part annexed to Keene Dec. 10, 1812; a portion with parts of other towns erected into town of Troy June 23, 1815, and tract annexed to Marlborough Dec. 15, 1842.

Town Clerk, George I. Cutler, d; Treasurer, George E. Whitcomb, d.

TAMWORTH, Carroll Co.— Granted Oct. 14, 1766; Sandwich and Tamworth line established Feb. 22, 1785. The matter came up again and a committee was appointed Dec. 23, 1808, to establish the lines between Tamworth, Sandwich, Eaton, and Burton (Albany). Part of Ossipee annexed Jan. 13, 1837; same territory annexed to Ossipee June 25, 1859.

Town Clerk, Orrin S. Kimball, d; Treasurer, John D. Hidden, r.

TEMPLE, Hillsborough Co. — Granted as "Peterborough Slip" in November, 1750, and included the territory of the present town of Sharon; incorporated Aug. 26, 1768, from a tier of lots on west side of Wilton, formerly known as "Sliptown," and named Temple. Borland's farm (four hundred acres) annexed Jan. 12, 1781; portion of Peterborough annexed Jan. 29, 1789; part of Lyndeborough annexed June 11, 1796.

Town Clerk, Walter E. Hayward, d; Treasurer, Charles C. Rockwood, r.

THORNTON, Grafton Co. — Granted July 6, 1763; regranted Oct. 21, 1768; 40,071 acres; incorporated Nov. 24, 1781, and on June 16, 1807, "Blanchard's Gore" annexed; Waterville Gore annexed June 23, 1842.

Town Clerk, F. W. Downing, d; Treasurer, Henry M. Fifield, r.

TILTON, Belknap Co. — Incorporated from part of Sanbornton, June 30, 1869. The name of Tilton was adopted at the suggestion of Hon. Charles E. Tilton (the fourth generation in line of descent from the original settler, Nathaniel Tilton, who settled here in 1768, and died Feb. 11, 1814), who has done much to render this place one of the most attractive in the country.

Town Clerk, Thomas E. Fletcher, d; Treasurer, Enoch G. Philbrick, d.

TROY, Cheshire Co. — Incorporated from portions of Marlborough, Fitzwilliam, Richmond, and Swanzey, June 23, 1815; line between Troy and Marlborough established June 28, 1847; portion annexed to Marlborough June 24, 1870.

CITY OF CONCORD — 1849.

CONCORD, Merrimack Co. — The township was granted June 17, 1725, by the name of Penacook; incorporated Feb. 27, 1733, by the government of Massachusetts, and received the name of Rumford, but May 20, 1727, the government of New Hampshire made a grant of the township of Bow, covering a large portion of the Penacook grant; the controversy was carried to the Court of St. James and was decided by the king in council in favor of the Rumford proprietors. By act of legislature of June 7, 1765, the parish of Concord was incorporated with full town privileges; a portion of Canterbury annexed Jan. 2, 1784, and a part of Bow annexed Dec. 13, 1804. The state house in Concord was commenced in 1816, and first occupied by the legislature in June, 1819. It was remodeled in 1865. Concord was incorporated as a city July 6, 1849, but the charter was not adopted until March 10, 1853. Water from Penacook lake introduced in 1873; horse railroad first operated in 1881; electric street railway first operated from Concord (South End) to Penacook Dec. 1, 1890.

City election on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November, biennially. Officers then elected inaugurated on the fourth Tuesday of January following. Last election, November 4, 1890.

CITY OF PORTSMOUTH — 1849.

PORTSMOUTH, Rockingham Co. — Originally granted Aug. 10, 1622, and settlement begun the following year at a place since known as "Odiorne's Point." The settlement made where the city now is went by the name of Piscataqua, also "Strawberry Bank," and received its present name from the government of Massachusetts in May, 1753. New Castle set off in 1693, and Greenland partially in 1704, and fully in 1721. The eminent men of Portsmouth in the eighteenth century were numerous, only one of whom shall be mentioned here. His speech in the legislature, then in session at Exeter, at the time of the fall of Ticonderoga, when public credit was exhausted and the patriots nearly discouraged, ought to go down to posterity beside that of the patriotic Henry. Arising from his seat in the house of representatives, of which he was speaker, John Langdon said: "I have one thousand dollars in hard money. I will pledge my plate for three thousand more. I have seventy hogsheads of Tobago rum, which will be sold for the most it will bring. They are at the service of the state. If we succeed in defending our firesides and our homes, I may be remunerated; if we do not, then that property will be of no value to me. Our friend Stark, who so nobly maintained the honor of our state at Bunker Hill, may be safely entrusted with the honor of the enterprise, and we will check the progress of Burgoyne." The result was the victory at Bennington and the subsequent surrender of Burgoyne. John Langdon held many public positions in New Hampshire, and was the first presiding officer of the United States senate. Portsmouth accepted a city charter in 1849.

City officers elected on the first Tuesday of August, annually, and inaugurated on the second Tuesday of the same month. Ward officers elected on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November, biennially. Latest city election, August 5, 1890.

CITY OF NASHUA — 1853.

NASHUA, Hillsborough Co.—That part of the old Dunstable (1673) grant which retained the ancient name when that old township was divided in 1746, and was incorporated April 1, 1746. In 1748 two sets of town officers were elected owing to a radical division of sentiment; and a new election was ordered by the council and assembly, who appointed Thomas Colburne, of Nottingham West, moderator of the meeting. That part of Dunstable called "One Pine Hill" was annexed to Hollis Dec. 13, 1763, and another annexed to same town May 14, 1773; name changed to Nashua Dec. 8, 1836; the town was divided June 23, 1842, and the northerly portion incorporated into a town named Nashville, and remained until June 27, 1853, when these two towns were united and incorporated into a city by the name of Nashua. City election on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November, annually. Officers then elected are inaugurated on the first day of January following. Latest election Nov. 4, 1890.

CITY OF KEENE — 1874.

KEENE, Cheshire Co. — One of the Massachusetts grants made in July, 1833. First proprietors' meeting held in Concord, Mass., June 26, 1734. In consequence of the atrocities of Canadian Indians the town was abandoned in 1746 and reoccupied in 1750. Incorporated April 11, 1753, and named Keene. A portion set off into Sullivan Sept. 27, 1787; another part into Roxbury Dec. 9, 1812. The legislature of 1865 granted a city charter, but it was not adopted. Incorporated a city July 3, 1873, and charter accepted in 1874. City election on the second Tuesday of December, annually. Officers then elected are inaugurated on the first Tuesday of January following. Latest election Dec. 8, 1890; organization to occur Jan. 5, 1891.

TENURE OF OFFICE UNDER THE AMENDED CONSTITUTION.

EDITOR'S NOTICE.

To the end that the time when certain officers take their places, by provision of the amended constitution, may be known, the following extracts from the Laws of 1877, chapter 33 and chapter 74, are cited herewith, to wit:

By provision of " the amendments to the constitution " of New Hampshire, " which were proposed by the constitutional convention of said State at its session in December, 1876, and which were submitted to, and legally adopted by, the qualified voters of said State at the annual election in March, 1877," and made effective by chapter 33, Laws of 1877 (approved July 10, 1877), and chapter 74, Laws of 1877 (approved July 19, 1877) the offices of " county commissioners, treasurers, registers of deeds, registers of probate, solicitors, and sheriffs " were made elective " on the Tuesday following the first Monday in November, biennially."

" The true intent and meaning of this provision being that those constitutional amendments relating to elections and the tenure of office shall take place at such times as that there shall be an annual election in March next, under the old constitution, and that the officers then elected shall hold their offices for one year as they now do; and that at the election in November, A. D. 1878, all the officers above enumerated shall be elected under the amended constitution for two years, and shall take their places on the first Wednesday of June, 1879, and that upon that day all the amendments to the constitution shall take full effect. (Approved July 10, 1877.) "

The latest biennial election occurred November 4, 1890. For official tables, giving detail of the vote in each of the ten counties of New Hampshire at said election, see pages 322–345; andthose next in order for tables of the official canvass of returns made to the secretary of state of the votes for representatives to the fifty-second congress, governor, councilors, and senators; and in connection with the vote for governor, complete detail of the number of names upon the check-list as used at the election Nov. 4, 1890, in each of the towns and city wards; also the complete detail of the United States census of 1890, for each and every town, city, ward, and unincorporated place in the State of New Hampshire, as found by the census enumerators in June, 1890.

PRELIMINARY STEPS TOWARDS PERMANENT CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

On the 28th day of December, 1775, the fifth and last provincial congress of New Hampshire voted to "take up civil government, to continue during the present contest with Great Britain, and resolve themselves into a house of representatives, and then choose a council to continue one year from the 21st day of December current."

On the same day the following gentlemen were appointed a committee to frame and bring in a draft of a new constitution for the rule and government of this colony:

Matthew Thornton, Mesheck Weare, Ebenezer Thompson, Wyseman Claggett, and Benjamin Giles; and two days later John Giddinge and Joseph Badger were added to the committee.

On the 5th day of January, 1776, the committee reported and the congress passed the following vote:

In Congress at Exeter,
January 5, 1776.

We, the members of the congress of the colony of New Hampshire, chosen and appointed by the free suffrages of the people of said colony, and authorized and empowered by them to meet together and use such means and pursue such measures as we should judge best for the public good, and in particular to establish some form of government, provided that measure should be recommended by the continental congress, and a recommendation to that purpose having been transmitted to us from the said congress, have taken into our serious consideration the unhappy circumstances into which this colony is involved by means of many grievous and oppressive acts of the British parliament, depriving us of our natural and constitutional rights and privileges; to enforce obedience to which acts, a powerful fleet and army have been sent into this country by the ministry of Great Britain, who have exercised a wanton and cruel abuse of their power in destroying the lives and properties of the colonists in many places with fire and sword, taking the ships and lading from many of the honest and industrious inhabitants of this colony employed in commerce agreeable to the laws and customs a long time used here.

The sudden and abrupt departure of His Excellency John Wentworth, Esq., our late governor, and several of the council, leaving us destitute of legislation; and no executive courts being open to punish criminal offenders, whereby the lives and properties of the honest people of this colony are liable to the machinations and evil designs of wicked men;

Therefore, for the preservation of peace and good order, and for the security of the lives and properties of the inhabitants of this colony, we conceive ourselves reduced to the necessity of establishing a form of government, to continue during the present unhappy and unnatural contest with Great Britain; protesting and declaring that we never sought to throw off our dependence upon Great Britain, but felt ourselves happy under her protection while we could enjoy our constitutional rights and privileges, and that we shall rejoice if such a reconciliation between us and our parent state can be effected as shall be approved by the continental congress, in whose prudence and wisdom we confide.

Accordingly, pursuant to the trust reposed in us, we do resolve that this congress assume the name, power, and authority of a house of representatives, or assembly, for the colony of New Hampshire; and that said house then proceed to choose twelve persons, being reputable freeholders and inhabitants within this colony, in the following manner, viz.: Five in the county of Rockingham, two in the county of Strafford, two in the county of Hillsborough, two in the county of Cheshire, and one in the county of Grafton, to be a distinct and separate branch of the legislature, by the name of a council for this colony, to continue as such until the third Wednesday in December next, any seven of whom to be a quorum to do business.

That such council appoint their president; and in his absence that the senior councilor preside.

That a secretary be appointed by both branches, who may be a councilor or otherwise as they shall choose.

That no act or resolve shall be valid and put into execution unless agreed to and passed by both branches of the legislature.

That all public officers for the said colony and each county for the current year be appointed by the council and assembly, except the several clerks of the executive courts, who shall be appointed by the justices of the respective courts.

That all bills, resolves, or votes for raising, levying, and collecting money, originate in the house of representatives.

That at any session of the council and assembly neither branch shall adjourn for any longer time than from Saturday till the next Monday without consent of the other.

And it is further resolved that if the present unhappy dispute with Great Britain should continue longer than this present year, and the continental congress give no instructions or directions to the contrary, the council be chosen by the people of each respective county in such manner as the council and house of representatives shall order.

That general and field officers of the militia, on any vacancy, be appointed by the two houses, and all inferior officers be chosen by the respective companies.

That all officers of the army be appointed by the two houses, except they should direct otherwise in case of any emergency.

That all civil officers for the colony and for each county be appointed and the time of their continuance in office be determined by the two houses, except clerks of courts, and county treasurers, and recorders of deeds.

That a treasurer and a recorder of deeds for each county be annually chosen by the people of each county respectively; the votes for such officers to be returned to the respective courts of general sessions of the peace in the county, there to be ascertained as the council and assembly shall hereafter direct.

That precepts in the name of the council and assembly, signed by the president of the council and the speaker of the house of representatives, shall issue annually, at or before the first day of November, for the choice of a council and house of representatives, to be returned by the third Wednesday in December then next ensuing, in such manner as the council and assembly shall hereafter prescribe.

COLONY OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

BY THE COUNCIL AND ASSEMBLY, A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, the congress of this colony have, agreeable to a recommendation from the honorable continental congress, resolved on and formed themselves upon a plan of government by a council and house of representatives, which plan has been published, and dispersed through the colony, and is to be in force during the present dispute with Great Britain, unless otherwise advised by the continental congress; conformable to which said plan of government, the council and assembly have chosen and appointed the proper officers for the administration of justice in the several counties, who are to be sworn to the faithful discharge of their several trusts. It is therefore expected that no person or persons claim or exercise any civil authority but such as are, or may be, appointed as aforesaid, on the penalty of being deemed inimical to their country.

Provided, nevertheless, and this proclamation is intended not to interfere with the power of the necessary committees of inspection, or safety, chosen in the several towns through the colony by virtue and in consequence of any recommendation or resolves of the continental congress.

Whereof, all persons concerned are to take due notice, and govern themselves accordingly.

And at the same time it is earnestly recommended that in this distressing day of public calamity, when our enemies are watching all opportunities to ensnare and divide us, every one would strive to prevent, and, if possible, to quell all appearance of party spirit, to cultivate and promote peace, union, and good order, and by all means in their power to discourage profaneness, immorality, and injustice.

By order of the council and assembly at Exeter, the 19th day of March, Anno Domini 1776.

M. WEARE,
President of the Council.

E. THOMPSON,
Secretary.

God save the people.

NEW HAMPSHIRE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

On the 11th day of June, 1776, the New Hampshire house of representatives passed the following vote:

"That Samuel Cutts, Timothy Walker, and John Dudley, Esqrs., be a committee of this house to join a committee of the honorable board, to make a draft of a declaration of this general assembly for independence of the United Colonies on Great Britain."

IN COUNCIL, JUNE 11, 1776.

"A vote appointing Sam'l Cutts, Timothy Walker, and John Dudley a committee, with such as the board should join, to make a draft of a declaration of the general assembly for independence of the United Colonies on Great Britain, brought up, read, and concurred, with this amendment, that the committee prepare a draft setting forth the sentiments and opinion of the council and assembly of this colony relative to the United Colonies forming themselves into independent states, in order that when passed the same may be transmitted to our delegates at the continental congress, and that Messrs. Hurd, Claggett, and the secretary * be added to the committee."

JUNE 15, 1776.

"The committee of both houses, appointed to prepare a draft setting forth the sentiments and opinion of the council and assembly of this colony relative to the United Colonies setting up an independent state, made report as on file, which report being read and considered, voted unanimously that the report of said committee be received and accepted, and that the draft by them brought in be sent to our delegates at the continental congress forthwith as the sense of this house."

INDEPENDENCE.

The draft made by the committee of both houses, relating to independency, is as follows, viz.:

Whereas, it now appears an undoubted fact, that notwithstanding all the dutiful petitions and decent remonstrances from the American colonies, and the utmost exertions of their best friends in England on their behalf, the British ministry, arbitrary and vindictive, are yet determined to reduce, by fire and sword, our bleeding country to their absolute obedience; and for this purpose, in addition to their own forces, have engaged great numbers of foreign mercenaries, who may now be on their passage here, accompanied by a formidable fleet, to ravage and plunder the seacoast; from all which we may reasonably expect the most dismal scenes of distress the ensuing year, unless we exert ourselves by every means and precaution possible; and, whereas, we, of this colony of New Hampshire, have the example of several of the most respectable of our sister colonies before us for entering upon that most important step of a disunion from Great Britain, and declaring ourselves free and independent of the crown thereof, being impelled thereto by the most violent and injurious treatment; and it appearing absolutely necessary in this most critical juncture of our public affairs that the honorable the continental congress, who have this important object under their immediate consideration, should be also informed of our resolutions thereon without loss of time, we do hereby declare that it is the opinion of this assembly that our delegates at the continental congress should be instructed, and they are hereby instructed, to join with the other colonies in declaring the thirteen United Colonies a free and independent state, solemnly pledging our faith and honor that we will, on our parts, support the measure with our lives and fortunes; and that in consequence thereof, they, the continental congress, on whose wisdom, fidelity, and integrity we rely, may enter into and form such alliances as they may judge most conducive to the present safety and future advantage of these American colonies; provided, the regulation of our internal police be under the direction of our own assembly.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,

December 27, 1777.

Voted, That it be recommended to the several towns, parishes, and places in this state, if they see fit, to instruct their representatives at the next session to appoint and call a full and free representation of all the people in this state, to meet in convention at such time and place as shall be appointed by the general assembly, for the sole purpose of framing and laying a permanent plan or system for the future government of this state.

There is no record that this vote was received and acted on by the Council.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,

February 20, 1778.

Voted, That this house resolve themselves into a committee of the whole to join the honorable board, if they see fit, to consider of the confederation formed by the honorable the continental congress, and also of the calling a full and free representation of all the people of this state, for the sole purpose of forming a permanent plan or system for the future government of this state.

FEBRUARY 25, 1778.

According to order of the day, the committee of both houses being met in the assembly chamber to consider of the matter and manner of calling a full and free representation of all the people in this state, for the sole purpose of forming and laying a permanent plan or system for the future government of this state,—

The honorable Mesheck Weare, Esq., in the chair, proceeded to consider of the matters to them referred, and after some time spent thereon, the committee agreed to report that a full and free representation of all the people of this state be called as soon as conveniently may be for said purpose.

That the convention be on the second Wednesday in June next; that they meet at Concord in this state.

That each town, parish, or precinct sending a member or members to said convention pay their own members for their time and expense.

That when the said convention have formed such plan of government they lay the same before their constituents for their approbation before the same shall take effect; that such plan shall not take effect until three quarters of the people of this state shall consent thereto.

The committee then adjourned to 3 o'clock P. M.

WEDNESDAY, 25TH, P. M.

The committee met according to adjournment, and proceeded to the business to them referred, and after some time spent thereon, agree further to report that the foregoing articles of direction be not recommendatory, but directory; and that precepts issue to each town, parish, and district in this state, if they see fit, to send one or more members to the said convention, saving to any two or more towns, parishes, or districts, if they see fit, to join together in electing and sending one member to represent them in said convention.

The committee then dissolved, and the speaker resumed the chair, and the above report being read and considered, voted that the same be received and accepted.

declaration of the general assembly for independence of the United Colonies on Great Britain, brought up, read, and concurred, with this amendment, that the committee prepare a draft setting forth the sentiments and opinion of the council and assembly of this colony relative to the United Colonies forming themselves into independent states, in order that when passed the same may be transmitted to our delegates at the continental congress, and that Messrs. Hurd, Claggett, and the secretary * be added to the committee."

Seventhly. The right of trial by jury in all cases, as heretofore used in this state, shall be preserved inviolate forever.

A PLAN OF GOVERNMENT FOR THE STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

First. The state of New Hampshire shall be governed by a council and house of representatives, to be chosen as hereinafter mentioned, and to be styled the General Court of the State of New Hampshire.

Second. The council shall consist for the present of twelve members, to be elected out of the several counties in the state in proportion to their respective number of inhabitants.

Third. The numbers belonging to each county for the present, according to said proportion, being as followeth, viz.: To the county of Rockingham, five; to the county of Strafford, two; to the county of Hillsborough, two; to the county of Cheshire, two; to the county of Grafton, one.

Fourth. The number for the county of Rockingham shall not be increased or diminished hereafter, but remain the same; and the numbers for the other counties shall be increased or diminished as their aforesaid proportion to the county of Rockingham may chance to vary.

Fifth. The house of representatives shall be chosen as follows: Every town or parish choosing town officers, amounting to one hundred families and upwards, shall send one representative for each hundred families they consist of (or such lesser number as they please), or class themselves with some other towns or parishes that will join in sending a representative.

Sixth. All other towns and parishes under the number of one hundred families shall have liberty to class themselves together to make the number of one hundred families or upwards, and being so classed, each class shall send one representative.

Seventh. The number of councilors belonging to each county shall be ascertained and done by the general court every time there is a new proportion made of the state tax, which shall be once in seven years at the least, and oftener if need be.

Eighth. All the male inhabitants of the state of lawful age, paying taxes, and professing the Protestant religion, shall be deemed legal voters in choosing councilors and representatives, and having an estate of three hundred pounds, equal to silver at six shillings and eight pence per ounce, one half at least whereof to be real estate, and lying within this state, with the qualifications aforesaid, shall be capable of being elected.

Ninth. The selectmen of each respective town and parish choosing town officers, containing one hundred families or upwards, and also of each respective class of towns classed together as aforesaid, shall notify the legal voters of their respective towns, parishes, or classes, qualified as aforesaid, in the usual way of notifying town meetings, giving fifteen days' notice, at least, to meet at some convenient place on the last Wednesday of November annually, to choose councilors and representatives.

Tenth. And the voters being met, and the moderator chosen, shall proceed to choose their representative or representatives required by this constitution, by a majority of the voters present, who shall be notified accordingly, and a return thereof made into the secretary's office by the first Wednesday of January then next.

Eleventh. And such representatives shall be paid their wages by their constituents, and for their travel by the state.

Twelfth. And in the choice of councilors each voter shall deliver his vote to the moderator for the number of councilors respectively required, with the word councilors written thereon, and the voter's name indorsed to prevent duplicity.

Thirteenth. These votes shall be sealed up by the moderator, and transmitted by the constable to one of the justices of the inferior court of common pleas for the county before the second Wednesday in December next following.

Fourteenth. And the said justices of the inferior court shall meet together on the said second Wednesday of December annually to count the votes, and the persons that have most votes to the number of councilors required shall be declared duly elected, and shall be notified by the said justices accordingly, and a return thereof shall be made by them into the secretary's office by the first Wednesday in January annually.

Fifteenth. And in case any two persons shall have a like number of votes, the said justices may determine the choice in favor of which they please.

Sixteenth. The council and house of representatives, so chosen and returned as aforesaid, shall meet on the first Wednesday in January next after their being chosen, at such place as the present or future general court may from time to time appoint; and, being duly sworn, shall hold their respective places until the first Wednesday in January then next.

Seventeenth. The council shall choose their president, vice-president, and secretary; and the house of representatives shall choose their speaker and clerk.

Eighteenth. The council and house of representatives respectively shall determine all disputed elections of their own members, regulate their own proceedings, and, on any vacancy, order a new election to fill up such vacancy.

Nineteenth. The said general court, elected and constituted as aforesaid, shall be invested with the supreme power of the state. And all acts, resolves, or votes, except grants of money, lands, or other things, may originate in either house; but such grants shall originate in the house of representatives only.

Twentieth. The said council and house of representatives respectively shall have power to adjourn themselves from day to day, but not longer than two days at any one time, without concurrence of the other.

Twenty-First. The president of the council shall hold public correspondence with other states, or persons; call the council together when occasion shall require; and with advice of three or more of the council shall, from time to time, call the general court together, if need be, before the time they were adjourned to; and also point out the principal business of their session.

Twenty-Second. The military and naval power of the state shall be regulated, and all proper officers thereof appointed, as the legislature by law shall direct from time to time.

Twenty-Third. The judges of the superior and inferior courts, judges of probate, judge of admiralty, judge of the maritime court, justices of the peace, sheriffs, coroners, attorney-general, treasurer of the state, and delegates to the continental congress, shall be appointed by the said general court, and commissioned by the president of the council.

Twenty-Fourth. The appointment of registers of deeds, county treasurers, clerks of courts, registers of probate, and all other civil officers whatsoever, not before mentioned, shall be regulated by the laws that now are or that hereafter may be enacted.

Twenty-Fifth. All civil officers of the state shall be suitably compensated by fees or salaries for their services.

Twenty-Sixth. No member of the general court shall be judge of the superior court, or inferior court, judge or register of probate, or sheriff of any county, or treasurer of the state, or attorney-general, or delegate to the continental congress.

Twenty-Seventh. And no member of the council, judge of the superior court, or sheriff, shall hold a commission in the militia, army, or navy of this state.

Twenty-Eighth. No member of the house of representatives shall hold any salary under the government.

Twenty-Ninth. The president of the council, with advice of council, may grant reprieves not longer than six months, but the general court only shall have power to pardon offences against the state.

Thirtieth. A quorum of the council, and a quorum of the house of representatives, shall consist of a majority of each house.

Thirty-First. This declaration of rights, and plan of government, shall have the force of law, and be esteemed the fundamental law of the state.

Thirty-Second. The general court shall have no power to alter any part of this constitution. In case they should concur in any proposed alteration, amendment, or addition, the same being agreed to by a majority of the people, shall become valid.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE,

In Convention, June 5th, 1779.

Voted, That the foregoing bill of rights, and plan of government, be printed, and dispersed throughout this state, for the people thereof to give their opinion thereon.

Voted, That Colonel Thornton and Colonel Bartlett be a committee to get this plan of government printed, and transmit two or more copies of the same to each and every town, parish, and place in this state, to which precepts for this convention were sent, and publish the same in the New Hampshire newspapers.

Voted, That the selectmen of the several towns, parishes, and districts in this state, upon the receipt of the same, are desired to notify and warn the legal inhabitants paying taxes in such town, parish, or place, to meet at some suitable place therein, giving them at least fifteen days' notice, for the purpose of taking said plan under consideration; and make return of the number of voters present at such meeting, and how many voted for receiving said plan, and how many for rejecting the same, unto this convention at Concord in this state, on the third Tuesday in September next.

By order of the convention,

E. THOMPSON, Secretary.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,

April 5, 1781.

Whereas, the present situation of affairs in this state make it necessary that a full and free representation of the inhabitants thereof should meet in convention for the sole purpose of forming and laying a permanent plan or system of government for the future happiness and well-being of the good people of this state, and this house having received instructions from a considerable part of their constituents for that purpose; therefore, voted and resolved that the honorable the president of the council issue to every town, parish, and district within that part of this state east of Connecticut river a precept, recommending to them to elect and choose one or more persons, as they shall judge it expedient, to convene at Concord in said state, on the first Tuesday of June next, for the purpose aforesaid, saving to the small towns liberty to join two or more together if they see fit, to elect and send one person to represent them in said convention.

And such system or form of government as may be agreed upon by such convention being printed, and sent to each and every town, parish, and district in this state, for the approbation of the people, which system or form of government being approved of by such number of the inhabitants of this state in their respective town meetings, legally called for that purpose, as shall be ordered by said convention, and a return of such approbation being made to said convention and confirmed by them, shall remain as a permanent system or form of government of this state, and not otherwise. And if the first proposed system or form of government should be rejected by the people, that the same convention shall be empowered to proceed and make such amendments and alterations from time to time as may be necessary, provided, always, that after such alterations the same be sent out for the approbation of the people, in manner as aforesaid, and that the charge and expense of each member of such convention be defrayed by their respective electors.

Sent up by Captain Pickering.

IN COUNCIL, APRIL 6, 1781.

Resolve for calling a convention to meet at Concord on the first Tuesday of June next, to form a system or plan of government, brought up, read, and concurred.

Pursuant to the foregoing votes a convention of delegates met in Concord on the first Tuesday of June, 1781. As the journal of the convention cannot be found, it is not easy to tell how many sessions it held. Dr. Belknap says nine.

It continued a live, active body through a period of two years and almost five months, during which it "framed" three constitutions, which were successively submitted to the people. Two were rejected.

The following is the constitution framed by the convention and ratified by the people in 1783, which "took place" on the first Wednesday of June, 1784:

A CONSTITUTION,

CONTAINING A BILL OF RIGHTS, AND FORM OF GOVERNMENT

Agreed upon by the delegates of the people of the state of New Hampshire, in convention held at Concord, on the first Tuesday of June, 1783; submitted to and approved of by the people of said state, and established by their delegates in convention, October 31, 1783.

PART I.

THE BILL OF RIGHTS.

I. All men are born equally free and independent; therefore, all government of right originates from the people, is founded in consent, and instituted for the general good.

II. All men have certain natural, essential, and inherent rights, among which are the enjoying and defending life and liberty, acquiring, possessing, and protecting property, and, in a word, of seeking and obtaining happiness.

III. When men enter into a state of society, they surrender up some of their natural rights to that society, in order to insure the protection of others; and without such an equivalent the surrender is void.

IV. Among the natural rights, some are in their very nature unalienable, because no equivalent can be given or received for them. Of this kind are the rights of conscience.

V. Every individual has a natural and unalienable right to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience and reason; and no subject shall be hurt, molested, or restrained in his person, liberty, or estate, for worshiping God in the manner and season most agreeable to the dictates of his own conscience, or for his religious profession, sentiments, or persuasion, provided he doth not disturb the public peace, or disturb others in their religious worship.

VI. As morality and piety, rightly grounded on evangelical principles, will give the best and greatest security to government, and will lay in the hearts of men the strongest obligations to due subjection, and as the knowledge of these is most likely to be propagated through a society by the institution of the public worship of the Deity, and of public instruction in morality and religion, therefore, to promote those important purposes, the people of this state have a right to impower, and do hereby fully impower, the legislature to authorize from time to time the several towns, parishes, bodies corporate, or religious societies within this state, to make adequate provision at their own expense for the support and maintenance of public Protestant teachers of piety, religion, and morality;

Provided, notwithstanding, that the several towns, parishes, bodies corporate, or religious societies, shall at all times have the exclusive right of electing their own public teachers, and of contracting with them for their support and maintenance. And no person of any one particular religious sect or denomination shall ever be compelled to pay towards the support of the teacher or teachers of another persuasion, sect, or denomination.

And every denomination of Christians demeaning themselves quietly, and as good subjects of the state, shall be equally under the protection of the law; and no subordination of any one sect or denomination to another shall ever be established by law.

And nothing herein shall be understood to affect any former contracts made for the support of the ministry; but all such contracts shall remain, and be in the same state as if this constitution had not been made.

VII. The people of this state have the sole and exclusive right of governing themselves as a free, sovereign, and independent state, and do, and forever hereafter shall, exercise and enjoy every power, jurisdiction, and right pertaining thereto, which is not, or may not hereafter be, by them expressly delegated to the United States of America in congress assembled.

VIII. All power residing originally in and being derived from the people, all the magistrates and officers of government are their substitutes and agents, and at all times accountable to them.

IX. No office or place whatsoever in government shall be hereditary, the abilities and integrity requisite in all not being transmissible to posterity or relations.

X. Government being instituted for the common benefit, protection, and security of the whole community, and not for the private interest or emolument of any one man, family, or class of men; therefore, whenever the ends of government are perverted and public liberty manifestly endangered, and all other means of redress are ineffectual, the people may, and of right ought, to reform the old or establish a new government. The doctrine of non-resistance against arbitrary power and oppression is absurd, slavish, and destructive of the good and happiness of mankind.

XI. All elections ought to be free, and every inhabitant of the state, having the proper qualifications, has equal right to elect and be elected into office.

XII. Every member of the community has a right to be protected by it in the enjoyment of his life, liberty, and property; he is therefore bound to contribute his share in the expense of such protection, and to yield his personal service when necessary, or an equivalent. But no part of a man's property shall be taken from him, or applied to public uses without his own consent, or that of the representative body of the people. Nor are the inhabitants of the state controllable by any other laws than those to which they or their representative body have given their consent.

XIII. No person who is conscientiously scrupulous about the lawfulness of bearing arms shall be compelled thereto, provided he will pay an equivalent.

XIV. Every subject of this state is entitled to a certain remedy, by having recourse to the laws, for all injuries he may receive in his person, property, or character, to obtain right and justice freely, without being obliged to purchase it; completely, and without any denial; promptly, and without delay, conformably to the laws.

XV. No subject shall be held to answer for any crime or offence until the same is fully and plainly, substantially and formally, described to him; or be compelled to accuse or furnish evidence against himself. And every subject shall have a right to produce all proofs that may be favorable to himself; to meet the witnesses against him face to face, and to be fully heard in his defence by himself and counsel. And no subject shall be arrested, imprisoned, despoiled, or deprived of his property, immunities, or privileges, put out of the protection of the law, exiled, or deprived of his life, liberty, or estate, but by the judgment of his peers, or the law of the land.

XVI. No subject shall be liable to be tried, after an acquittal, for the same crime or offence. Nor shall the legislature make any law that shall subject any person to a capital punishment, excepting for the government of the army and navy, and the militia in actual service, without trial by jury.

XVII. In criminal prosecutions, the trial of facts in the vicinity where they happen is so essential to the security of the life, liberty, and estate of the citizen, that no crime or offence ought to be tried in any other county than that in which it is committed, except in cases of general insurrection in any particular county, when it shall appear to the judges of the superior court that an impartial trial cannot be had in the county where the offence may be committed, and upon their report the assembly shall think proper to direct the trial in the nearest county in which an impartial trial can be obtained.

XVIII. All penalties ought to be proportioned to the nature of the offence. No wise legislature will affix the same punishment to the crimes of theft, forgery, and the like, which they do to those of murder and treason; where the same undistinguishing severity is exerted against all offences, the people are led to forget the real distinction in the crimes themselves, and to commit the most flagrant with as little compunction as they do those of the lightest dye; for the same reason a multitude of sanguinary laws is both impolitic and unjust, the true design of all punishments being to reform, not to exterminate, mankind.

XIX. Every subject hath a right to be secure from all unreasonable searches and seizures of his person, his houses, his papers, and all his possessions. All warrants, therefore, are contrary to this right, if the cause or foundation of them be not previously supported by oath or affirmation, and if the order in the warrant to a civil officer to make search in suspected places, or to arrest one or more suspected persons, or to seize their property, be not accompanied with a special designation of the persons or objects of search, arrest, and seizure; and no warrant ought to be issued but in cases and with the formalities prescribed by the laws.

XX. In all controversies concerning property, and in all suits between two or more persons, except in cases in which it has been heretofore otherwise used and practiced, the parties have a right to a trial by jury; and this method of procedure shall be held sacred, unless in causes arising on the high seas, and such as relate to mariners' wages, the legislature shall think it necessary hereafter to alter it.

XXI. In order to reap the fullest advantage of the inestimable privilege of the trial by jury, great care ought to be taken that none but qualified persons should be appointed to serve; and such ought to be fully compensated for their travel, time, and attendance.

XXII. The liberty of the press is essential to the security of freedom in a state; it ought, therefore, to be inviolably preserved.

XXIII. Retrospective laws are highly injurious, oppressive, and unjust. No such laws, therefore, should be made, either for the decision of civil causes or the punishment of offences.

XXIV. A well-regulated militia is the proper, natural, and sure defence of a state.

XXV. Standing armies are dangerous to liberty, and ought not to be raised or kept up without the consent of the legislature.

XXVI. In all cases, and at all times, the military ought to be under strict subordination to and governed by the civil power.

XXVII. No soldier in time of peace shall be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner; and in time of war such quarters ought not to be made but by the civil magistrate, in a manner ordained by the legislature.

XXVIII. No subsidy, charge, tax, impost, or duty shall be established, fixed, laid, or levied under any pretext whatsoever without the consent of the people, or their representatives in the legislature, or authority derived from that body.

XXIX. The power of suspending the laws, or the execution of them, ought never to be exercised but by the legislature, or by authority derived therefrom, to be exercised in such particular cases only as the legislature shall expressly provide for.

XXX. The freedom of deliberation, speech, and debate, in either house of the legislature, is so essential to the rights of the people that it cannot be the foundation of any action, complaint, or prosecution in any other court or place whatsoever.

XXXI. The legislature ought frequently to assemble for the redress of grievances, for correcting, strengthening, and confirming the laws, and for making new ones, as the common good may require.

XXXII. The people have a right in an orderly and peaceable manner to assemble and consult upon the common good, give instructions to their representatives, and to request of the legislative body, by way of petition or remonstrance, redress of the wrongs done them, and of the grievances they suffer.

XXXIII. No magistrate or court of law shall demand excessive bail or sureties, impose excessive fines, or inflict cruel or unusual punishments.

XXXIV. No person can in any case be subjected to law martial, or to any pains or penalties by virtue of that law, except those employed in the army or navy, and except the militia in actual service, but by authority of the legislature.

XXXV. It is essential to the preservation of the rights of every individual, his life, liberty, property, and character, that there be an impartial interpretation of the laws, and administration of justice. It is the right of every citizen to be tried by judges as impartial as the lot of humanity will admit.

It is therefore not only the best policy, but for the security of the rights of the people, that the judges of the supreme (or superior) judicial court should hold their offices so long as they behave well; and that they should have honorable salaries, ascertained and established by standing laws.

XXXVI. Economy being a most essential virtue in all states, especially in a young one, no pension shall be granted but in consideration of actual services, and such pensions ought to be granted with great caution by the legislature, and never for more than one year at a time.

XXXVII. In the government of this state the three essential powers thereof, to wit, the legislative, executive, and judicial, ought to be kept as separate from and independent of each other as the nature of a free government will admit, or as is consistent with that chain of connection that binds the whole fabric of the constitution in one indissoluble bond of unity and amity.

XXXVIII. A frequent recurrence to the fundamental principles of the constitution, and a constant adherence to justice, moderation, temperance, industry, frugality, and all the social virtues, are indispensably necessary to preserve the blessings of liberty and good government; the people ought, therefore, to have a particular regard to all those principles in the choice of their officers and representatives; and they have a right to require of their lawgivers and magistrates an exact and constant observance of them in the formation and execution of the laws necessary for the good administration of government.

PART II.

THE FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

The people inhabiting the territory formerly called the province of New Hampshire, do hereby solemnly and mutually agree with each other to form themselves into a free, sovereign, and independent body politic, or state, by the name of the State of New Hampshire.

THE GENERAL COURT.

The supreme legislative power within this state shall be vested in the senate and house of representatives, each of which shall have a negative on the other. The senate and house shall assemble every year on the first Wednesday of June, and at such other times as they may judge necessary; and shall dissolve and be dissolved seven days next preceding the said first Wednesday of June, and shall be styled THE GENERAL COURT OF NEW HAMPSHIRE. The general court shall forever have full power and authority to erect and constitute judicatories and courts of record, or other courts, to be holden in the name of the state, for the hearing, trying, and determining all manner of crimes, offences, pleas, processes, plaints, actions, causes, matters and things whatsoever, arising or happening within this state, or between or concerning persons inhabiting or residing, or brought within the same, whether the same be criminal or civil, or whether the crimes be capital or not capital, and whether the said pleas be real, personal, or mixed; and for the awarding and issuing execution thereon. To which courts and judicatories are hereby given and granted full power and authority, from time to time, to administer oaths or affirmations for the better discovery of truth in any matter in controversy, or depending before them.

And farther, full power and authority are hereby given and granted to the said general court, from time to time, to make, ordain, and establish all manner of wholesome and reasonable orders, laws, statutes, ordinances, directions, and instructions, either with penalties or without, so as the same be not repugnant or contrary to this constitution, as they may judge for the benefit and welfare of this state, and for the governing and ordering thereof, and of the subjects of the same, for the necessary support and defence of the government thereof; and to name and settle annually, or provide by fixed laws for the naming and settling, all civil officers within this state; such officers excepted the election and appointment of whom are hereafter in this form of government otherwise provided for; and to set forth the several duties, powers, and limits of the several civil and military officers of this state, and the forms of such oaths or affirmations as shall be respectively administered unto them for the execution of their several offices and places, so as the same be not repugnant or contrary to this constitution; and also to impose fines, mulcts, imprisonments, and other punishments; and to impose and levy proportional and reasonable assessments, rates, and taxes upon all the inhabitants of, and residents within, the said state, and upon all estates within the same; to be issued and disposed of by warrant under the hand of the president of this state for the time being, with the advice and consent of the council, for the public service in the necessary defence and support of the government of this state, and the protection and preservation of the subjects thereof, according to such acts as are or shall be in force within the same.

And while the public charges of government, or any part thereof, shall be assessed on polls and estates in the manner that has heretofore been practiced, in order that such assessments may be made with equality there shall be a valuation of the estates within the state taken anew once in every five years at least, and as much oftener as the general court shall order.

SENATE.

There shall be annually elected by the freeholders and other inhabitants of this state, qualified as in this constitution is provided, twelve persons, to be senators for the year ensuing their election, to be chosen in and by the inhabitants of the districts into which this state may from time to time be divided by the general court for that purpose; and the general court in assigning the number to be elected by the respective districts shall govern themselves by the proportion of public taxes paid by the said districts, and timely make known to the inhabitants of the state the limits of each district and the number of senators to be elected therein, provided the number of such districts shall never be more than ten, nor less than five.

And the several counties in this state shall, until the general court shall order otherwise, be districts for the election of senators, and shall elect the following number, viz.: Rockingham, five; Strafford, two; Hillsborough, two; Cheshire, two ; Grafton, one.

The senate shall be the first branch of the legislature, and the senators shall be chosen in the following manner, viz.: Every male inhabitant of each town and parish with town privileges in the several counties in this state, of twenty-one years of age and upwards, paying for himself a poll tax, shall have a right at the annual or other meetings of the inhabitants of said towns and parishes, to be duly warned, and holden annually forever in the month of March, to vote in the town or parish wherein he dwells for the senators in the county or district whereof he is a member.

And every person qualified as the constitution provides shall be considered an inhabitant for the purpose of electing and being elected into any office or place within this state, in that town, parish, and plantation where he dwelleth and hath his home.

The selectmen of the several towns and parishes aforesaid shall, during the choice of senators, preside at such meetings impartially, and shall receive the votes of all the inhabitants of such towns and parishes, present and qualified to vote for senators, and shall sort and count the same in the meeting, and in presence of the town clerk, who shall make a fair record in presence of the selectmen, and in open meeting, of the name of every person voted for, and the number of votes against his name; and a fair copy of this record shall be attested by the selectmen and town clerk, and shall be sealed up and directed to the secretary of the state, with a superscription expressing the purport thereof, and delivered by said clerk to the sheriff of the county in which such town or parish lies, thirty days at least before the first Wednesday of June; and the sheriff of each county, or his deputy, shall deliver all such certificates by him received, into the secretary's office, seventeen days at least before the first Wednesday of June.

And the inhabitants of plantations and places unincorporated, qualified as this constitution provides, who are or shall be required to assess taxes upon themselves towards the support of government, or shall be taxed therefor, shall have the same privilege of voting for senators in the plantations and places wherein they reside as the inhabitants of the respective towns and parishes aforesaid have.

And the meetings of such plantations and places for that purpose shall be holden annually in the month of March, at such places respectively therein as the assessors thereof shall direct; which assessors shall have like authority for notifying the electors, collecting and returning the votes, as the selectmen and town clerks have in their several towns by this constitution. And, that there may be a due meeting of senators on the first Wednesday of June, annually, the president and three of the council for the time being shall, as soon as may be, examine the returned copies of such records; and fourteen days before the said first Wednesday in June, he shall issue his summons to such persons as appear to be chosen senators by a majority of votes, to attend and take their seats on that day; provided, nevertheless, that for the first year the said returned copies shall be examined by the president and five of the council of the former constitution of government; and the said president shall in like manner notify the persons elected to attend and take their seats accordingly.

The senate shall be final judges of the elections, returns, and qualifications of their own members, as pointed out in this constitution, and shall on the said first Wednesday of June, annually, determine and declare who are elected by each district to be senators by a majority of votes, and in case there shall not appear to be the full number returned elected by a majority of votes for any district, the deficiency shall be supplied in the following manner, viz.: The members of the house of representatives and such senators as shall be declared elected shall take the names of such persons as shall be found to have the highest number of votes in each district, and not elected, amounting to twice the number of senators wanting, if there be so many voted for, and out of these shall elect by joint ballot the number of senators wanted for such district; and in this manner all such vacancies shall be filled up in every district of the state, and in like manner all vacancies in the senate arising by death, removal out of the state, or otherwise, shall be supplied as soon as may be after such vacancies happen.

Provided, nevertheless, that no person shall be capable of being elected senator who is not of the Protestant religion, and seized of a freehold estate in his own right of the value of two hundred pounds, lying within this state, who is not of the age of thirty years, and who shall not have been an inhabitant of this state for seven years immediately preceding his election; and at the time thereof he shall be an inhabitant of the district for which he shall be chosen.

The senate shall have power to adjourn themselves, provided such adjournment do not exceed two days at a time.

The senate shall appoint their own officers, and determine their own rules of proceedings; and not less than seven members of the senate shall make a quorum for doing business; and when less than eight senators shall be present, the assent of five at least shall be necessary to render their acts and proceedings valid.

The senate shall be a court with full power and authority to hear and determine all impeachments made by the house of representatives, against any officer or officers of the state, for misconduct or maladministration in their offices; but previous to the trial of any such impeachment, the members of the senate shall respectively be sworn truly and impartially to try and determine the charge in question according to evidence.

Their judgment, however, shall not extend farther than removal from office, disqualification to hold or enjoy any place of honor, trust, or profit under this state; but the party so convicted shall nevertheless be liable to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment, according to laws of the land.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

There shall be in the legislature of this state a representation of the people annually elected and founded upon principles of equality; and in order that such representation may be as equal as circumstances will admit, every town, parish, or place entitled to town privileges, having one hundred and fifty ratable male polls of twenty-one years of age and upwards, may elect one representative; if four hundred and fifty ratable polls, may elect two representatives; and so proceeding in that proportion, making three hundred such ratable polls the mean increasing number for every additional representative.

Such towns, parishes, or places as have less than one hundred and fifty ratable polls shall be classed by the general assembly for the purpose of choosing a representative and seasonably notified thereof.

And in every class formed for the above-mentioned purpose, the first annual meeting shall be held in the town, parish, or place wherein most of the ratable polls reside, and afterwards in that which has the next highest number, and so on annually, by rotation, through the several towns, parishes, or places forming the district.

Whenever any town, parish, or place entitled to town privileges, as aforesaid, shall not have one hundred and fifty ratable polls, and be so situated as to render the classing thereof with any other town, parish, or place very inconvenient, the general assembly may, upon application of a majority of the voters in such town, parish, or place, issue a writ for their electing and sending a representative to the general court.

The members of the house of representatives shall be chosen annually in the month of March, and shall be the second branch of the legislature.

All persons qualified to vote in the election of senators shall be entitled to vote within the town, district, parish, or place where they dwell in the choice of representatives. Every member of the house of representatives shall be chosen by ballot; and for two years, at least, next preceding his election, shall have been an inhabitant of this state, shall have an estate within the town, parish, or place which he may be chosen to represent of the value of one hundred pounds, one half of which to be a freehold, whereof he is seized in his own right; shall be at the time of his election an inhabitant of the town, parish, or place he may be chosen to represent; shall be of the Protestant religion, and shall cease to represent such town, parish, or place immediately on his ceasing to be qualified as aforesaid.

The travel of each representative to the general assembly and returning home once in every session, and no more, shall be at the expense of the state, and the wages for his attendance at the expense of the town, parish, or places he represents; such members attending seasonably, and not departing without license. All intermediate vacancies in the house of representatives may be filled up from time to time in the same manner as annual elections are made.

The house of representatives shall be the grand inquest of the state, and all impeachments made by them shall be heard and tried by the senate.

All money bills shall originate in the house of representatives, but the senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills.

The house of representatives shall have power to adjourn themselves, but no longer than two days at a time.

A majority of the members of the house of representatives shall be a quorum for doing business: but when less than two thirds of the representatives elected shall be present, the assent of two thirds of those members shall be necessary to render their acts and proceedings valid.

No member of the house of representatives or senate shall be arrested or held to bail on mesne process during his going to, returning from, or attendance upon the court.

The house of representatives shall choose their own speaker, appoint their own officers, and settle the rules of proceedings in their own house. They shall have authority to punish, by imprisonment, every person who shall be guilty of disrespect to the house in its presence, by any disorderly and contemptuous behavior, or by threatening or ill-treating any of its members, or by obstructing its deliberations; every person guilty of a breach of its privileges in making arrests for debt, or by assaulting any member during his attendance at any session, in assaulting or disturbing any one of its officers in the execution of any order or procedure of the house, in assaulting any witness or other person ordered to attend by and during his attendance of the house, or in rescuing any person arrested by order of the house, knowing them to be such. The senate, president, and council shall have the same powers in like cases, provided that no imprisonment by either for any offence exceed ten days.

The journals of the proceedings of both houses of the general court shall be printed and published immediately after every adjournment or prorogation; and upon motion made by any one member, the yeas and nays upon any question shall be taken and entered in the journals.

EXECUTIVE POWER. — PRESIDENT.

There shall be a supreme executive magistrate, who shall be styled The President of the State of New Hampshire, and whose title shall be His Excellency.

The president shall be chosen annually; and no person shall be eligible to this office unless at the time of his election he shall have been an inhabitant of this state for seven years next preceding; and unless he shall be of the age of thirty years; and unless he shall, at the same time, have an estate of the value of five hundred pounds, one half of which shall consist of a freehold in his own right, within the state; and unless he shall be of the Protestant religion.

Those persons qualified to vote for senators and representatives shall, within the several towns, parishes, or places where they dwell, at a meeting to be called for that purpose, some day in the month of March annually, give in their votes for a president to the selectmen who shall preside at such meeting, and the clerk, in the presence and with the assistance of the selectmen, shall in open meeting sort and count the votes, and form a list of the persons voted for, with the number of votes for each person against his name, and shall make a fair record of the same in the town books, and a public declaration thereof in the said meeting; and shall, in the presence of said inhabitants, seal up a copy of said list, attested by him and the selectmen, and transmit the same to the sheriff of the county thirty days, at least, before the first Wednesday of June, or shall cause returns of the same to be made to the office of the secretary of the state seventeen days, at least, before said day, who shall lay the same before the senate and house of representatives on the first Wednesday of June, to be by them examined; and in case of an election by a majority of votes through the state, the choice shall be by them declared and published, but if no person shall have a majority of votes, the house of representatives shall by ballot elect two out of the four persons who had the highest number of votes, if so many shall have been voted for, but if otherwise, out of the number voted for, and make return to the senate of the two persons so elected, on which the senate shall proceed by ballot to elect one of them, who shall be declared president.

The president of the state shall preside in the senate, shall have a vote equal with any other member, and shall also have a casting vote in case of a tie.

The president, with advice of council, shall have full power and authority in the recess of the general court to prorogue the same from time to time, not exceeding ninety days in any one recess of said court; and during the session of said court to adjourn or prorogue it to any time the two houses may desire, and to call it together sooner than the time to which it may be adjourned or prorogued if the welfare of the state should require the same.

In cases of disagreement between the two houses with regard to the time of adjournment or prorogation, the president, with advice of council, shall have a right to adjourn or prorogue the general court, not exceeding ninety days at any one time, as he may determine the public good may require. And he shall dissolve the same seven days before the said first Wednesday of June. And in case of any infectious distemper prevailing in the place where the said court at any time is to convene, or any other cause whereby dangers may arise to the healths or lives of the members from their attendance, the president may direct the session to be holden at some other, the most convenient place within the state.

The president of this state for the time being shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy, and all the military forces of the state, by sea and land; and shall have full power by himself, or by any chief commander, or other officer or officers, from time to time, to train, instruct, exercise, and govern the militia and navy, and for the special defence and safety of this state to assemble in martial array and put in warlike posture the inhabitants thereof, and to lead and conduct them, and with them to encounter, expulse, repel, resist, and pursue by force of arms, as well by sea as by land, within and without the limits of this state, and also to kill, slay, destroy, if necessary, and conquer by all fitting ways, enterprise, and means, all and every such person and persons as shall, at any time hereafter, in a hostile manner attempt or enterprise the destruction, invasion, detriment, or annoyance of this state; and to use and exercise over the army and navy, and over the militia in actual service, the law martial in time of war, invasion, and also in rebellion, declared by the legislature to exist, as occasion shall necessarily require; and surprise by all ways and means whatsoever all and every such person or persons, with their ships, arms, ammunition, and other goods, as shall in a hostile manner invade or attempt the invading, conquering, or annoying this state; and, in fine, the president hereby is intrusted with all other powers incident to the office of captain-general, and commander-in-chief, and admiral, to be exercised agreeably to the rules and regulations of the constitution and the laws of the land; provided, that the president shall not at any time hereafter, by virtue of any power by this constitution granted, or hereafter to be granted to him by the legislature, transport any of the inhabitants of this state, or oblige them to march out of the limits of the same, without their free and voluntary consent, or the consent of the general court, nor grant commissions for exercising the law martial in any case without the advice and consent of the council.

The power of pardoning offences, except such as persons may be convicted of before the senate by impeachment of the house, shall be in the president, by and with the advice of the council; but no charter of pardon granted by the president, with advice of council, before conviction, shall avail the party pleading the same, notwithstanding any general or particular expressions contained therein, descriptive of the offence or offences intended to be pardoned.

All judicial officers, the attorney-general, solicitor-general, all sheriffs, coroners, registers of probate, and all officers of the navy, and general and field officers of the militia, shall be nominated and appointed by the president and council; and every such nomination shall be made at least seven days prior to such appointment, and no appointment shall take place unless three of the council agree thereto.

The captains and subalterns in the respective regiments shall be nominated and recommended by the field officers to the president, who is to issue their commissions immediately on receipt of such recommendation. No officer duly commissioned to command in the militia shall be removed from his office but by the address of both houses to the president, or by fair trial in court-martial, pursuant to the laws of the state for the time being.

The commanding officers of the regiments shall appoint their adjutants and quartermasters, the brigadiers their brigade-majors, the major-generals their aids, the captains and subalterns their non-commissioned officers. The president and council shall appoint all officers of the continental army, whom by the confederation of the United States it is provided that this state shall appoint, as also all officers of forts and garrisons.

The division of the militia into brigades, regiments, and companies, made in pursuance of the militia laws now in force, shall be considered as the proper division of the militia of this state until the same shall be altered by some future law.

No monies shall be issued out of the treasury of this state and disposed of (except such sums as may be appropriated for the redemption of bills of credit or treasurer's notes, or for the payment of interest arising thereon) but by warrant under the hand of the president for the time being, by and with the advice and consent of the council, for the necessary support and defence of this state, and for the necessary protection and preservation of the inhabitants thereof, agreeably to the acts and resolves of the general court.

All public boards, the commissary-general, all superintending officers of public magazines and stores belonging to this state, and all commanding officers of forts and garrisons within the same, shall once in every three months officially, and without requisition, and at other times when required by the president, deliver to him an account of all goods, stores, provisions, ammunition, cannon with their appendages, and small arms with their accoutrements, and of all other public property under their care respectively; distinguishing the quantity and kind of each as particularly as may be, together with the condition of such forts and garrisons; and the commanding officer shall exhibit to the president, when required by him, true and exact plans of such forts, and of the land and sea or harbor or harbors adjacent.

The president and council shall be compensated for their services from time to time by such grants as the general court shall think reasonable.

Permanent and honorable salaries shall be established by law for the justices of the superior court.

Whenever the chair of the president shall be vacant by reason of his death, absence from the state, or otherwise, the senior senator, for the time being, shall during such vacancy have and exercise all the powers and authorities which by this constitution the president is vested with when personally present.

COUNCIL.

Annually, on the first meeting of the general court, two members of the senate and three from the house of representatives shall be chosen by joint ballot of both houses as a council for advising the president in the executive part of government, whom the president for the time being shall have full power and authority to convene from time to time, at his discretion; and the president, with the councilors, or three of them at least, shall and may from time to time hold and keep a council for ordering and directing the affairs of the state according to the laws of the land. The qualifications for councilors shall be the same as those required for senators. The members of the council shall not intermeddle with the making or trying impeachments, but shall themselves be impeachable by the house and triable by the senate for malconduct.

The resolutions and advice of the council shall be recorded in a register, and signed by the members present; and this record may be called for at any time by either house of the legislature, and any member of the council may enter his opinion contrary to the resolution of the majority.

And, whereas, the elections appointed to be made by this constitution on the first Wednesday of June, annually, by the two houses of the legislature, may not be completed on that day, the said elections may be adjourned from day to day until the same shall be completed.

And the order of the elections shall be as follows: The vacancies in the senate, if any, shall be first filled up; the president shall then be elected, provided there should be no choice of him by the people; and afterwards the two houses shall proceed to the election of the council.

SECRETARY, TREASURER, COMMISSARY-GENERAL, ETC.

The secretary, treasurer, and commissary-general shall be chosen by joint ballot of the senators and representatives assembled in one room.

The records of the state shall be kept in the office of the secretary, who may appoint his deputies, for whose conduct he shall be answerable, and he shall attend the president and council, the senate and representatives, in person or by deputy, as they may require.

COUNTY TREASURER, ETC.

The county treasurers and registers of deeds shall be elected by the inhabitants of the several towns in the several counties in the state according to the method now practiced, and the present laws of the state; and before they enter upon the business of their offices, shall be respectively sworn faithfully to discharge the duties thereof, and shall severally give bond, with sufficient sureties, in a reasonable sum for the use of the county, for the punctual performance of their respective trusts.

JUDICIARY POWER.

The tenure that all commission officers shall have by law in their offices shall be expressed in their respective commissions. All judicial officers, duly appointed, commissioned, and sworn, shall hold their offices during good behavior, excepting those concerning whom there is a different provision made in this Constitution; provided, nevertheless, the president, with consent of council, may remove them upon the address of both houses of the legislature.

Each branch of the legislature, as well as the president and council, shall have authority to require the opinions of the justices of the superior court upon important questions of law, and upon solemn occasions.

In order that the people may not suffer from the long continuance in place of any justice of the peace who shall fail in discharging the important duties of his office with ability and fidelity, all commissions of justices of the peace shall become void at the expiration of five years from their respective dates; and upon the expiration of any commission, the same may, if necessary, be renewed, or another person appointed, as shall most conduce to the well-being of the state. The judges of probate of wills, and for granting letters of administration, shall hold their courts at such place or places, on such fixed days, as the convenience of the people may require; and the legislature shall, from time to time, hereafter appoint such times and places, until which appointments the said courts shall be holden at the times and places which the respective judges shall direct.

All causes of marriage, divorce, and alimony, and all appeals from the respective judges of probate, shall be heard and tried by the superior court, until the legislature shall by law make other provision.

CLERKS OF COURTS.

The clerks of the superior court of judicature, inferior courts of common pleas, and general sessions of the peace shall be appointed by the respective courts during pleasure; and to prevent any fraud or unfairness in the entries and records of said courts, no such clerk shall be of counsel in any cause in the court of which he is clerk, nor shall he fill any writ in any civil action whatsoever.

DELEGATES TO CONGRESS.

The delegates of this state to the congress of the United States shall, sometime between the first Wednesday of June and the first Wednesday of September, annually, be elected by the senate and house of representatives, in their separate branches, to serve in congress for one year, to commence on the first Monday in November then next ensuing.

They shall have commissions under the hand of the president and the great seal of the state, but may be recalled at any time within the year and others chosen and commissioned in the same manner in their stead; and they shall have the same qualifications in all respects as by this constitution are required for the president.

No person shall be capable of being a delegate to congress for more than three years in any term of six years; nor shall any person, being a delegate, be capable of holding any office under the United States for which he, or any other for his benefit, receives any salary or emolument of any kind.

ENCOURAGEMENT OF LITERATURE, ETC.

Knowledge and learning generally diffused through a community being essential to the preservation of a free government, and spreading the opportunities and advantages of education through the various parts of the country being highly conducive to promote this end, it shall be the duty of the legislators and the magistrates in all future periods of this government to cherish the interest of literature and the sciences, and all seminaries and public schools; to encourage public and private institutions, rewards and immunities for the promotion of agriculture, arts, sciences, commerce, trades, manufactures, and natural history of the country; to countenance and inculcate the principles of humanity and general benevolence, public and private charity, industry and economy, honesty and punctuality, sincerity, sobriety, and all social affections and generous sentiments among the people.

OATH AND SUBSCRIPTIONS ; EXCLUSION FROM OFFICES ; COMMISSIONS ; WRITS; CONFIRMATION OF LAWS ; HABEAS CORPUS; THE ENACTING STYLE ; CONTINUANCE OF OFFICERS ; PROVISION FOR A FUTURE REVISION OF THE CONSTITUTION, ETC.

Any person chosen president, councilor, senator, or representative, military or civil officer (town officers excepted), accepting the trust, shall, before he proceeds to execute the duties of his office, make and subscribe the following declaration, viz.:

I, A B, do truly and sincerely acknowledge, profess, testify, and declare that the State of New Hampshire is, and of right ought to be, a free, sovereign, and independent state, and do swear that I will bear faith and true allegiance to the same, and that I will endeavor to defend it against all treacherous conspiracies and hostile attempts whatever; and I do further testify and declare that no man or body of men hath or can have a right to absolve me from the obligation of this oath, declaration, or affirmation, and that I do make this acknowledgment, profession, testimony, and declaration honestly and truly, according to the common acceptation of the foregoing words, without any equivocation, mental evasion, or secret reservation whatever. So help me God.

I, A B, do solemnly and sincerely swear and affirm that I will faithfully and impartially discharge and perform all the duties incumbent on me as ——— ——— ———, according to the best of my abilities, agreeably to the rules and regulations of this constitution, and the laws of the State of New Hampshire. So help me God.

Provided, always, when any person chosen or appointed as aforesaid shall be of the denomination called Quakers, or shall be scrupulous of swearing, and shall decline taking the said oaths, such shall take and subscribe them omitting the word "swear" and likewise the words "So help me God," subjoining instead thereof, "This I do under the pains and penalties of perjury."

And the oaths or affirmations shall be taken and subscribed by the president before the senior senator present, in the presence of the two houses of assembly ; and by the senate and representatives first elected under this constitution, before the president and three of the council of the former constitution, and forever afterwards before the president and council for the time being ; and by the residue of the officers aforesaid, before such persons and in such manner as from time to time shall be prescribed by the legislature.

All commissions shall be in the name of the state of New Hampshire, signed by the president and attested by the secretary or his deputy, and shall have the great seal of the state affixed thereto.

All writs issuing out of the clerk's office in any of the courts of law shall be in the name of the state of New Hampshire, shall be under the seal of the court whence they issue, and bear test of the chief, first, or senior justice of the court ; but when such justice shall be interested, then the writ shall bear test of some other justice of the court, to which the same shall be returnable, and be signed by the clerk of such court.

All indictments, presentments, and informations shall conclude against the peace and dignity of the state.

The estates of such persons as may destroy their own lives shall not for that offence be forfeited, but descend or ascend in the same manner as if such persons had died in a natural way. Nor shall any article which shall accidentally occasion the death of any person be henceforth deemed a deodand, or in any wise forfeited on account of such misfortune.

All the laws which have heretofore been adopted, used, and approved in the province, colony, or state of New Hampshire, and usually practiced on in the courts of law, shall remain and be in full force until altered and repealed by the legislature ; such parts thereof only excepted as are repugnant to the rights and liberties contained in this constitution ; provided, that nothing herein contained, when compared with the twenty-third article in the bill of rights, shall be construed to affect the laws already made respecting the persons or estates of absentees.

The privilege and benefit of the habeas corpus shall be enjoyed in this state in the most free, easy, cheap, expeditious, and ample manner, and shall not be suspended by the legislature except upon the most urgent and pressing occasions, and for a time not exceeding three months.

The enacting style in making and passing acts, statutes, and laws, shall be, Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives in general court convened.

No president or judge of the superior court shall hold any office or place under the authority of this state except such as by this constitution they are admitted to hold, saving that the judges of the said court may hold the offices of justices of the peace throughout the state; nor shall they hold any place or office, or receive any pension or salary, from any other state, government, or power whatever.

No person shall be capable of exercising at the same time more than one of the following offices within this state, viz., judge of probate, sheriff, register of deeds; and never more than two offices of profit which may be held by appointment of the president, or president and council, or senate and house of representatives, or superior or inferior courts; military offices and offices of justices of the peace excepted.

No person holding the office of judge of the superior court, secretary, treasurer of the state, judge of probate, attorney-general, commissary-general, judge of the maritime court, or judge of the court of admiralty, military officers receiving pay from the continent or this state, excepting officers of the militia occasionally called forth on an emergency, judge of the inferior court of common pleas, register of deeds, president, professor, or instructor of any college, sheriff, or officer of the customs, including naval officers, shall at the same time have a seat in the senate, or house of representatives, or council; but their being chosen or appointed to, and accepting the same, shall operate as a resignation of their seat in the senate, or house of representatives, or council; and the place so vacated shall be filled up.

No person shall ever be admitted to hold a seat in the legislature, or any office of trust or importance under the government, who in the due course of law has been convicted of bribery or corruption in obtaining an election or appointment.

In all cases where sums of money are mentioned in this constitution, the value thereof shall be computed in silver at six shillings and eight pence per ounce.

To the end that there may be no failure of justice, or danger arise to this state from a change of the form of government, all civil and military officers, holding commissions under the government and people of New Hampshire, and other officers of the said government and people, at the time this constitution shall take effect, shall hold, exercise, and enjoy all the powers and authorities to them granted and committed until other persons shall be appointed in their stead. All courts of law in the business of their respective departments, and the executive and legislative bodies and persons, shall continue in full force, enjoyment, and exercise of all their trusts and employments until the general court and the supreme and other executive officers under this constitution are designated and invested with their respective trusts, powers, and authority.

This form of government shall be enrolled on parchment and deposited in the secretary's office, and be a part of the laws of the land, and printed copies thereof shall be prefixed to the books containing the laws of this state in all future editions thereof.

To preserve an effectual adherence to the principles of the constitution, and to correct any violations thereof, as well as to make such alterations therein as from experience may be found necessary, the general court shall, at the expiration of seven years from the time this constitution shall take effect, issue precepts, or direct them to be issued from the secretary's office, to the several towns and incorporated places, to elect delegates to meet in convention for the purposes aforesaid; the said delegates to be chosen in the same manner and proportioned as the representatives to the general assembly; provided, that no alteration shall be made in this constitution before the same shall be laid before the towns and unincorporated places, and approved by two thirds of the qualified voters present, and voting upon the question.

IN CONVENTION HELD AT CONCORD,

The 31st Day of October, 1783.

The returns from the several towns being examined, and it appearing that the foregoing bill of rights and form of government were approved of by the people, the same are hereby agreed on and established by the delegates of the people, and declared to be the civil constitution for the state of New Hampshire, to take place on the first Wednesday in June, 1784; and that in the meantime the general court, under the present government, make all the necessary arrangements for introducing this constitution at that time, and in the manner therein described.

NATHANIEL FOLSOM,
President P. T.

Attest:

J. M. SEWALL, Secretary.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTIONS, 1791—1889.

Pursuant to the provisions of the constitution of 1784, the legislature, in June, 1791, ordered precepts to be issued to the several towns and places in this state to elect delegates to a convention to revise the constitution. Accordingly town meetings were held and delegates chosen on the 8th day of August, 1791. The convention met in Concord on the 7th day of September following, and continued in session until the 16th of the same month, when, after having appointed a committee to which were referred the constitution and the amendments that had been proposed in convention, they adjourned to the 8th day of February, 1792.

The convention reassembled according to adjournment, and proceeded to the consideration of the report of the committee. After adopting seventy-two amendments and making provision for submitting them to the people for ratification or rejection at town meetings to be held on the 7th day of May, 1792, the convention again adjourned to the 30th of the same month. Reassembled according to adjournment, the convention found on canvassing the returns from the several towns that forty-six of the seventy-two amendments had been ratified by the people. But on account of the rejection of so many of the proposed amendments, there were some inconsistencies in the constitution as adopted by the people, to correct which others were prepared and sent to the people to be voted on on the 27th day of August, 1792.

The convention on June 5 adjourned to the 5th day of September, when they reassembled, and finding that the supplementary amendments had been ratified, dissolved on the same day, having been in existence one year less one day.

By an act of the legislature approved December 14, 1792, that part of the new constitution relating to the election of officers took effect on the first day of February, 1793, and the whole of said constitution took effect on the first Wednesday of June of the same year. Notwithstanding several attempts were made to revise it, the constitution of 1793, without alteration, was the fundamental law of the state for nearly sixty years.

The following table shows the dates of the approval of the several acts of the legislature subsequent to 1793, providing for taking the sense of the qualified voters on the expediency of calling a convention to revise the constitution, and the aggregate affirmative and negative votes on the question as returned by the town clerks:

DATE OF ACT.		Yea.	Nay.
1820	December 11	2,407	13,853
1837	July 1	2,821	16,830
1857	June 27	2,822	18,449
1862	July 9	1,044	12,428
1868	July 2	No vote on record.
1885	August 13	11,466	10,213

The vote under the act of 1849 showing a large majority in favor of calling a convention, the legislature of 1850, by an act approved July 8, provided for a convention and appropriated forty thousand dollars to pay its expenses.

The convention met in Concord on the 6th day of November, 1850, and continued in session, with one adjournment from the 22d of November to the 3d of December, until the 3d day of January, 1851. On that day, having adopted many amendments and provided for submitting them to the qualified voters of the state, they again adjourned to the 16th of April then next. The popular sentiment was strongly against the action of the convention, as was shown by the canvass of the returns of the votes cast, every proposed amendment having received a large majority against it.

The convention adjourned, without day, on the 17th of April, 1851, after having at the adjourned session prepared and provided for submitting to the qualified voters three amendments, — abolishing the religious test, the property qualification, and providing a new mode of amending the constitution. The amendment abolishing the property qualification was ratified, the other two were rejected.

Under the acts of 1860 and 1864, a majority of the votes in each case was in favor of calling a convention, but the legislature did not deem it expedient to call one.

A convention met in Concord on the 6th day of December, 1876, the legal voters under the act of 1875 having given a large majority in favor of such a convention. The convention was in session eleven days. All of its proposed amendments excepting two were ratified by the legal voters. The journal of that convention was published and distributed throughout the state.

Under the act of 1885 a small vote was cast, but a majority being in favor of a convention, the legislature of 1887 made provision for one. It met in Concord on the 2d day of January, 1889, and finally adjourned on the 11th day of the same month. It proposed several amendments, all but two of which were ratified by the people.

The following is the constitution as amended by that convention and ratified by the legal voters on the 12th day of March, 1889:

PART FIRST.

BILL OF RIGHTS.

ARTICLE 1. All men are born equally free and independent; therefore all government of right originates from the people, is founded in consent, and instituted for the general good.

ART. 2. All men have certain natural, essential, and inherent rights; among which are the enjoying and defending life and liberty; acquiring, possessing, and protecting property; and, in a word, of seeking and obtaining happiness.

ART. 3. When men enter into a state of society they surrender up some of their natural rights to that society in order to insure the protection of others; and without such an equivalent the surrender is void.

ART. 4. Among the natural rights, some are in their very nature unalienable, because no equivalent can be given or conceived for them. Of this kind are the RIGHTS OF CONSCIENCE.

Art. 5. Every individual has a natural and unalienable right to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience and reason; and no subject shall be hurt, molested, or restrained in his person, liberty, or estate for worshiping God in the manner and season most agreeable to the dictates of his own conscience, or for his religious profession, sentiments, or persuasion, provided he doth not disturb the public peace, or disturb others in their religious worship.

Art. 6. As morality and piety, rightly grounded on evangelical principles, will give the best and greatest security to government, and will lay in the hearts of men the strongest obligations to due subjection, and as the knowledge of these is most likely to be propagated through a society by the institution of the public worship of the Deity and of public instruction in morality and religion, therefore, to promote these important purposes, the people of this state have a right to empower, and do hereby fully empower, the legislature to authorize, from time to time, the several towns, parishes, bodies corporate, or religious societies within this state to make adequate provision, at their own expense, for the support and maintenance of public Protestant teachers of piety, religion, and morality. Provided, notwithstanding, that the several towns, parishes, bodies corporate, or religious societies shall at all times have the exclusive right of electing their own public teachers, and of contracting with them for their support and maintenance. And no person of any one particular religious sect or denomination shall ever be compelled to pay toward the support of the teacher or teachers of another persuasion, sect, or denomination. And every denomination of Christians, demeaning themselves quietly and as good subjects of the state, shall be equally under the protection of the law; and no subordination of any one sect or denomination to another shall ever be established by law. And nothing herein shall be understood to affect any former contracts made for the support of the ministry; but all such contracts shall remain and be in the same state as if this constitution had not been made.

Art. 7. The people of this state have the sole and exclusive right of governing themselves as a free, sovereign, and independent state, and do, and forever hereafter shall, exercise and enjoy every power, jurisdiction, and right pertaining thereto which is not or may not hereafter be by them expressly delegated to the United States of America in congress assembled.

Art. 8. All power residing originally in, and being derived from, the people, all the magistrates and officers of government are their substitutes and agents, and at all times accountable to them.

Art. 9. No office or place whatsoever in government shall be hereditary, the abilities and integrity requisite in all not being transmissible to posterity or relations.

Art. 10. Government being instituted for the common benefit, protection, and security of the whole community, and not for the private interest or emolument of any one man, family, or class of men, therefore, whenever the ends of government are perverted and public liberty manifestly endangered, and all other means of redress are ineffectual, the people may, and of right ought to, reform the old or establish a new government. The doctrine of non-resistance against arbitrary power and oppression is absurd, slavish, and destructive of the good and happiness of mankind.

ART. 11. All elections ought to be free; and every inhabitant of the state, having the proper qualifications, has equal right to elect and be elected into office.

ART. 12. Every member of the community has a right to be protected by it in the enjoyment of his life, liberty, and property. He is, therefore, bound to contribute his share in the expense of such protection, and to yield his personal service, when necessary, or an equivalent. But no part of a man's property shall be taken from him or applied to public uses without his own consent or that of the representative body of the people. Nor are the inhabitants of this state controllable by any other laws than those to which they or their representative body have given their consent.

ART. 13. No person who is conscientiously scrupulous about the lawfulness of bearing arms shall be compelled thereto, provided he will pay an equivalent.

ART. 14. Every subject of this state is entitled to a certain remedy, by having recourse to the laws, for all injuries he may receive in his person, property, or character; to obtain right and justice freely, without being obliged to purchase it; completely and without any denial; promptly, and without any delay; conformably to the laws.

ART. 15. No subject shall be held to answer for any crime or offence until the same is fully and plainly, substantially and formally, described to him, or be compelled to accuse or furnish evidence against himself. And every subject shall have a right to produce all proofs that may be favorable to himself, to meet the witnesses against him face to face, and to be fully heard in his defence by himself and counsel. And no subject shall be arrested, imprisoned, despoiled, or deprived of his property, immunities, or privileges, put out of the protection of the law, exiled, or deprived of his life, liberty, or estate, but by the judgment of his peers or the laws of the land.

ART. 16. No subject shall be liable to be tried, after an acquittal, for the same crime or offence; nor shall the legislature make any law that shall subject any person to a capital punishment (excepting for the government of the army and navy, and the militia in actual service) without trial by jury.

ART. 17. In criminal prosecutions, the trial of facts in the vicinity where they happen is so essential to the security of the life, liberty, and estate of the citizen, that no crime or offence ought to be tried in any other county than that in which it is committed, except in cases of general insurrection in any particular county, when it shall appear to the judges of the superior court that an impartial trial cannot be had in the county where the offence may be committed, and, upon their report, the legislature shall think proper to direct the trial in the nearest county in which an impartial trial can be obtained.

Art. 18. All penalties ought to be proportioned to the nature of the offence. No wise legislature will affix the same punishment to the crimes of theft, forgery, and the like, which they do to those of murder and treason. Where the same undistinguishing severity is exerted against all offences, the people are led to forget the real distinction in the crimes themselves, and to commit the most flagrant with as little compunction as they do the lightest offences. For the same reason, a multitude of sanguinary laws is both impolitic and unjust, the true design of all punishment being to reform, not to exterminate, mankind.

Art. 19. Every subject hath a right to be secure from all unreasonable searches and seizures of his person, his houses, his papers, and all his possessions. Therefore, all warrants to search suspected places, or arrest a person for examination or trial, in prosecutions for criminal matters, are contrary to this right, if the cause or foundation of them be not previously supported by oath or affirmation, and if the order, in a warrant to a civil officer to make search in suspected places, or to arrest one or more suspected persons, or to seize their property, be not accompanied with a special designation of the persons or objects of search, arrest, or seizure; and no warrant ought to be issued but in cases and with the formalities prescribed. by law.

Art. 20. In all controversies concerning property and in all suits between two or more persons, except in cases in which it has been heretofore otherwise used and practiced, and except in cases in which the value in controversy does not exceed one hundred dollars and title of real estate is not concerned, the parties have a right to trial by jury; and this method of procedure shall be held sacred, unless, in cases arising on the high seas and such as relate to mariners' wages, the legislature shall think it necessary hereafter to alter it.

Art. 21. In order to reap the fullest advantage of the inestimable privilege of trial by jury, great care ought to be taken that none but qualified persons should be appointed to serve; and such ought to be fully compensated for their travel, time, and attendance.

Art. 22. The liberty of the press is essential to the security of freedom in a state; it ought, therefore, to be inviolably preserved.

Art. 23. Retrospective laws are highly injurious, oppressive, and unjust. No such laws, therefore, should be made, either for the decision of civil causes or the punishment of offences.

Art. 24. A well-regulated militia is the proper, natural, and sure defence of a state.

Art. 25. Standing armies are dangerous to liberty, and ought not to be raised or kept up without the consent of the legislature.

Art. 26. In all cases and at all times the military ought to be under strict subordination to, and governed by, the civil power.

Art. 27. No soldier in time of peace shall be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner; and in time of war such quarters ought not to be made but by the civil magistrate, in a manner ordained by the legislature.

ART. 28. No subsidy, charge, tax, impost, or duty shall be established, fixed, laid, or levied, under any pretext whatsoever, without the consent of the people or their representatives in the legislature, or authority derived from that body.

ART. 29. The power of suspending the laws or the execution of them ought never to be exercised but by the legislature, or by authority derived therefrom, to be exercised in such particular cases only as the legislature shall expressly provide for.

ART. 30. The freedom of deliberation, speech, and debate in either house of the legislature is so essential to the rights of the people that it cannot be the foundation of any action, complaint, or prosecution in any other court or place whatsoever.

ART. 31. The legislature shall assemble for the redress of public grievances and for making such laws as the public good may require.

ART. 32. The people have a right, in an orderly and peaceable manner, to assemble and consult upon the common good, give instructions to their representatives, and to request of the legislative body, by way of petition or remonstrance, redress of the wrongs done them, and of the grievances they suffer.

ART. 33. No magistrate or court of law shall demand excessive bail or sureties, impose excessive fines, or inflict cruel or unusual punishments.

ART. 34. No person can in any case be subjected to law martial or to any pains or penalties by virtue of that law, except those employed in the army or navy, and except the militia in actual service, but by authority of the legislature.

ART. 35. It is essential to the preservation of the rights of every individual, his life, liberty, property, and character, that there be an impartial interpretation of the laws and administration of justice. It is the right of every citizen to be tried by judges as impartial as the lot of humanity will admit. It is, therefore, not only the best policy, but for the security of the rights of the people that the judges of the supreme judicial court should hold their offices so long as they behave well, subject, however, to such limitations on account of age as may be provided by the constitution of the state; and that they should have honorable salaries, ascertained and established by standing law.

ART. 36. Economy being a most essential virtue in all states, especially in a young one, no pension should be granted but in consideration of actual services; and such pensions ought to be granted with great caution by the legislature, and never for more than one year at a time.

ART. 37. In the government of this state, the three essential powers thereof — to wit, the legislative, executive, and judicial — ought to be kept as separate from, and independent of, each other as the nature of a free government will admit, or as is consistent with that chain of connection that binds the whole fabric of the constitution in one indissoluble bond of union and amity.

ART. 38. A frequent recurrence to the fundamental principles of the constitution, and a constant adherence to justice, moderation, temperance, industry, frugality, and all the social virtues, are indispensably necessary to preserve the blessings of liberty and good government. The people ought, therefore, to have a particular regard to all those principles in the choice of their officers and representatives; and they have a right to require of their lawgivers and magistrates an exact and constant observance of them in the formation and execution of the laws necessary for the good administration of government.

PART SECOND.

FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

ARTICLE 1. The people inhabiting the territory formerly called The Province of New Hampshire do hereby solemnly and mutually agree with each other to form themselves into a free, sovereign, and independent body politic, or state, by the name of THE STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

GENERAL COURT.

ART. 2. The supreme legislative power within this state shall be vested in the senate and house of representatives, each of which shall have a negative on the other.

ART. 3. The senate and house shall assemble biennially, on the first Wednesday of January, and at such other times as they may judge necessary, and shall dissolve and be dissolved seven days next preceding the said first Wednesday of January biennially, and shall be styled THE GENERAL COURT OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

ART. 4. The general court shall forever have full power and authority to erect and constitute judicatories and courts of record or other courts, to be holden in the name of the state, for the hearing, trying, and determining all manner of crimes, offences, pleas, processes, plaints, actions, causes, matters and things whatsoever, arising or happening within this state, or between or concerning persons inhabiting, or residing,or brought within the same, whether the same be criminal or civil, or whether the crimes be capital or not capital, and whether the said pleas be real, personal, or mixed, and for the awarding and issuing execution thereon, to which courts and judicatories are hereby given and granted full power and authority, from time to time, to administer oaths or affirmations for the better discovery of truth in any matter in controversy or depending before them.

ART. 5. And, further, full power and authority are hereby given and granted to the said General Court, from time to time, to make, ordain, and establish all manner of wholesome and reasonable orders, laws, statutes, ordinances, directions, and instructions, either with penalties or without, so as the same be not repugnant or contrary to this constitution, as they may judge for the benefit and welfare of this state and for the governing and ordering thereof and of the subjects of the same, for the necessary support and defence of the government thereof; and to name and settle biennially, or provide by fixed laws for the naming and settling of, all civil officers within this state, such officers excepted the election and appointment of whom are hereafter in this form of government otherwise provided for; and to set forth the several duties, powers, and limits of the several civil and military officers of this state, and the forms of such oaths or affirmations as shall be respectively administered unto them for the execution of their several offices and places, so as the same be not repugnant or contrary to this constitution; and also to impose fines, mulcts, imprisonments, and other punishments; and to impose and levy proportional and reasonable assessments, rates, and taxes upon all the inhabitants of, and residents within, the said state, and upon all estates within the same, to be issued and disposed of by warrant, under the hand of the governor of this state for the time being, with the advice and consent of the council, for the public service, in the necessary defence and support of the government of this state and the protection and preservation of the subjects thereof, according to such acts as are or shall be in force within the same. Provided, that the general court shall not authorize any town to loan or give its money or credit, directly or indirectly, for the benefit of any corporation having for its object a dividend of profits, or in any way aid the same by taking its stock or bonds.

ART. 6. And, while the public charges of government or any part thereof shall be assessed on polls and estates in the manner that has heretofore been practiced, in order that such assessments may be made with equality, there shall be a valuation of the estates within the state taken anew once in every five years, at least, and as much oftener as the general court shall order.

ART. 7. No member of the general court shall take fees, be of counsel, or act as advocate in any cause before either branch of the legislature; and upon due proof thereof, such member shall forfeit his seat in the legislature.

ART. 8. The doors of the galleries of each house of the legislature shall be kept open to all persons who behave decently, except when the welfare of the state, in the opinion of either branch, shall require secrecy.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

ART. 9. There shall be, in the legislature of the state, a representation of the people, biennially elected, and founded upon the principles of equality; and, in order that such representation may be as equal as circumstances will admit, every town, or place entitled to town privileges, and wards of cities having six hundred inhabitants by the last general census of the state, taken by authority of the United States or of this state, may elect one representative; if eighteen hundred such inhabitants, may elect two representatives; and so proceeding in that proportion, making twelve hundred such inhabitants the mean increasing number for any additional representative. Provided, that no town shall be divided or the boundaries of the wards of any city so altered as to increase the number of representatives to which such town or city may be entitled by the next preceding census; and provided further, that to those towns and cities which since the last census have been divided or had their boundaries or ward lines changed, the general court, in session next before these amendments shall take effect, shall equitably apportion representation in such manner that the number shall not be greater than it would have been had no such division or alteration been made.

ART. 10. Whenever any town, place, or city ward shall have less than six hundred such inhabitants, the general court shall authorize such town, place, or ward to elect and send to the general court a representative, such proportionate part of the time as the number of its inhabitants shall bear to six hundred; but the general court shall not authorize any such town, place, or ward to elect and send such representative, except as herein provided.

ART. 11. The members of the house of representatives shall be chosen biennially, in the month of November, and shall be the second branch of the legislature.

ART. 12. All persons qualified to vote in the election of senators shall be entitled to vote within the district where they dwell, in the choice of representatives.

ART. 13. Every member of the house of representatives shall be chosen by ballot, and for two years, at least, next preceding his election, shall have been an inhabitant of this state; shall be, at the time of his election, an inhabitant of the town, parish, or place he may be chosen to represent; and shall cease to represent such town, parish, or place immediately on his ceasing to be qualified as aforesaid.

ART. 14. The presiding officers of both houses of the legislature shall severally receive out of the state treasury as compensation in full for their services, for the term elected, the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars, and all other members thereof seasonably attending and not departing without license, the sum of two hundred dollars, exclusive of mileage; provided, however, that when a special session shall be called by the governor, such officers and members shall receive for attendance an additional compensation of three dollars per day for a period not exceeding fifteen days, and the usual mileage.

ART. 15. All intermediate vacancies in the house of representatives may be filled up, from time to time, in the same manner as biennial elections are made.

ART. 16. The house of representatives shall be the grand inquest of the state, and all impeachments made by them shall be heard and tried by the senate.

ART. 17. All money bills shall originate in the house of representatives; but the senate may propose or concur with amendments, as on other bills.

ART. 18. The house of representatives shall have power to adjourn themselves, but no longer than two days at a time.

ART. 19. A majority of the members of the house of representatives shall be a quorum for doing business, but, when less than two thirds of the representatives elected shall be present, the assent of two thirds of those members shall be necessary to render their acts and proceedings valid.

ART. 20. No member of the house of representatives or senate shall be arrested or held to bail on mesne process, during his going to, returning from, or attendance upon the court.

ART. 21. The house of representatives shall choose their own speaker, appoint their own officers, and settle the rules of proceedings in their own house, and shall be judge of the returns, elections, and qualifications of its members, as pointed out in this constitution. They shall have authority to punish by imprisonment every person who shall be guilty of disrespect to the house, in its presence, by any disorderly and contemptuous behavior, or by threatening or ill-treating any of its members, or by obstructing its deliberations; every person guilty of a breach of its privileges in making arrests for debt, or by assaulting any member during his attendance at any session; in assaulting or disturbing any one of its officers in the execution of any order or procedure of the house; in assaulting any witness or other person ordered to attend by, and during his attendance of, the house, or in rescuing any person arrested by order of the house, knowing them to be such.

ART. 22. The senate, governor, and council shall have the same powers in like cases, provided, that no imprisonment by either for any offence exceed ten days.

ART. 23. The journals of the proceedings and all public acts of both houses of the legislature shall be printed and published immediately after every adjournment or prorogation, and, upon motion made by any one member, the yeas and nays upon any question shall be entered on the journal, and any member of the senate or house of representatives shall have a right, on motion made at the same time for that purpose, to have his protest or dissent, with the reasons, against any vote, resolve, or bill passed, entered on the journal.

SENATE.

ART. 24. The senate shall consist of twenty-four members, who shall hold their office for two years from the first Wednesday of January next ensuing their election.

ART. 25. And, that the state may be equally represented in the senate, the legislature shall, from time to time, divide the state into twenty-four districts, as nearly equal as may be without dividing towns and unincorporated places; and, in making this division, they shall govern themselves by the proportion of direct taxes paid by the said districts, and timely make known to the inhabitants of the state the limits of each district.

ART. 26. The freeholders and other inhabitants of each district, qualified as in this constitution is provided, shall, biennially, give in their votes for a senator at some meeting holden in the month of November.

ART. 27. The senate shall be the first branch of the legislature, and the senators shall be chosen in the following manner, viz.: Every male inhabitant of each town, and parish with town privileges, and places unincorporated, in this state, of twenty-one years of age and upward, excepting paupers and persons excused from paying taxes at their own request, shall have a right, at the biennial or other meetings of the inhabitants of said towns and parishes, to be duly warned and holden biennially, forever, in the month of November, to vote, in the town or parish wherein he dwells, for the senator in the district whereof he is a member.

ART. 28. Provided, nevertheless, that no person shall be capable of being elected a senator who is not of the age of thirty years, and who shall not have been an inhabitant of this state for seven years immediately preceding his election; and at the time thereof, he shall be an inhabitant of the district for which he shall be chosen.

ART. 29. And every person qualified as the constitution provides shall be considered an inhabitant, for the purpose of electing and being elected into any office or place within this state, in the town, parish, and plantation where he dwelleth and hath his home.

ART. 30. And the inhabitants of plantations and places unincorporated, qualified as this constitution provides, who are or shall be required to assess taxes upon themselves toward the support of government, or shall be taxed therefor, shall have the same privilege of voting for senators, in the plantations and places wherein they reside, as the inhabitants of the respective towns and parishes aforesaid have. And the meetings of such plantations and places, for that purpose, shall be holden biennially in the month of November, at such places respectively therein as the assessors thereof shall direct; which assessors shall have like authority for notifying the electors, collecting and returning the votes, as the selectmen and town clerks have in their several towns by this constitution.

ART. 31. The meetings for the choice of governor, council, and senators shall be warned by warrant from the selectmen, and governed by a moderator, who shall in the presence of the selectmen (whose duty it shall be to attend), in open meeting, receive the votes of all the inhabitants of such towns and parishes present and qualified to vote for senators ; and shall, in said meetings, in presence of the said selectmen and of the town clerk in said meetings, sort and count the said votes, and make a public declaration thereof, with the name of every person voted for and the number of votes for each person; and the town clerk shall make a fair record of the same, at large, in the town book, and shall make out a fair attested copy thereof, to be by him sealed up and directed to the secretary of the state, with a superscription expressing the purport thereof; and the said town clerk shall cause such attested copy to be delivered to the sheriff of the county in which said town or parish shall lie thirty days, at least, before the first Wednesday of January, or to the secretary of the state at least twenty days before the said first Wednesday of January; and the sheriff of each county or his deputy shall deliver all such certificates by him received into the secretary's office at least twenty days before the first Wednesday of January.

ART. 32. And, that there may be a due meeting of senators on the first Wednesday of January, biennially, the governor and a majority of the council for the time being shall, as soon as may be, examine the returned copies of such records, and, fourteen days before the first Wednesday of January he shall issue his summons to such persons as appear to be chosen senators by a majority of votes to attend and take their seats on that day; provided, nevertheless, that, for the first year, the said returned copies shall be examined by the president and a majority of the council then in office; and the said president shall, in like manner, notify the persons elected to attend and take their seats accordingly.

ART. 33. And, in case there shall not appear to be a senator elected by a majority of votes for any district, the deficiency shall be supplied in the following manner, viz.: the members of the house of representatives and such senators as shall be declared elected shall take the names of the two persons having the highest number of votes in the district, and out of them shall elect, by joint ballot, the senator wanted for such district; and, in this manner, all such vacancies shall be filled up in every district of the state; all vacancies in the senate arising by death, removal out of the state, or otherwise, except from failure to elect, shall be filled by a new election by the people of the district upon the requisition of the governor as soon as may be after such vacancies shall happen.

ART. 34. The senate shall be final judges of the elections, returns, and qualifications of their own members, as pointed out in this constitution.

ART. 35. The senate shall have power to adjourn themselves, provided such adjournment do not exceed two days at a time; provided, nevertheless, that, whenever they shall sit on the trial of any impeachment, they may adjourn to such time and place as they may think proper, although the legislature be not assembled on such day or at such place.

ART. 36. The senate shall appoint their president and other officers and determine their own rules of proceedings. And not less than thirteen members of the senate shall make a quorum for doing business; and, when less than sixteen senators shall be present, the assent of ten, at least, shall be necessary to render their acts and proceedings valid.

Art. 37. The senate shall be a court, with full power and authority to hear, try, and determine all impeachments made by the house of representatives against any officer or officers of the state, for bribery, corruption, malpractice, or maladministration in office, with full power to issue summons or compulsory process for convening witnesses before them; but, previous to the trial of any such impeachment, the members of the senate shall respectively be sworn truly and impartially to try and determine the charge in question, according to evidence. And every officer impeached for bribery, corruption, malpractice, or maladministration in office shall be served with an attested copy of the impeachment and order of senate thereon, with such citation as the senate may direct, setting forth the time and place of their sitting to try the impeachment; which service shall be made by the sheriff, or such other sworn officer as the senate may appoint, at least fourteen days previous to the time of trial; and, such citation being duly served and returned, the senate may proceed in the hearing of the impeachment, giving the person impeached, if he shall appear, full liberty of producing witnesses and proofs and of making his defence by himself and counsel; and may, also, upon his refusing or neglecting to appear, hear the proofs in support of the impeachment, and render judgment thereon, his non-appearance notwithstanding; and such judgment shall have the same force and effect as if the person impeached had appeared and pleaded in the trial.

Art. 38. Their judgment, however, shall not extend further than removal from office, disqualification to hold or enjoy any place of honor, trust, or profit under this state; but the party so convicted shall, nevertheless, be liable to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment, according to the laws of the land.

Art. 39. Whenever the governor shall be impeached, the chief justice of the supreme judicial court shall, during the trial, preside in the senate, but have no vote therein.

EXECUTIVE POWER. — GOVERNOR.

Art. 40. There shall be a supreme executive magistrate, who shall be styled Governor of the State of New Hampshire, and whose title shall be His Excellency.

Art. 41. The governor shall be chosen biennially, in the month of November, and the votes for governor shall be received, sorted, counted, certified, and returned in the same manner as the votes for senators; and the secretary shall lay the same before the senate and house of representatives on the first Wednesday of January, to be by them examined; and, in case of an election by a majority of votes through the state, the choice shall be by them declared and published; and the qualifications of electors of the governor shall be the same as those for senators; and, if no person shall have a majority of votes, the senate and house of representatives shall, by a joint ballot, elect one of the two persons having the highest number of votes, who shall be declared governor. And no person shall be eligible to this office unless, at the time of his election, he shall have been an inhabitant of this state for seven years next preceding, and unless he shall be of the age of thirty years.

ART. 42. In case of disagreement between the two houses with regard to the time or place of adjournment or prorogation, the governor, with advice of council, shall have the right to adjourn or prorogue the general court, not exceeding ninety days at any one time, as he may determine the public good may require; and he shall dissolve the same seven days before the said first Wednesday of January. And, in case of any infectious distemper prevailing in the place where the said court at any time is to convene, or any other cause whereby dangers may arise to the health or lives of the members from their attendance, the governor may direct the session to be holden at some other, the most convenient, place within the state.

ART. 43. Every bill which shall have passed both houses of the general court shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor; if he approve, he shall sign it, but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with such objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered; and, if approved by two thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But, in all such cases, the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays; and the names of the persons voting for or against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within five days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the legislature, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

ART. 44. Every resolve shall be presented to the governor, and before the same shall take affect, shall be approved by him, or, being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by the senate and house of representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

ART. 45. All judicial officers, the attorney-general, coroners, and all officers of the navy and general and field officers of the militia shall be nominated and appointed by the governor and council; and every such nomination shall be made at least three days prior to such appointment; and no appointment shall take place unless a majority of the council agree thereto.

ART. 46. The governor and council shall have a negative on each other, both in the nominations and appointments. Every nomination and appointment shall be signed by the governor and council, and every negative shall be also signed by the governor or council who made the same.

ART. 47. The captains and subalterns in the respective regiments shall be nominated and recommended by the field officers to the governor, who is to issue their commissions immediately on receipt of such recommendation.

ART. 48. Whenever the chair of the governor shall become vacant, by reason of his death, absence from the state, or otherwise, the president of the senate shall, during such vacancy, have and exercise all powers and authorities which, by this constitution, the governor is vested with when personally present; but, when the president of the senate shall exercise the office of governor, he shall not hold his office in the senate. Whenever the chair, both of the governor and of the president of the senate, shall become vacant, by reason of their death, absence from the state, or otherwise, the speaker of the house shall, during such vacancies, have and exercise all the powers and authorities which, by this constitution, the governor is vested with when personally present; but when the speaker of the house shall exercise the office of governor, he shall not hold his office in the house.

ART. 49. The governor, with advice of council, shall have full power and authority, in recess of the general court, to prorogue the same from time to time, not exceeding ninety days in any one recess of said court, and, during the sessions of said court, to adjourn or prorogue it to any time the two houses may desire; and to call it together sooner than the time to which it may be adjourned or prorogued, if the welfare of the state should require the same.

ART. 50. The governor of this state, for the time being, shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy and all the military forces of the state by sea and land; and shall have full power, by himself or by any chief commander or other officer or officers, from time to time, to train, instruct, exercise, and govern the militia and navy; and, for the special defence and safety of this state, to assemble in martial array and put in warlike posture the inhabitants thereof, and to lead and conduct them, and with them to encounter, repulse, repel, resist, and pursue by force of arms, as well by sea as by land, within and without the limits of this state; and, also, to kill, slay, destroy, if necessary, and conquer by all fitting ways, enterprise, and means, all and every such person and persons as shall at any time hereafter, in a hostile manner, attempt or enterprise the destruction, invasion, detriment, or annoyance of this state; and to use and exercise over the army and navy and over the militia in actual service the law martial in time of war, invasion, and, also, in rebellion declared by the legislature to exist, as occasion shall necessarily require; and surprise, by all ways and means whatsoever, all and every such person or persons, with their ships, arms, ammunition, and other goods, as shall, in a hostile manner, invade, or attempt the invading, conquering, or annoying this state; and, in fine, the governor hereby is intrusted with all other powers incident to the office as captain-general and commander-in-chief and admiral, to be exercised agreeably to the rules and regulations of the constitution and laws of the land; provided that the governor shall not, at any time hereafter, by virtue of any power by this constitution granted, or hereafter to be granted to him by the legislature, transport any of the inhabitants of this state or oblige them to march out of the limits of the same without their free and voluntary consent or the consent of the general court, nor grant commissions for exercising the law martial in any case without the advice and consent of the council.

ART. 51. The power of pardoning offences, except such as persons may be convicted of before the senate, by impeachment of the house, shall be in the governor, by and with the advice of council; but no charter of pardon, granted by the governor, with advice of council, before conviction, shall avail the party pleading the same, notwithstanding any general or particular expressions contained therein, descriptive of the offence or offences intended to be pardoned.

ART. 52. No officer, duly commissioned to command in the militia, shall be removed from his office but by the address of both houses to the governor, or by fair trial in court-martial pursuant to the laws of the state for the time being.

ART. 53. The commanding officers of the regiments shall appoint their adjutants and quartermasters; the brigadiers, their brigade-majors; the major-generals, their aids; the captains and subalterns, their non-commissioned officers.

ART. 54. The division of the militia into brigades, regiments, companies, made in pursuance of the militia laws now in force, shall be considered as the proper division of the militia of this state, until the same shall be altered by some future law.

ART. 55. No money shall be issued out of the treasury of this state and disposed of (except such sums as may be appropriated for the redemption of bills of credit or treasurer's notes, or for the payment of interest arising thereon) but by warrant under the hand of the governor for the time being, by and with the advice and consent of the council, for the necessary support and defence of this state, and for the necessary protection and preservation of the inhabitants thereof, agreeably to the acts and resolves of the general court.

ART. 56. All public boards, the commissary-general, all superintending officers of public magazines and stores belonging to this state, and all commanding officers of forts and garrisons within the same, shall, once in every three months, officially and without requisition, and at other times when required by the governor, deliver to him an account of all goods, stores, provisions, ammunition, cannon with their appendages, and all small arms with their accoutrements, and all other public propopinion contrary to the resolution of the majority, with the reasons for such opinion.

ART. 64. The legislature may, if the public good shall hereafter require it, divide the state into five districts, as nearly equal as may be, governing themselves by the number of ratable polls and proportion of public taxes, each district to elect a councilor; and, in case of such division, the manner of the choice shall be conformable to the present mode of election in counties.

ART. 65. And, whereas the elections appointed to be made by this constitution on the first Wednesday of January biennially, by the two houses of the legislature, may not be completed on that day, the said elections may be adjourned from day to day until the same be completed. And the order of the elections shall be as follows: The vacancies in the senate, if any, shall be first filled up; the governor shall then be elected, provided there shall be no choice of him by the people; and, afterwards, the two houses shall proceed to fill up the vacancy, if any, in the council.

SECRETARY, TREASURER, COMMISSARY-GENERAL, ETC.

ART. 66. The secretary, treasurer, and commissary-general shall be chosen by joint ballot of the senators and representatives, assembled in one room.

ART. 67. The records of the state shall be kept in the office of the secretary; and he shall attend the governor and council, the senate and representatives, in person or by deputy, as they may require.

ART. 68. The secretary of the state shall at all times have a deputy, to be by him appointed, for whose conduct in office he shall be responsible; and, in case of the death, removal, or inability of the secretary, his deputy shall exercise all the duties of the office of secretary of this state until another shall be appointed.

ART. 69. The secretary, before he enters upon the business of his office, shall give bond, with sufficient sureties, in a reasonable sum, for the use of the state, for the punctual performance of his trust.

ART. 70. The county treasurers, registers of probate, solicitors, sheriffs, and registers of deeds shall be elected by the inhabitants of the several towns in the several counties in the state, according to the method now practiced and the laws of the state; provided, nevertheless, the legislature shall have authority to alter the manner of certifying the votes and the mode of electing those officers, but not so as to deprive the people of the right they now have of electing them.

ART. 71. And the legislature, on the application of the major part of the inhabitants of any county, shall have authority to divide the same into two districts for registering deeds, if to them it shall appear necessary, each district to elect a register of deeds; and before they enter upon erty under their care respectively, distinguishing the quantity and kind of each as particularly as may be, together with the condition of such forts and garrisons. And the commanding officer shall exhibit to the governor, when required by him, true and exact plans of such forts, and of the land and sea, or harbor or harbors, adjacent.

ART. 57. The governor and council shall be compensated for their services, from time to time, by such grants as the general court shall think reasonable.

ART. 58. Permanent and honorable salaries shall be established by law for the justices of the superior court.

COUNCIL.

ART. 59. There shall be biennially elected by ballot five councilors, for advising the governor in the executive part of government. The freeholders and other inhabitants in each county, qualified to vote for senators, shall, some time in the month of November, give in their votes for one councilor, which votes shall be received, sorted, counted, certified, and returned to the secretary's office, in the same manner as the votes for senators, to be by the secretary laid before the senate and house of representatives on the first Wednesday of January.

ART. 60. And the person having a majority of votes in any county shall be considered as duly elected a councilor; but if no person shall have a majority of votes in any county, the senate and house of representatives shall take the names of the two persons who have the highest number of votes in each county and not elected, and, out of those two, shall elect, by joint ballot, the councilor wanted for such county; and the qualifications for councilors shall be the same as for senator.

ART. 61. If any person thus chosen a councilor shall be elected governor or member of either branch of the legislature and shall accept the trust, or if any person elected a councilor shall refuse to accept the office, or in case of the death, resignation, or removal of any councilor out of the state, the governor may issue a precept for the election of a new councilor in that county where such vacancy shall happen; and the choice shall be in the same manner as before directed; and the governor shall have full power and authority to convene the council, from time to time, at his discretion; and, with them or the majority of them, may and shall, from time to time, hold a council for ordering and directing the affairs of this state, according to the laws of the land.

ART. 62. The members of the council may be impeached by the house and tried by the senate for bribery, corruption, malpractice, or maladministration.

ART. 63. The resolutions and advice of the council shall be recorded by the secretary in a register, and signed by all the members present agreeing thereto; and this record may be called for at any time by either house of the legislature; and any member of the council may enter his the business of their offices, shall be respectively sworn faithfully to discharge the duties thereof, and shall severally give bond, with sufficient sureties, in a reasonable sum, for the use of the county, for the punctual performance of their respective trusts.

JUDICIARY POWER.

ART. 72. The tenure that all commissioned officers shall have by law in their offices shall be expressed in their respective commissions. All judicial officers, duly appointed, commissioned, and sworn, shall hold their offices during good behavior, excepting those concerning whom there is a different provision made in this constitution; provided, nevertheless, the governor, with consent of council, may remove them upon the address of both houses of the legislature.

ART. 73. Each branch of the legislature, as well as the governor and council, shall have authority to require the opinions of the justices of the superior court upon important questions of law and upon solemn occasions.

ART. 74. In order that the people may not suffer from the long continuance in place of any justice of the peace who shall fail in discharging the important duties of his office with ability and fidelity, all commissions of justices of the peace shall become void at the expiration of five years from their respective dates; and, upon the expiration of any commission, the same may, if necessary, be renewed, or another person appointed, as shall most conduce to the well-being of the state.

ART. 75. All causes of marriage, divorce, and alimony, and all appeals from the respective judges of probate, shall be heard and tried by the superior court, until the legislature shall by law make other provision.

ART. 76. The general court are empowered to give to justices of the peace jurisdiction in civil causes, when the damages demanded shall not exceed one hundred dollars, and title of real estate is not concerned, but with right of appeal to either party to some other court.

ART. 77. No person shall hold the office of judge of any court, or judge of probate, or sheriff of any county, after he has attained the age of seventy years.

ART. 78. No judge of any court or justice of the peace shall act as attorney, or be of counsel to any party, or originate any civil suit, in matters which shall come or be brought before him as judge or justice of the peace.

ART. 79. All matters relating to the probate of wills and granting letters of administration shall be exercised by the judges of probate in such manner as the legislature have directed or may hereafter direct; and the judges of probate shall hold their courts at such place or places, on such fixed days as the conveniency of the people may require, and the legislature from time to time appoint.

ART. 80. No judge or register of probate shall be of counsel, act as advocate, or receive any fees as advocate or counsel, in any probate business which is pending or may be brought into any court of probate in the county of which he is judge or register.

CLERKS OF COURTS.

ART. 81. The judges of the courts (those of probate excepted) shall appoint their respective clerks, to hold their office during pleasure; and no such clerk shall act as an attorney or be of counsel in any cause in the court of which he is clerk, nor shall he draw any writ originating a civil action.

ENCOURAGEMENT OF LITERATURE, ETC.

ART. 82. Knowledge and learning generally diffused through a community being essential to the preservation of a free government, and spreading the opportunities and advantages of education through the various parts of the country being highly conducive to promote this end, it shall be the duty of the legislators and magistrates, in all future periods of this government, to cherish the interest of literature and the sciences, and all seminaries and public schools; to encourage private and public institutions, rewards, and immunities for the promotion of agriculture, arts, sciences, commerce, trades, manufactures, and natural history of the country; to countenance and inculcate the principles of humanity and general benevolence, public and private charity, industry and economy, honesty and punctuality, sincerity, sobriety, and all social affections and generous sentiments, among the people; provided, nevertheless, that no money raised by taxation shall ever be granted or applied for the use of the schools or institutions of any religious sect or denomination.

OATHS AND SUBSCRIPTIONS.—EXCLUSION FROM OFFICES.—COMMISSIONS.—WRITS.—CONFIRMATION OF LAWS.—HABEAS CORPUS.—THE ENACTING STYLE.—CONTINUANCE OF OFFICERS.—PROVISION FOR A FUTURE REVISION OF THE CONSTITUTION, ETC.

ART. 83. Any person chosen governor, councilor, senator, or representative, military or civil officer (town officers excepted) accepting the trust, shall, before he proceeds to execute the duties of his office, make and subscribe the following declarations, viz.:

I, A B, do solemnly swear that I will bear faith and true allegiance to the State of New Hampshire and will support the constitution thereof. So help me God.

I, A B, do solemnly and sincerely swear and affirm that I will faithfully and impartially discharge and perform all the duties incumbent on me as , according to the best of my abilities, agreeably to the rules and regulations of this constitution and the laws of the state of New Hampshire. So help me God.

Any person having taken and subscribed the oath of allegiance, and the same being filed in the secretary's office, he shall not be obliged to take said oath again; provided, always, when any person chosen or appointed as aforesaid shall be of the denomination called Quakers, or shall be scrupulous of swearing and shall decline taking the said oaths, such person shall take and subscribe them, omitting the word "swear," and likewise the words, "So help me God," subjoining instead thereof, "This I do under the pains and penalties of perjury."

ART. 84. And the oaths or affirmations shall be taken and subscribed by the governor, before the president of the senate, in presence of both houses of the legislature; and by the senators and representatives first elected under this constitution, as altered and amended, before the president of the state, and a majority of the council then in office, and forever afterward before the governor and council for the time being; and by all other officers, before such persons and in such manner as the legislature shall from time to time appoint.

ART. 85. All commissions shall be in the name of the state of New Hampshire, signed by the governor, and attested by the secretary or his deputy, and shall have the great seal of the state affixed thereto.

ART. 86. All writs issuing out of the clerk's office, in any of the courts of law, shall be in the name of the state of New Hampshire, shall be under the seal of the court whence they issue, and bear teste of the chief, first, or senior justice of the court; but when such justice shall be interested, then the writ shall bear teste of some other justice of the court, to which the same shall be returnable; and be signed by the clerk of such court.

ART. 87. All indictments, presentments, and informations shall conclude, "against the peace and dignity of the state."

ART. 88. The estate of such persons as may destroy their own lives shall not for that offence be forfeited, but descend or ascend in the same manner as if such persons had died in a natural way. Nor shall any article which shall accidentally occasion the death of any person be henceforth deemed a deodand, or in any wise forfeited on account of such misfortune.

ART. 89. All the laws which have heretofore been adopted, used, and approved in the province, colony, or state of New Hampshire, and usually practiced on in the courts of law, shall remain and be in full force until altered and repealed by the legislature, such parts thereof only excepted as are repugnant to the rights and liberties contained in this constitution; provided, that nothing herein contained, when compared with the twenty-third article in the bill of rights, shall be construed to affect the laws already made respecting the persons or estates of absentees.

ART. 90. The privilege and benefit of the habeas corpus shall be enjoyed in this state, in the most free, easy, cheap, expeditious, and ample manner, and shall not be suspended by the legislature except upon the most urgent and pressing occasions, and for a time not exceeding three months.

ART. 91. The enacting style, in making and passing acts, statutes, and laws, shall be, Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives in general court convened.

ART. 92. No governor or judge of the supreme judicial court shall hold any office or place under the authority of this state, except such as by this constitution they are admitted to hold, saving that the judges of the said court may hold the offices of justices of the peace throughout the state; nor shall they hold any place or office or receive any pension or salary from any other state, government, or power whatever.

ART. 93. No person shall be capable of exercising at the same time more than one of the following offices in this state, viz.: judge of probate, sheriff, register of deeds; and never more than two offices of profit, which may be held by appointment of the governor, or governor and council, or senate and house of representatives, or superior or inferior courts, military offices and offices of justices of the peace excepted.

ART. 94. No person holding the office of judge of any court (except special judges), secretary, treasurer of the state, attorney-general, commissary-general, military officers receiving pay from the continent or this state (excepting officers of the militia occasionally called forth on an emergency), register of deeds, sheriffs, or officers of the customs, including naval officers, collectors of excise and state and continental taxes hereafter appointed, and not having settled their accounts with the respective officers with whom it is their duty to settle such accounts, members of congress, or any person holding any office under the United States, shall at the same time hold the office of governor, or have a seat in the senate or house of representatives or council; but his being chosen and appointed to and accepting the same shall operate as a resignation of his seat in the chair, senate, or house of representatives, or council, and the place so vacated shall be filled up. No member of the council shall have a seat in the senate or house of representatives.

ART. 95. No person shall ever be admitted to hold a seat in the legislature, or any office of trust or importance under this government, who, in the due course of law, has been convicted of bribery or corruption, in obtaining an election or appointment.

ART. 96. In all cases where sums of money are mentioned in this constitution, the value thereof shall be computed in silver at six shillings and eight pence per ounce.

ART. 97. To the end that there may be no failure of justice or danger to the state by the alterations and amendments made in the constitution, the general court is hereby fully authorized and directed to fix the time when the alterations and amendments shall take effect, and make the necessary arrangements accordingly.*

* See act of December 14, 1792.

ART. 98. It shall be the duty of the selectmen and assessors of the several towns and places in this state, in warning the first annual meetings for the choice of senators, after the expiration of seven years from the adoption of this constitution as amended, to insert expressly in the warrant this purpose among the others for the meeting, to wit: to take the sense of the qualified voters on the subject of a revision of the constitution; and the meeting being warned accordingly, and not otherwise, the moderator shall take the sense of the qualified voters present as to the necessity of a revision; and a return of the number of votes for and against such necessity shall be made by the clerk, sealed up and directed to the general court at their then next session; and if it shall appear to the general court by such return that the sense of the people of the state has been taken, and that, in the opinion of the majority of the qualified voters in the state present and voting at said meetings, there is a necessity for a revision of the constitution, it shall be the duty of the general court to call a convention for that purpose; otherwise the general court shall direct the sense of the people to be taken, and then proceed in the manner before mentioned; the delegates to be chosen in the same manner and proportioned as the representatives to the general court: provided, that no alteration shall be made in this constitution before the same shall be laid before the towns and unincorporated places and approved by two thirds of the qualified voters present and voting on the subject.

ART. 99. And the same method of taking the sense of the people as to a revision of the constitution and calling a convention for that purpose shall be observed afterward, at the expiration of every seven years.

ART. 100. This form of government shall be enrolled on parchment and deposited in the secretary's office, and be a part of the laws of the land, and printed copies thereof shall be prefixed to the books containing the laws of this state in all future editions thereof.

JOINT RULES

OF THE

SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

1. When a convention of the two houses is to be formed, whether by a requirement of the constitution, or by a vote or resolve of the two houses, a message shall be sent from the house of representatives to the senate, giving notice when the house will meet the senate in convention. As soon thereafter as the convenience of the senate will permit, they will attend in the house. The speaker of the house shall be chairman of the convention, and shall state the reasons for forming the convention. When the house and senate are thus formed in convention, the rules adopted as the rules of the house shall be considered the rules of the convention, so far as they may be deemed applicable, and the convention shall accordingly be governed thereby.

2. Messages shall be sent by such person or persons as each house may deem to be proper.

3. Messages from either house shall be received by the other at all times, except when engaged in putting a question, in calling the yeas and nays, in counting the ballots, or in reading the journal.

4. When a message shall be sent from either house to the other, it shall be announced at the door of the house to which it may be sent, by the doorkeeper.

5. While bills are on their passage between the two houses, they shall be under the signature of the clerk of each house respectively.

6. There shall be a committee for the purpose of engrossing bills, consisting of two members of each house. All bills that pass both houses shall be delivered to said committee, be by them engrossed, carefully examined, and reported to the respective houses; and shall be signed first by the speaker of the house of representatives, and then by the president of the senate.

7. There shall be a committee, to consist of three members of the house and one of the senate, on each of the following subjects, to wit: On all matters relative to the state library, and on all matters relative to the state house and state-house yard.

8. Every bill or joint resolution, repealing or modifying any act or statute, shall refer to the same by the chapter, title, and section of the general laws, if contained therein, otherwise by its title and the session of the legislature when the same was passed, and shall also be expressed in words clearly, so that it shall not be necessary to refer to any other act or statute to ascertain the meaning thereof; and it shall be the duty of the presiding officer of each branch of the legislature to require all such bills and resolutions to be made in conformity therewith, before putting any vote thereon, except to commit or amend.

9. When a bill or resolve which shall have passed in one house is rejected in the other, notice thereof shall be given to the house in which the same shall have passed.

10. Each house shall transmit to the other all papers on which any bill or resolve may be founded.

11. Each house shall transmit to the other all bills which have passed their several stages in the house in which they originated, at least twenty-four hours before the time fixed for adjournment.

12. After each house shall have adhered to their disagreement, a bill or resolve shall be considered lost.

13. No bill, joint resolution, claim outstanding on the first day of the session, or petition relating to new business shall be received in either branch of the legislature after the fifth week of the session unless reported from a committee; provided, that this rule may be suspended in either house whenever two thirds of the whole number of members shall actually vote in favor thereof, and not otherwise.

RULES OF THE SENATE.

1. The president having taken the chair, and a quorum being present, the journal of the preceding day shall be read, and any erroneous entry shall be corrected.

2. No member shall hold conversation with another during the reading of the journal, or while a member is speaking in debate.

3. Every member, rising to speak, shall address the president, and when he has finished shall sit down.

4. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question, on the same day, without leave of the senate.

5. More than one member rising to speak at the same time, the president shall decide who shall speak first.

6. If any member transgress the rules of the senate, the president shall, or any member may, call him to order;—in which case the member so called to order shall sit down, and the senate, if appealed to, shall decide in the case; but if there be no appeal, the decision of the president shall be conclusive.

7. No member shall absent himself without permission from the senate.

8. A motion shall be seconded before it is debated, and, if required by the president or any member, it shall be reduced to writing.

9. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to postpone indefinitely, to lay on the table, to postpone to a certain day, to commit, or to amend, which several motions shall take precedence in the order in which they are arranged. And no motion to postpone indefinitely, to postpone to a certain day, or to commit, being decided, shall be in order at the same stage of the bill or proposition until after an adjournment.

10. If the question under debate will admit of division, any member may have it divided; and in filling blanks, the longest time and the largest sum shall be put first.

11. When the reading of a paper is called for, and the same is objected to, it shall be decided by a vote of the senate, and without debate.

12. When the yeas and nays are required, each member shall declare his assent or dissent to the question, unless, for special reasons, he be excused by the senate.

13. When a motion is made to shut the doors of the senate, on the discussion of any business which in the opinion of any member may require secrecy, the president shall desire the gallery to be closed; and the doors shall remain closed until the subject is disposed of.

14. After a motion has been decided, it shall be in order for any member who voted with the majority, or, if the senate be equally divided, any member voting on the side prevailing, to move for a reconsideration thereof, unless the bill, resolution, report, amendment, or motion on which the vote was taken, has gone from the possession of the senate; but no motion to reconsider shall be in order unless made the same day on which the vote was taken, or the next day after that on which the vote was taken, on which the senate shall be in session; but no vote shall be reconsidered when a less number of members is present than when it passed.

15. Before any petition or memorial addressed to the senate shall be received and read, a brief statement of the contents thereof shall be made by the member introducing the same.

16. Any member, on giving notice of asking leave to bring in a bill, shall state the nature of the bill he proposes to introduce, and at least one day's notice shall be given before a motion for leave shall be in order.

17. Every bill shall be read three times before its passage, and the president shall give notice at each time whether it be the first, second, or third reading; and no bill, after it has been read a second time, shall have a third reading before an adjournment.

18. All resolutions which may require the signature of the governor shall be treated in the same manner as bills.

19. When a bill shall have been read a first time and ordered to a second reading, it shall be immediately read a second time by its title, and by the president referred to the appropriate standing committee, unless otherwise ordered by the senate.

20. All bills introduced in the senate, to repeal or modify an existing statute, shall refer to the act proposed to be repealed or modified by the title and the session at which it was passed; and no bill shall refer to any statutes by the number of the chapter of the pamphlet laws.

21. The senate may resolve itself into a committee of the whole at any time on motion made for that purpose; and in forming a committee of the whole, the president shall leave the chair, and appoint a chairman to preside in committee. The president may at any time name any member to perform the duties of the chair; but such substitution shall not extend beyond an adjournment.

22. The last question, upon the second reading of a bill or resolution, shall always be, Shall it be read a third time ? — and no amendment shall be received or discussed on the third reading of any bill or resolution unless by consent of sixteen members present, but it shall at all times be in order, before the final passage of a bill or resolution, to move its commitment; and should such commitment take place, and an amendment be reported, the bill or resolution shall again be read a second time, and considered as in committee of the whole.

23. The titles of bills, and such parts thereof as may be affected by proposed amendments, shall be entered on the journals.

24. All bills, resolutions, and addresses, after passing the senate, shall be signed by the president; and all warrants and other processes issued by order of the senate shall be under his hand and seal, attested by the clerk.

25. The following standing committees, to consist of five members each, shall be appointed at the commencement of any session, with leave to report by bill or otherwise: A committee on the judiciary; a committee on incorporations; a committee on labor; a committee on military affairs; a committee on roads, bridges, and canals; a committee on claims; a committee on railroads; a committee on banks; a committee on agriculture; a committee on manufactures; a committee on elections; a committee on education; a committee on finance; a committee on state prison and industrial school; a committee on asylum for the insane; a committee on revision of the laws; and a committee on towns.

26. All committees shall be appointed by the president, unless a member request that the appointment shall be by ballot, in which case it shall be so done.

27. When the senate shall concur with the house of representatives in the appointment of a joint committee, consisting of not more than five members of the house, two members shall be added on the part of the senate; but when more than five, three members of the senate shall be added.

28. Messages shall be sent to the house of representatives by the clerk of the senate.

29. Messages from the governor or house of representatives may be received at all times, except when the senate is engaged in putting the question, in calling the yeas and nays, in counting the ballots, or in reading the journal.

30. All questions shall be put by the president, and each member of the senate shall signify his assent or dissent by answering yea or nay. If the president doubts, or a division is called for, the senate shall divide. Those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise from their seats and stand till they be counted, and afterwards those in the negative shall rise and stand till they be counted. The president shall then rise and state the decision of the senate.

31. No person except the members of the executive, or members of the house of representatives and its officers, shall be admitted within the bar of the senate, except by invitation of the president, or some member with his consent.

32. The senate shall adjourn to meet at ten o'clock in the morning and three o'clock in the afternoon of each day, unless the senate shall otherwise order.

33. Motions to adjourn shall be decided without debate.

34. No standing rule of the senate shall be suspended unless two thirds of the members present vote in favor thereof, and no rule shall be rescinded unless one day's notice of the motion has been given and two thirds of those present vote therefor.

35. Every bill and joint resolution, except private acts, originating in the senate, which has been favorably reported upon by the committee having it in charge, shall be declared by the president laid upon the table, and the clerk directed to procure a sufficient number of printed copies thereof for the use of the senate; and that when said bills and joint resolutions are printed and distributed, the clerk shall cause a copy of the same to be laid on the president's table, and they shall be taken up in their order without motion, and disposed of in the same manner as they would have been had they not been declared laid on the table. And every bill or joint resolution so introduced shall be headed senate bill, or joint resolution, as the case may be.

RULES OF THE HOUSE.

OF THE DUTY OF THE SPEAKER.

1. The speaker shall take the chair at precisely the hour to which the house shall have adjourned, and shall immediately call the members to order.

2. He shall preserve decorum and order, may speak on points of order in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose, and shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the house by any two members.

3. Questions shall be distinctly put in this form, to wit, "As many as are of opinion that [as the case may be] say Aye"; and after the affirmative vote is expressed, "Those of a contrary opinion say No." If the speaker doubts, or a division is called for, the house shall divide. Those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise from their seats and stand till they be counted, and afterwards those in the negative shall rise and stand till they be counted. The speaker shall then rise and state the decision of the house.

4. He shall rise to put a question, but may state it sitting.

5. All committees shall be appointed by the speaker unless otherwise directed by the house.

6. The speaker shall designate to which of the standing committees all memorials, petitions, accounts, or other matters shall be referred, unless otherwise ordered by the house.

7. The speaker shall not be called upon to vote unless the house be equally divided, or unless his vote, if given to the minority, will make the division equal; and in case of such equal division the question shall be lost.

8. All acts, addresses, and joint resolutions shall be signed by the speaker; and all writs, warrants, or subpœnas, issued by order of the house, shall be under his hand and seal, attested by the clerk.

9. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries, the speaker, or chairman of the committee of the whole house, shall have the power to order the same to be cleared.

10. No person but the members and officers of the house, members of the council and members of the senate, the secretary of the state, treasurer, and clerks of the senate, shall be admitted within the door of the representatives' chamber unless by invitation of the speaker, or some member of the house with the consent of the speaker, except in public hearings, parties, their counsel and witnesses, under the direction of the speaker.

11. The speaker shall have power to substitute any member to perform the duties of the chair, such substitution not to extend beyond one legislative day.

OF DECORUM AND DEBATE.

12. When any member is about to speak in debate, make a motion, or deliver any matter to the house, he shall rise from his seat and respectfully address himself to the speaker.

13. If any member transgress the rules of the house, the speaker shall, or any member may, call him to order; in which case the member so called to order shall immediately sit down, and the question of order shall then be distinctly stated from the chair; and in all cases where a member shall be called to order for uttering disrespectful words, upon the request of any member the words objected to shall be reduced to writing by the member so calling to order; after which the member so called to order may explain, and the question shall be open to debate, as in other cases, and decided by the speaker, whose decision shall be submitted to unless an appeal be made to the house, by a member, in which case the only question shall be, "Is the speaker's decision correct?" which shall be decided without debate. If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he may proceed; if otherwise, and the case may require it, he shall be liable to the censure of the house.

14. In all cases the member first rising shall speak first. When two members rise at the same time, the speaker shall name the person to speak.

15. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question without leave of the house; nor more than once, until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken.

16. While the speaker is putting any question, or addressing the house, no one shall walk out of or across the house; nor in such case, or when a member is speaking, shall entertain private discourse; nor, while a member is speaking, shall pass between him and the chair; nor shall any member leave his seat while the yeas and nays are calling.

17. No member shall vote on any question in the event of which he is directly interested; nor in any case where he was not present when the question was put; nor sit upon any committee when he is directly interested in the question under consideration. In case of such interest of a member of a committee, the fact shall be reported to the house, and another person substituted on that question in his place.

18. Every member who shall be in the house when a question is put shall give his vote, unless the house, for special reason, shall excuse him.

19. No motion shall be debated until the same shall be seconded and stated from the chair; and when a motion shall be made and seconded, it shall be reduced to writing, if desired by the speaker or any member, and delivered in at the table, and read by the speaker, before the same shall be debated.

20. No petition shall be received by the house unless it be presented by a member thereof, and upon motion made for that purpose; nor until the substance of said petition be concisely minuted, and the name of the member, and the town he represents, recorded upon the back thereof; and it shall be the duty of the speaker, whenever any motion relative to a petition is to be stated to the house, to state, in the first place, the substance of the petition as minuted on the back thereof.

21. After a motion is stated by the speaker, it shall be in possession of the house, but may be withdrawn at any time before an amendment.

22. When any question is under debate, no motion shall be received, but, first, to adjourn; second, to lay on the table; third, for the previous question; fourth, to postpone indefinitely; fifth, to postpone to a certain day; sixth, to commit; and, seventh, to amend; which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged. Motions to adjourn, to lay on the table, and take from the table, shall be decided without debate.

23. The speaker shall put the previous question in the following form: "Shall the main question now be put?" and all debate upon the main question shall be suspended until the previous question has been decided. After the adoption of the previous question, the sense of the house shall forthwith be taken upon pending amendments, in their regular order, and then upon the main question.

24. On the previous question no member shall speak more than once without leave; and all incidental questions of order, arising after a motion for the previous question, shall be decided without debate, excepting on appeal, and on such appeal no member shall be allowed to speak more than once without leave of the house.

25. If the previous question is decided in the negative, it shall not be again in order till after adjournment, but the main question shall be left before the house and disposed of as though the previous question had not been put.

26. When a question is postponed indefinitely, the same shall not be acted upon during the session except by unanimous consent.

27. Any member may call for a division of the question when the sense will admit of it; and upon a motion to amend, a refusal to strike out words shall neither preclude amendment to such words nor a motion to strike out and insert.

28. A motion for commitment, until it is decided, shall preclude all amendment to the main question, and all motions and reports may be committed at the pleasure of the house.

29. No new motion shall be admitted, under color of amendment, as a substitute for the motion under debate.

30. No vote shall be reconsidered, unless the motion for reconsideration be made by a member who voted with the majority, nor unless the notice of such motion be given on the same day on which the vote passed, or on the next day on which the house shall be in session, between the hours of ten and twelve o'clock.

31. When the reading of a paper is called for and objected to by any member, it shall be determined by a vote of the house.

32. Any member may excuse himself from serving on any committee at the time of his appointment, if he is then a member of two other committees who have not reported.

33. Each member shall seasonably and punctually attend to his duty in the house, and no one shall absent himself from the service of the house unless he have leave, or be sick and unable to attend.

34. The speaker shall appoint a teller for each division of the house, whose duty it shall be to report to the chair the state of the vote, whenever a division of the house is called for.

OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

35. The following standing committees shall be appointed early in the June session:

A committee on revising and compiling the laws of the state; a committee on national affairs; a committee on elections; a committee on the judiciary; a committee on banks; a committee on the state prison; a committee on insurance; a committee on the state agricultural college; a committee on agriculture; a committee on manufactures; a committee on finance; a committee on retrenchment and reform; a committee on military affairs; a committee on education; a committee on the state normal school; a committee on incorporations; a committee on towns; a committee on county affairs; a committee on labor; a committee on the asylum for the insane; a committee on railroads; a committee on roads, bridges, and canals; a committee on unfinished business; a committee on mileage; a committee on fisheries and game; a committee on the industrial school; a committee on soldiers' home; and a committee on claims,— to consist of twelve members each; a committee on bills on their second reading; a committee on printer's accounts; a committee on military accounts,—to consist of nine members each; a committee on journal of the house, to consist of three members.

It shall be the duty of the committee on revising and compiling the laws to consider all matters relating to those subjects, and recommend such changes, modifications, and additions as may be desirable; also to consider all bills, resolutions, and reports of committees relating to those subjects which may be referred to them, and report by bill or otherwise.

It shall be the duty of the committee on national affairs to consider all matters of national concern, all matters referred to the state by the general government, and all matters pertaining to our federal relations, that may be referred to them by the house, and to report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on elections to examine and report upon the certificates or other credentials of the election of the members returned to serve in this house, and to take into consideration all such petitions and other matters in relation to elections or returns as shall or may be presented, or come into question, and shall be referred to them by the house.

It shall be the duty of the committee on the judiciary to take into their consideration all matters in relation to the judiciary system of the state; to examine and report what laws have expired, or are near about expiring, and require to be revived or further continued, and report their opinion on all constitutional questions that may be referred to them by the house.

It shall be the duty of the committee on banks to consider all applications for the incorporation of banks, and all subjects relating to such institutions that may be referred to them by the house, and to report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on the state prison to take into consideration all matters in relation to the state prison, to examine all reports and accounts that may be submitted by the warden, and make such report, either by bill or otherwise, as they think the interest of the state requires.

It shall be the duty of the committee on insurance to consider all applications for the incorporation of insurance companies, and all subjects relating to insurance companies, domestic and foreign, and whether life, fire, marine, accidental, or of any other character, that may be referred to them by the house, and to report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on the state agricultural college to examine in relation to the rules and government of the New Hampshire College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts, and all matters connected therewith, and all such other matters as may be referred to them by the house, and to make such report thereon, either by bill or otherwise, as they think the interest of the state requires.

It shall be the duty of the committee on agriculture to take into consideration all matters concerning the agricultural interests and public lands of the state, and the incorporation of agricultural societies, that shall be referred to them by the house, and to report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on manufactures to consider all matters concerning the manufacturing interests of the state, and all applications for incorporation for manufacturing purposes, which shall be referred to them by the house, and to report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on finance to examine and take into consideration the state of the treasury, to report what sum it may be necessary to raise as a state tax, and on every subject touching the financial interests of the state that may be referred to them by the house.

It shall be the duty of the committee on retrenchment and reform to take into consideration the public expenditures, and all questions relating thereto; and also to consider all questions relating to the subject of administrative reforms in the various departments of the state government, and report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on military affairs to consider all applications for altering and amending laws regulating the militia of this state, and for the removal of military officers, and to report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on education to consider all subjects relative to the regulation of school districts and schools, and all matters concerning education, that may be referred to them by the house, and report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on the state normal school to examine in relation to the government of the state normal school, and all matters connected therewith, and all such other matters as may be referred to them by the house, and to make such report thereon, either by bill or otherwise, as they think the interests of the state require.

It shall be the duty of the committee on incorporations to consider and report on all applications for acts of incorporation, and all other matters which may come in question relative to bodies corporate, that may be referred to them by the house, excepting those relating to towns, parishes, turnpikes, railroads, canals, banks, agricultural societies, and factories. And upon every application for an act of incorporation referred to them, they shall inquire whether the object of the applicants may not be conveniently obtained by voluntary incorporation under the general laws of the state, and they shall report accordingly.

It shall be the duty of the committee on towns to consider all applications for the alteration of town lines by the annexation of one portion of a town to another, and all applications for incorporation of towns by division of towns or otherwise, that may be referred to them by the house, and to report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on county affairs to consider all applications for the alteration of county lines or the creation of new counties, the salaries of county officers, the settlement of paupers, and all other matters relating to county affairs that may be referred to them by the house, and report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on labor to consider all petitions relating to labor and wages, and all other matters relating thereto that may be referred to them by the house, and report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on the asylum for the insane to examine all accounts, particularly of those relating to the expenditure of moneys appropriated by the state; to examine in relation to the rules and government of the institution, and all matters of general interest connected therewith, and all such matters as shall be referred to them by the house, and to report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on railroads to consider all petitions for the incorporation of railroads, for alterations, and all matters relative thereto that may be referred to them by the house, and to report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on roads, bridges, and canals to consider all applications for the incorporation of turnpikes, bridges, or canals, and for the alteration of tolls, and all matters relative thereto that may be referred to them by the house, and to report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on unfinished business to examine and report, from the journals of the last session, all such matters as were then pending and undetermined.

It shall be the duty of the committee on mileage to ascertain the distance traveled by each member of the house, computing the same by the nearest traveled highway, and report to the house, with the names of the several members and the distance traveled by each.

It shall be the duty of the committee on fisheries and game to consider all matters concerning the location, growth, cultivation, protection, improvement, and preservation of fish and game within the State, and all matters relative thereto which may be referred to them by the house, and make such report thereon, either by bill or otherwise, as they think the interest of the State requires.

It shall be the duty of the committee on the industrial school to examine in relation to the rules and government of the institution, and all matters of general interest connected therewith, and all such matters as may be referred to them by the house, and make such report, either by bill or otherwise, as they think the interest of the state requires.

It shall be the duty of the committee on bills on the second reading to take into consideration all bills on the second reading that may be committed, or otherwise, and to make such report thereon as they may think expedient.

It shall be the duty of the committee on printer's accounts to examine and adjust all accounts against the state for printing, and every subject relating to such accounts that may be referred to them by the house, and to report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on military accounts to examine, adjust, and report on all accounts relative to the militia that may be referred to them by the house.

It shall be the duty of the committee on claims to audit, adjust, and report on all accounts and claims that may be presented for allowance, except accounts for printing, military accounts, and accounts for engrossing bills.

It shall be the duty of the committee on journal of the house, from day to day, and before the commencement of the morning session, to examine the journal of the preceding day, and report to the house at once any imperfection they may observe; provided, however, that the journal of the preceding day shall be read at the opening of any morning session whenever requested by any ten members.

36. All other committees shall consist of three members, unless otherwise ordered.

37. The standing committees shall attend at their respective committee-rooms two hours before the meeting of the house in the morning, and at such other times as the house shall order; and no committee shall sit during the sitting of the house, unless when the speaker shall consider it necessary.

38. The first-named member of any committee appointed by the speaker of the house shall be chairman; and in case of his absence, or being excused by the house, the next named member, and so on, as often as the case may happen, unless the committee, by a majority of the number, elect a chairman. And when any committee shall report otherwise than by bill, they shall, if the subject admit of it, subjoin to their report a resolution making such disposition of the matter committed to them as to the committee shall seem expedient.

39. Whenever it shall not be convenient for any standing committee to attend promptly to all the business which may be properly referred to it, the speaker may, on a vote of the house to that effect, appoint an additional committee on the same subject, to consist of the same number of members as the original committee, whose duty it shall be to take into consideration all matters in relation to that subject which shall be referred to them by the house, and to report thereon.

ON BILLS.

40. Every bill and joint resolution shall be introduced by motion for leave, or by an order of the house on the report of the committee; and no bill or joint resolution shall be introduced by any member (except on the report of a committee) unless he shall have given at least one day's notice of intention, and of the object of the bill or joint resolution to be introduced.

41. Every bill and resolution originally introduced into the house shall be expressed in words clearly, so that it shall not be necessary to refer to any other act or statute to ascertain the meaning thereof.

42. Every bill shall have three several readings in the house previous to its passage. The first reading shall be for information; and thereupon, when the bill shall have been introduced by a committee, if not rejected or otherwise disposed of, a time shall be assigned for a second reading; and upon the second reading, if not rejected or otherwise disposed of by the house, a time shall be assigned for a third reading. When a bill shall have been introduced by a member upon leave, or by message from the senate, and read a first time, if it be not rejected or otherwise disposed of by the house, the question shall be "Shall the bill be read a second time?" And if ordered to a second reading it shall immediately be read a second time by its title, and be by the speaker referred to the appropriate standing committee, unless otherwise ordered by the house. No bill, after it has been read a second time, shall have a third reading until after an adjournment. The time assigned for the second and third readings of bills and resolutions shall be eleven o'clock in the forenoon and three o'clock in the afternoon, unless otherwise ordered by the house.

43. No amendment shall be made but upon the second reading of a bill or joint resolution; and all resolutions shall be in writing, with the name of the member and the town he represents on the back thereof. The orders of the day for the reading of bills and joint resolutions shall hold for every succeeding day until disposed of.

44. All bills, and all votes and resolutions that are necessary to be carried to the senate for their concurrence, may be sent by the assistant clerk.

45. Every bill shall be marked on the first page "house bill," and every joint resolution shall be marked "house joint resolution," and each bill and resolution shall be regularly numbered, beginning with No. 1, and continuing consecutively, as each bill or joint resolution is introduced into the house.

46. Every bill and joint resolution, except private acts, originating in the house, which has been favorably reported upon by the committee having it in charge, shall be declared by the speaker laid upon the table, and the clerk shall procure a sufficient number of printed copies thereof for the use of the house, and cause the same to be distributed to the members; and the clerk shall cause said bills and joint resolutions to be printed on paper of uniform size; and when said bills and joint resolutions are so printed and distributed, the clerk shall after one day cause the same to be laid on the speaker's table, and they shall be taken up in their order, without motion, and disposed of in the same manner as they would have been had they not been declared laid on the table.

OF THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE HOUSE.

47. The house may resolve itself into committee of the whole house at any time, on the motion of a member made for that purpose; and in forming a committee of the whole house the speaker shall leave the chair, and a chairman to preside in committee shall be appointed by the speaker.

48. Upon bills and resolutions committed to a committee of the whole house, the bill or resolution shall first be read throughout by the clerk, and then again read and debated by clauses, leaving the preamble of the bill to be last considered; the body of the bill or resolution shall not be defaced or interlined, but all amendments, noting the page and line, shall be duly entered by the clerk on a separate paper, as the same shall be agreed to by the committee, and so reported to the house. After report, the bill or resolution shall again be subject to be debated and amended by clauses, before a question to pass it to a third reading be taken.

49. The rules of proceeding in the house shall be observed in committee of the whole house, so far as they may be applicable, except the rule limiting the time of speaking.

50. No standing rule or order of the house shall be rescinded without one day's notice being given of the motion therefor; nor suspended, unless by a vote therefor of two thirds of the members present, to be ascertained by actual count, when any member shall request the same.

ORDER OF BUSINESS OF THE DAY.

51. The speaker shall call for petitions from members of the house. The petitions having been presented and disposed of, reports, first from the standing and then from the select committees, shall be called for and disposed of. And the above business shall be done in no other part of the day, except by permission of the house.

52. The unfinished business in which the house was engaged at the last preceding adjournment, if called for by any member, shall have the preference over all other business except the general order of the day; and no motion, or any other business except the general order of the day, shall be received without special leave of the house, until the former is disposed of.
